WITH ILLUSTRATIONS BY DON C. WILSON (Copyright, 1902, by Little, Brown, and Company) (All Rights Reserved)

CHAPTER XVIII.

When Lafitte and Greloire were appeal. ushered into Napoleon's cabinet, and the former's eyes fell upon him he had for so many years longed to see, wise that you remain another mohis first sensation was that of pain.

cushioned chair, looked at Lafitte for your offer and your love." carelessly-coldly, as at an entire The emperor, as he spoke, leaned stranger.

out Greloire's remark,-that it was as in his touch upon Lafitte's hand. | years ago. There were also more resaid the emperor was "strangely indifferent to everything." Every line when I can serve you, may I have of the listless face and relaxed form the honor and happiness of receiving from sequestration, and held in trust indicated this.

As the ex-soldier approached and ly. bowed low, a faint smile lightened Napoleon's repellant expression, and he you have not forgotten one who Sire, through all the ships England thought highly of you in more pros- might seek to interpose." perous days. Who is this you bring | with you?"

isiana," answered Greloire, after a I hope I may some time see it) is at moment's hesitancy; and Lafitte, com- war with England, my most implacing forward, bowed respectfully.

took a yet icier note,-"you, who are ther's title and estates." his sponsor, why Captain Jean Lafitte, before me?"

"I, Jean Lafitte, will answer your fitte, can have no connection." question, Sire; I, Jean Lafitte, of The speculative eyes turned a smil-Louisiana! And I say to the man ing glance upon him as the emperor whom my boyish heart adored, and said, "It is scarcely a safe thing to whom my man's heart loves, that I aver what may or may not lie in the dare present myself to him because future. You, who seem so desirous of I have ships, gold, men, at my com- serving me-cannot you promise me mand, and all these, with my own | this?" life, are his, if he can find use for "Indeed, yes, Sire," was the fervent them."

that seemed heavy, after the passion- own. ate voice had ceased. Then an icy "Be it so. Now"-and the clasping tone made sharp contrast as the em- hand released its hold-"you must peror said, "These ships, men, and leave me; and be sure to remember gold, Captain Lafitte-how is it that my wish that you remain with Murier you come to have them?"

"No-no. Go. you and Greloire: you must leave me, for I feel it un- than the present. ment. You can do nothing-nothing, The slender form was gone,—lost for me. But I am glad to have seen if they do not tell you, perhaps I can in the personality of the stout, middle- you-both of you; and I thank you, do so." aged man, who, lounging in a velvet- Jean, my valiant ghost from the past, forward in his chair; and there was a His appearance and attitude bore caress in his smile and tone, as well your commands?" was asked longing-

"And you would come to me?" "Come to you?" said Lafitte, in a said graciously, "Greloire, I am tone so emphatic that the emperor pleased to see you, and to know that | made a gesture of warning. "Yes, "If this be so, Jean, then perhaps you may some day hear from me. "Sire, Captain Jean Lafitte, of Lou- Meanwhile your adopted country (and able enemy; and the conflict may af-"Jean Lafitte," Napoleon repeated ford you an opportunity for freeing slowly, looking, not at the former, but the name of Lafitte from obloquy. at Greloire. "I have heard the name | And, when this is done, I would ask before, but not to the wearer's credit. of you to assume again your rightful I ark you, Greloire,"-and his voice name-the one belonging to your fa-

"My father's name and estates, of Louisiana, dare present himself Sire? Surely these are but phantoms of the past, with which I, Jean La-answer as the speaker bent to touch There was a short silence, and one with his lips the hand pressing his until you hear from me. Good-night, Lafitte found it difficult to control Greloire. Good-night, Jean.

"I. Jean Lafitte, will answer your qu estion, Sire."

ing accord with the respect he felt, changed a last fleeting glance of part- tree with all its branches under which seemed to quite take the place of the and had but now expressed, for the ing as Lafitte, following Greloire from the man was standing when he was old-fashioned fur-lined circulars, but back the impetuous torrent of his doorway to look back. feelings. But the tone in which he replied was quiet, although husky Teche's dimity-hung chambers, slept overtaken by a storm, and she and girlish lines. with repressed emotion.

which I perceive have reached your | thought that banished sleep. ears to prejudice you against me, I | If the emperor would go to Amer- of the cow she had been driving. in its way. I have come with the steps in the room next to his own; uninjured, but on the back of her are contrived. same heart for whose love you once and he awoke to see Lafitte standing dress was found a perfect copy of the cared, to pray that you let me serve | by his bedside. you, if I may, and die happy, in winning back the peace of mind a reck- rise, Greloire, and I regret to disturb are a few of the many strange pranks to the outside. less boy threw away."

hand across Napoleon's austere face. written message from the emperor, resaid, with an entire change of voice land now, as speedily as possible." and manner. He extended his hand; "So?" said Greloire, rubbing his and Lafitte, with a rush of new emo- eyes. "Then it is best that I leave I had passed a whole day gunning for These shoulder capes should not be tions, bowed deeply, and pressed it this comfortable bed. Did you say rabbits and I had not killed one. On hemmed, as broadcloth-the only mato his lips.

many years is surely one who should | meaning of this? not be misjudged," he said, looking up into the younger man's face; open the packet. Then I must tell rabbit.' I took a shoestring and fast- hood. It is rare that one sees French "most surely not by me, and at such | you something that has escaped my | ened the rabbit to a bush, and then | people dressed out of keeping with a time as the present."

