The men who are making regular use of our Bank Account plan find that it "fills the bill" and is of material assistance in helping them accumulate a sum sufficient for future investment. We think you will find it helpful. Why not begin now and give it a fair trial

The land drawing at Broken Bow, North Platte and Valentine is going merrily on, nearly forty thousand having registered up to Sunday, the close of the first week, and there seems to be no cessation of the interest. It is predicted that at least half the number registered the first of the week will register the second week, and if so the registration may reach anywhere from 60,000 to 75,000 before it closes.

Uncle Tom's Cabin show, which was here last Thursday night at the Daddow opera house played to one of the largest houses ever given to that place of amusement. Those who were there pronounced it very fair, in fact up to expectations. It is one of the very few old-time dramas which never seem to wear out.

The smallest book in the world is in the library of congress, always under lock and key. It is a copy of the Rubaiyat of Omar Khayyam. The tiny volume was made by Nathan Dale of Cleveland, Ohio. It was photographed, each page separately. Four books of the same size would just cover a postage stamp. Three hundred of them would weigh just a pound.

Cody and Miles

Cheap "Heroes" Says Red Skin

Scorn was heaped last Thursday at Denver, upon the heads of Col. William F. Cody (Buffalo Bill), and Lieutenant General Miles during the session of the convention of the Society of American Indians by Chauncey Yellow Robe, a full blood Sioux from South Dakota. He bitterly denounced the part the two men had played in the proposed re-enactment of the battle of the Wounded Knee, the last great Indian battle, for the benefit of a moving picture concern.

He related "how these two 'heroes' who were not even there when it happened," made a mockery of this tragedy to his race, "for their own profit and cheap glory."

"You ask how to settle the Indian's troubles," he began. "I have a suggestion. Let Buffalo Bill and General Miles take some soldiers and go around the reservations and shoot them down. That will settle his trouble. Let them do in earnest what they have been doing at the battle field of Wounded Knee."

"These two, who were not even there when it happened, plan to go back and become heroes for a moving picture machine."

"You laugh, but my heart does not laugh. Women and children and old men of my people, my relatives, were massacred with machine guns by the soldiers of this Christian nation, while the fighting men were away. It was not a glorious battle and I should think these two men would be glad they were not there, but no, they want to be heroes for moving pictures."

The Youth's Companion in 1914.

Seven college presidents and a number of college instructors, including ex-president Taft, will contribute to The Youth's Companion during 1914. Then there is Gene Stratton Porter, whose stories of Indiana woods and swamps have made her famous, and Kate Douglas Wiggin, who never wrote a dull line in her life and Mrs. Burton Harrison, who remembers when conversation was really an art as practiced in Washington and in the manor houses of Virginia. And this is just a beginning of the list.

If you know The Companion, you have a pretty clear idea of what is in store for next year's readers. If you do not know, ask us to send you sample copies—for instance, those containing the opening chapters of Arthur Stanwood Pier's fine serial—"His Father's Son." Full announcement for 1914 will be sent with the sample copies.

For the year's subscription of $2.00 there is included The Companion Practical Home Calendar for 1914; and the issues of the paper for the remaining weeks of 1913, dating from the time the subscription is received. The Youth's Companion, 144 Berkeley St., Boston, Mass. New subscriptions received at this Office.
