

THREE YEARS AFTER.

Eugene E. Lario, of 751 Twentieth avenue, ticket seller in the Union Station, Denver, Col., says: "You are at liberty to repeat what I first stated through our Denver papers about Doan's Kidney Pills in the summer of 1899, for I have had no reason in the interim to change my opinion of that remedy. I was subject to severe attacks of backache, always aggravated if I sat long at a desk. Doan's Kidney Pills absolutely stopped my backache. I have never had a pain or a twinge since."

The letter of Miss Merkle, whose picture is printed above, proves beyond question that thousands of cases of inflammation of the ovaries and womb are annually cured by the use of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—Gradual loss of strength and nerve force told me something was radically wrong with me. I had severe shooting pains through the pelvic organs, cramps and extreme irritation compelled me to seek medical advice. The doctor said that I had ovarian trouble and ulceration, and advised an operation. I strongly objected to this and decided to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I soon found that my judgment was correct, and that all the good things said about this medicine were true, and day by day I felt less pain and increased appetite. The ulceration soon healed, and the other complications disappeared, and in eleven weeks I was once more strong and vigorous and perfectly well."

"My heartiest thanks are sent to you for the great good you have done me."—Sincerely yours, MISS MARGARET MERKLE, 275 Third St., Milwaukee, Wis.—$5000 forfeit if original of above letter proving genuineness cannot be produced.

TOLD OF THE VETERANS

Flag Song.
Out upon the flag winds blow,
Till the world your splendor!
Thrice in hearts' blood dipped before,
They called your name Old Glory!
Stream, Old Glory, bear your stars
High among the seven;
Stream a watchfire on the dark,
And make a sign in heaven!

Mighty harvests gild your palms,
Mighty rivers bear them,
Everywhere you fly you bid
All the hungry share them;
Blossoms the wilderness for you,
Plenty follows after;
Underneath your shadow grow
Peace and joy and laughter.

When from sky to sky you float,
Far in wide savannas,
Vast horizons lost in light
Answer with hosannas,
Symbol of unimpaired power,
Blessed promise sealing,
All your hills are his God,
And all your founts are healing!

Still to those the wronged of earth
Sanctuary render;
For hope and home and heaven they see
With your stars and splendor!
Stream, Old Glory, bear your stars
High among the seven;
Stream a watchfire on the dark,
And make a sign in heaven!

—Harriet Prescott Spofford.

At Kenesa.

"An old diary," said a One Hundred and Twenty-Fifth Illinois man, "reminded me of that mysterious man on horseback at Kenesa. This is what I recorded in my diary June 19, 1864: 'Again ordered forward, but the Johnnies have gone to higher ground. We follow them up, and at night we are at the foot of a mountain, up the sides of which are skinnish pits, and near the top seems to be breastworks, with here and there embrasures for batteries. We soon know that the batteries are in place all right, and nineteen of our cannon open to reply to the rebels on the top of the mountain. At the same time a furious thunder cloud comes up and joins in the hurly-burly, and such a roaring, shaking, and quaking as ensued is seldom witnessed.' That reads like it was written at the front, under the conditions stated by a soldier present and a participant. He was at the foot of Kenesa, in Georgia, and belonged to Col. Dan McCook's brigade, all right, but when he made his record he did not know the name of the location.

"History later made the name memorable; incidents of a few days later fixed themselves on my memory, especially the charge of June 27, 1864, on the dead angle of Kenesa, by Col. McCook's brigade. I belonged to company K, One Hundred and Twenty-Fifth Illinois. Our colonel, Oscar F. Harmon of Danville, Ill., was killed after Col. McCook fell while commanding and leading the brigade in the second effort to rush the works. He was within the twenty-foot line of the enemy's works. My place was on the extreme left, and after we had made the rush and during the confusion which ensued, some calling on us to go forward, others to fall back, I lay down, uncertain just what to do. In the interim I looked just in time to see Gen. Charles G. Harker fall from his horse. He was the only mounted officer or person I saw. I cannot recall the color of the horse, nor could I say as to his leading a charge. He was to my rear and left; that is, beyond the extreme left of McCook's brigade, which was not so close to the rebel works as was the right wing, which was lodged on the outside of the works at a point about twenty feet from the angle to the north. I could see the colors of one of the regiments planted in the hollow at the foot of the works and our men were lying flat on the face of the breastworks in support of the colors.