As he uttered the final words he placed his arms around Lafitte's and, after thanking Madame Teche shoulders and embraced him.

"Sire!"

single word. "Sire, my whole heart is grateful for these words of confidence and beach, which they found deserted. esteem. No one can realize better | with the full tide rolling in over the than myself how grave was the mis- pebbled sand in a hushed way, as if take I made; and no man would make | its mood were depressed. greater sacrifices to undo it."

"Tut, tut, boy," replied Napoleon, with all his old air of affection, and his head; and the master of the fish- fancy! It is a rolling flat. There you tapping the shoulder upon which one ing-smack replied with a speedy hul- are with your salon dining room, bedof his hands still rested, "when you loa that came faintly across the room and dressing room. How dehave reached my years you will know water. better than to waste time and thoughts in useless regrets. Let the near Greloire, who now called to your own fireside through all the wonpast go, Jean, my lad, and look only them, and stood waiting as they derful countries you want to see!" into the future."

The emperor resumed his seat, and The captain of the smack was Instead of putting up at their pleasresting his hands upon the arms of easily induced to land his passengers ing, but expensive caravanseries, the the chair, stared straight before him, on the French coast; and they were automobilist will take his domestic inwhile Lafitte stood looking down at scarcely under way before the former, terior about with him on wheels. It

"And may I not do something for went below, to open the package.

you. But a messenger has just left a | which lightning plays upon us. A new light swept like a softening backage with me, together with a "Captain Lafitte, you are right," he | questing that you and I leave the is-the emperor sent you a packet?"

As he raised his head, the emperor's "Yes. And when I tore off the outer met a boy who had a live rabbit. lines with the raw edge. fingers tightened their clasp, and he wrapping, I found upon the inner one Ashamed to go home empty handed his request that I should not exam- I gave the boy twenty-five cents for "A man whose heart can treasure | ine it until we had left the island. | his rabbit. such love for me during all these What do you suppose can be the mind until now."

Breakfast was soon despatched; for her hospitality, her guests took the woods. My bullet had cut the their leave, pursued, until out of hear- shoestring in twain and had set the A volume of emotions spoke in that | ing, by voluble farewells and urgings | to come again.

Murier walked with them to the chief from his pocket, waved it above cribes in these caustic terms: "Just

The fisherman beached his boat out leaving your home, and to carry strolled along to join him.

asking Greloire to accompany him, only remains now to christen it the

It was somewhat bulky, and as his fingers broke the last wrapping, a collection of papers, some of them discolored by years, others evidently of more recent date, fell upon the cabin table. And in their midst shone the dull gold frame of an ivorypainted miniature. For a second Lafitte stared at this;

then, picking it up, he looked intently at the gypsy-like face of the portrait. "Ah, mon Dieu! How came the emperor by this?" he cried chokingly, the sight of the beautiful face, you?" urged Lafitte, making a final which Margot had taught him to love as the mother whom he had never known, making the past more real > Greloire, who was lighting a cigar, said dryly, "Examine the papers, and Lafitte glanced at them hurriedly. They comprised his parents' marriagecertificate, and all the other papers, together with the jewels, that had been in the small iron box so many "If ever a time should come, Sire, cent papers, showing that the property in Languedoc had been released by Napoleon, emperor of France, for 'Jean, son and heir of the Baron and sometimes known as Jean Lafitte, of Louisiana, in North America."

All the documents were there, showing in detail the legal proceedings, instituted and perfected under the Consulate, and confirmed under the Em-

As the last paper fell from his hand. Lafitte buried his face in his crossed arms amid the heap of precious things upon the table.

All the past was rolling in upon dim and vaporous.

What had, but last night, seemed to him legitimate in the light of his sented to his boyhood all that was charming. best and purest, and the present sight of which had brought so vividly before his mental vision the dimmed face of faithful Margot, and that proud, stately man he had known as father, of whom he could recall no word or act dictated by other than a sense of the highest honor toward his

And Bonaparte, the idol of his vouthful heart, but for so many years doubted and mistrusted,-he had obtained and treasured these proofs of the wayward boy's position as that father's son and heir, while the son himself was risking in alien lands the sacrifice of his rightful name and heritage!

