JUDGE WALL FOR SENATOR

Kearney Hub: In the republican senatorial convention Tuesday afternoon the committee on resolutions reported the following, which were unanimously adopted: We the republicans of the Sixteenth senatorial district in convention assembled, point with pride to the record and achievements of the present national administration, and pledge ourselves anew to the carrying forward of its principles at every opportunity. We likewise commend the present administration of the state of Nebraska and take a pride in saying that it has been wise, safe, and economical and just. We call attention to the revenue law enacted by the republican legislature as a step towards the more equal distribution of the "burdens of taxation," favoring any amendment tending to make it still more just and effective and with provision for a township board of equalization, with right of appeal to the county board. We commend our senators and representatives in the legislature for their successful efforts in the interest of education in Western Nebraska and particularly in securing establishment and location of the Western normal school. After the adoption of the resolutions, Hon. Aaron Wall of Sherman county, was renominated for senator by acclamation. Senator Wall spoke briefly in accepting the nomination, heartily thanking the convention for its manifestation of approval of his course in the past and confidence in his future actions. C. H. Gregg of Buffalo county, and Dr. S. A. Main, of Saereman county, were named as senatorial committeemen, the former as chairman. They were given power to fill any vacancies.

Betting in New York City is two to one on Roosevelt.

A gentleman who travels extensively over the west, says Missouri will give Roosevelt 40,000 majority.

Now that all political parties have had their national conventions, we may expect the campaign to begin in earnest.

Here's a prediction: A vote of the democrats of this state alone would carry Nebraska for Roosevelt. Believe it?

If Nominee Parker looks like all the published pictures of him, he must be a sort of composite number. Anyway, he will be a back number after election.

The Chicago Chronicle is the first great democratic daily to bolt the Parker ticket. It does not like the wishy-washy action of that party on their platform. The paper will support Roosevelt.

Bryan says he will support Parker, but every word he utters gives good reason for his followers not doing likewise. Bryan's vote may go to Parker but his influence will be the other way.

As Judge Parker was allowed to write the democratic plank on the subject of money, why didn't they let his running mate, Millionaire Banker and Railroad President Davis, write the plank on trusts and combines?

Senator Davis, the democratic vice presidential candidate, is Stephen B. Elkins' father-in-law, but Elkins doesn't propose to let the old man carry West Virginia, if he is his wife's relation. Stephen is in a tight box.

Maybe there will be no fusion in Nebraska this year, as claimed by the populist head push, but why did the democrats and populists fix their state conventions for the same place and date—Lincoln, Aug. 10? Funny coincidence, ain't it?

Couldn't Have Been an Editor.

It is astonishing how quickly young America catches on these days, and astonishing things happen. The following aptly illustrated both propositions. The night before the Fourth there was quite a crowd in Loup City and the hotel accommodations were taxed to their limit, and it was necessary for a roly-poly, jolly traveling man from Ravenna, who was doing that country, to stay all night in the city. He was assigned to a room containing two beds, and, retiring, soon fell into a tranquil slumber known only to those with a clear conscience. Awakening about daylight, he looked across to the other bed and saw that it was occupied by a young lady. Like the real nice man he is he turned over with his face toward the wall and again went to sleep. About an hour later he again awoke and discovered that the lady had arose and was making her toilet, and again he summoned sleep and found it. The writer had an introduction to this man the next day and listened in open-mouthed wonder at the recital of this story, after which we offered the man a cigar which he refused with the statement that he neither smoked, chewed, drank nor used profane language. Then he excused himself saying that he would have to hurry to catch the train to Ashton where he would take a team and drive out six or eight miles. A ten-year-old boy who had heard the whole conversation got into the game at this juncture with "Mister you won't need a team—you can fly." And the scribe promptly fainted. Next day we asked about the man and found that he bore an excellent reputation, and it was a fact that he neither used tobacco nor booze nor bad language, and, of course, had to take the balance of his statement as a fact also. But think of it!—and he a traveling man too! Every time we think of it we throw a fit. And the kid—wasn't he an apt pupil in the school of human nature?—Burwell Tribune.

Mr. Joe Klein, state agent of the Equitable Insurance Co. of New York, has been in town during the week and while here paid the claim against his company occasioned by the death of our late townsman, Dr. Odendahl. Mr. Klein informs us that during the year 1904 the Equitable paid nearly $35,000,000 in death claims and that over 94 per cent of its claims were paid within one day of proof of death, which is a most excellent recommendation for the company that is said to be the greatest financial organization in the world. Upon receipt of the check in payment of the claim mentioned, Mr. Klein received from Mrs. Odendahl, the beneficiary, the following letter:

Dear Sir: I have this day received a check for the sum of $1002.23, in settlement of the life insurance policy with the Equitable Life Assurance Society of New York on the life of my late husband. I am surprised and pleased with the speed in which this claim is settled, proofs of death being furnished on July 1st and check is dated July 11th. I beg to thank the above Assurance Company for writing my late husband the insurance on his life, for their promptness in making payment of the claim, and for their kindness in the matter.

I shall be pleased to recommend this company on any and all occasions. I beg to remain, yours, very respectfully, (Signed:) MRS. VIOLA E. ODENDAHL.