"Just as that scene was before me I had one side of my hat torn out by a rebel bullet. This volley gave us a chance to get the drop on the rebels and the firing slackened. It seemed to me like hot hunting on the river below Danville when I was a boy. The firing got so slack that I got up and looked around. Everybody was gone except the dead and wounded. The brush and undergrowth screened me, and I straightened myself up and deliberately walked back to the rear until I came to the rifle pits evacuated by the rebels some ways down the hill. As I recall it now it seems to me that the Johnnies must have thought that they had killed enough of us for one killing, for when we had pulled ourselves together the soldier instinct resumed the ascendant and officers and men re-formed and pushed up to the brow of the hill, where we were fortified within twenty-foot steps of the rebels and made it about the hottest place for the space of the front of the brigade that the rebels held at any time from Chattanooga to Atlanta, and we kept it hot until the rebels evacuated their position July 2 and 3, 1864, when we followed them to the Chattahoochee river."—Chicago Inter Ocean.

Southern Woman's Experience.
Writing in the Raleigh News and Observer Susan Dahmy Smedes gives this fragment of civil war history: "One of our war experiences was keeping house for two weeks in a box car. We were coming back home from Georgia. The journey consumed two weeks, because our engine always stopped us at night, and also at all the cities for a day or two. The car next ours brought the servants. We bought provisions in the towns and they cooked nice hot meals alongside the track. We had beds, tables, rocking chairs, books, and work baskets. Even the cat had not been left behind, she belonged to the naval branch of the service, and was given me by one of Capt. Eggleston's sailors. She personally had never smelled gunpowder, but all her family, her mother, brothers, and sisters, had gone down to the fight in Mobile bay, and been captured by the Northern fleet, in the gunboat Gaines. "It seems a strange thing to say, but all that party look back on that trip as the most comfortable ever made by rail. While we were eating and sleeping and talking, and now and then receiving a visitor, our servants were improving the feeblest moments by the most tremendous religious revival. The sound of their prayers, exhortations, and singing overpowered the noise of the engine and train, day and night it seemed to go on.

"A pleasant incident on that journey was a breakfast sent us by a former neighbor as we were lying near Columbus, Ga. I must enumerate the viands all or nearly all were delicacies at that stage of the war. There was real coffee, with real sugar to sweeten it (not sorghum sirup), biscuits of real wheat flour, butter, though it was selling at $4 a pound, broiled chicken, beefsteak and fried potatoes. We did not leave a crumb, and every member of that party maintains to this day that there never was any ever can be as fine a breakfast as that one.

"It is now forty years since all these scenes were enacted. I feel to this day, and I speak for nearly every Southerner whom I have heard express an opinion, that it is well the war ended as it did. It was always my father's opinion that if the South had succeeded secession would have been the beginning of many secessions, and we should have been split up into many weak states instead of being the mighty nation that we are.

"May Old Glory float till the end of time over an undivided country!"

Cherishes His Old Flag.

G. C. Large of Taylorville, Ill., has in his possession the remnants of a flag which was made by the women of Buckhart township in 1860. It was carried by the One Hundred and Fifteenth Illinois regiment of Springfield, where the regiment was named Mary Lincoln, in honor of the wife of Abraham Lincoln. The flag was not taken through the war, as only the national colors are used in the national service, but it was brought back to Christian county, where it has since remained. It has been used in every political campaign since the war, but this is the first time it has ever seen a Republican candidate for president victorious in Christian county. The flag was made entirely by hand and shows beautiful workmanship.—Chicago Chronicle.

Relief for Toothache.

Warm a raisin, split it and apply to the gum above the aching tooth. This will also break an abscess. Another remedy, almost unfailing, is a mixture of chloroform and camphor. Your druggist will mix it in the right proportions. Temporary relief can be obtained instantly by applying a bit of white bread to the tooth and holding it there.

Origin of Petroleum.

Until recently it was almost universally believed that petroleum, like coal, was derived from fossil vegetation or possibly from animals or fishes of some long past age. Now it is asserted by many scientific men that it may not be of any organic origin, but may be due to subterranean chemical action.

Insist on Getting It.

Some grocers say they don't keep Defiance Starch. This is because they have a stock on hand of other brands containing only 12 oz. in a package, which they won't be able to sell first, because Defiance contains 16 oz. for the same money. Do you want 16 oz. instead of 12 oz. for same money? Then buy Defiance Starch. Requires no cooking.

Every housekeeper should know that if they will buy Defiance Cold Water Starch for laundry use they will save not only time, because it never sticks to the iron, but because each package contains 16 oz.—one full pound—while all other Cold Water Starches are put up in 3/4-pound packages, and the price is the same, 10 cents. Then again because Defiance Starch is free from all injurious chemicals. If your grocer tries to sell you a 12-oz. package it is because he has a stock on hand which he wishes to dispose of before he puts in Defiance. He knows that Defiance Starch has printed on every package in large letters and figures "16 oz." Demand Defiance and save much time and money and the annoyance of the iron sticking. Defiance never sticks.

Day of Many Engagements.

Nov. 27 was the anniversary of nineteen engagements during the civil war, as follows: Waynesboro, Greysville, Ringgold, Brown's Cross Road, Thomas Station, Reynolds Plantation, Jones Plantation, Pea Vine Creek, Taylor's Ridge and Buck Head Creek, Ga.; Fort Esperanza, Texas; Bartlett Mills, Va.; Black River Bridge, Miss.; Cleveland, Lawrenceberg, La Verne, Mill's Creek, Seroussville, Tenn., and Carthage, Ark.

Plenty of Good Cigars.

What's this complaint from certain old smokers about not being able to get a good cigar nowadays? It sounds more like the growl of a chronic kicker than anything more reasonable. There are more cigars of a cheap quality on the market now than formerly, but the supply of cigars of the best quality is not thereby diminished. They cost money, but they can be had for the price.—Boston Herald.

Girls as Bank Employees.

Employment of girls in banks is no new experiment. The Bank of France took women into its employment as long ago as 1852. This beginning only consisted of four girls in very minor positions. Before a year was finished the four had become twelve. Twenty years later the number was 100 and to-day 300 women work in the bank, of whom three are among the principal cashiers.

Books From the Forest.

A youngling man strolling through a wood remarked sentimentally to his companion: "I once upon a time had an interest in 4,000 trees that grew here." "How did that happen?" he was asked. "My latest novel," he explained, "had a circulation of 1,600,000 copies, and the paper on which it was printed was made of wood fiber—cellulose—requiring about 4,000 trees."

Utilizing Fish Skin.

In Gloucester the "king town" of fish, the humble cod, has been utilized with success for making leather for shoes and gloves. In Egypt men walk on sandals made from the skins of Red Sea fish. In Russia certain peasant costumes are beautifully trimmed with the skins of a fine food fish, the turbot. Bookbinders in Europe are binding books with eelskin.

SISTERS OF CHARITY

Uses Pe-ru-na for Coughs, Colds, Grip and Catarrh—A Congressman's Letter.

In every country of the civilized world Sisters of Charity are known. Not only do they minister to the spiritual and intellectual needs of the charges committed to their care, but they also minister to their bodily needs. With so many children to take care of and to protect from climate and disease, these wise and prudent Sisters have found Peruna a never failing safeguard. Dr. Hartman receives many letters from Catholic Sisters from all over the United States. A recommend recently received from a Catholic institution in Detroit, Mich., reads as follows: "Dr. S. B. Hartman, Columbus, Ohio: Dear Sir: 'The young girl who used the Peruna was suffering from laryngitis and loss of voice. The result of the treatment was most satisfactory. She found great relief, and after further use of the medicine we hope to be able to say she is entirely cured.'—Sisters of Charity. The young girl was under the care of the Sisters of Charity and used Peruna for catarrh of the throat with good results as the above letter testifies. Send to The Peruna Medicine Co., Columbus, Ohio, for a free book written by Dr. Hartman.

The following letter is from Congressman Meekison, of Napoleon, Ohio: "The Peruna Medicine Co., Columbus, O. Gentlemen: 'I have used several bottles of Peruna, and feel greatly benefited thereby from my catarrh of the head, and feel encouraged to believe that its continued use will fully eradicate a disease of thirty years' standing.'—David Meekison.

Dr. Hartman, one of the best known physicians and surgeons in the United States, was the first man to formulate Peruna. It was through his genius and perseverance that it was introduced to the medical profession of this country.

If you do not derive prompt and satisfactory results from the use of Peruna, write at once to Dr. Hartman, giving a full statement of your case, and he will be pleased to give you his valuable advice gratis. Address Dr. Hartman, President of The Hartman Sanitarium, Columbus, O.