An anguished silence kept him mute: and Greloire, as if understanding this, said nothing.

(To be continued.)

SOME PRANKS OF LIGHTNING. Fantastic Tricks Played Upon Unfortunate Victims.

One of the fantastic tricks which lightning plays upon its unfortunate victims is a kind of flashlight photography. There are numerous instances of this which are more or less "authenticated," but they seem almost too wonderful to be believed. One of these is of a young man in New Jersey who was struck by lightning and was taken in an ambulance to the hospital at once. There seemed to be no wound except a small mark on the back, but while the doctors and began to develop on the skin. Soon furs. before the wondering eyes of the watchers appeared a perfect picture of the figure of Christ nailed to the cross. The explanation is that on the wall opposite the bed on which the young man lay was the picture which was reproduced on his skin.

chair on which she had been sitting, and baste flat, pressing it well. Then "It is scarcely an hour after sun- down to its minutest ornament. These baste the silk lining in and blind-stitch

> Might Be Called Hard Luck. shore of Maryland, where I was born, eight and the other ten inches deep. my way home through the woods I teriol appropriate-will fall into softer

Mr. Rabbit to a bush and kill him, and | tative of that refinement which is the "Wait, mon ami; wait until you the folks at home will say Ed shot a chief ornament of womanhood or girlstood off, took aim and fired.

"When the gun had stopped kicking I saw Mr. Rabbit flying through animal free."-Baltimore American.

"A Rolling Flat."

The time seems to be approaching when the motor car will be like a Lafitte, drawing a scarlet handker- there is a vehicle which a lady deslightful to flit about the world with-Charming news for hotel keepers! Romany Car.-London Chronicle

FOIBLES 9 FASHION[

Chateaubriand Steak.

There is nothing a man appreciates more than a good chateaubriand steak and it is something that is seldom found to perfection on the home table. The following is an excellent recipe. Trim off fat and skin from three pounds of beef, cut from the center of fillet, and flatten with broadbladed knife. Sprinkle with salt, brush over with olive oil and broil for twenty minutes. With it serve the following sauce, which is the most important part: Cook three tablespoons butter, one slice carrot, one slice onion, bit of bay leaf, sprig of thyme, sprig of parsley, and half teaspoon peppercorns, until butter is browned. Add four tablespoons flour, one and a half cups brown stock, and one-half teaspoon meat extract, Bring to boiling point, strain, add one tablespoon lemon juice, two tablespoons ter, bit by bit, and salt to taste.

Latest for Gloves. A pretty fancy for the woman who ikes something different in gloves are those with narrow gauntlet cuffs, ion has declared pillow shams quite him, a sea of living reality, so distinct | embroidered with steel beads. They and intense that the present appeared are to be found on both black and tonne to match goes without saying. white gloves, the black being stitched with white and the white with black. every-day world, as he met its events, down over the cuff of the gown or re- pose for black ants. The insects may Eat with sweet sauce. of the pictured face that had repre- inch wide, and the embroidery is near the edge.

Striking Skating Costume.

In aubergine colored face-cloth, trimmed with design in broad Russian braid; a white embroidered vest showing at the throat and waist. nurses were examining him a picture Toque of the same cloth and ermine

Circular Capes Return.

One of the prettiest evening wraps, and one which almost any deft-fingered girl can make for herself, happens, fortunately, to be the newest of to "dabble" the face with a fine cloth fashions-the circular cape. Another instance is of a man who It is long, and, being circular, is the delicate appearance of the skin. was struck by lightning, and on his full enough to fall into graceful, riphimself-to make his voice and bear- The gray eyes and dark ones ex- chest were red marks resembling the pling lines. Nothing before ever man whose sarcastic calm turned the room, paused an instant in the killed. From France comes the story this new little wrap, while not so forof a peasant girl who was driving a mal, is given so much more flare and Lafitte, quartered in one of Madame | cow from the pasture when she was | curve that it seems built on peculiarly little that night. He reviewed again the cow took refuge under the tree. A The cape forms almost a complete "Despite, Sire, the tales which have and again the meeting with Napoleon, bolt killed the cow and stunned the circle, the two pieces being cut in distorted my name and acts, and until his brain was in a turmoil of girl. When she recovered conscious- front, on the straight of the goods, the ness she found on her chest a picture bias seams joining at the back. If a little suits for wear a few months of graham, one-third cup best mosilk lining is used, take the silk hence. claim that what I have of property ica, might not he, Lafitte, be the The chatefaine of the castle of lengthwise across the circle from corwas personally gained by legitimate means of getting him there in safety? Benatonnaire was sitting in a chair ner to corner, with the widths above white pique look well with the tailor- spoonful salt. Mix thoroughly and means-in trading, and also by war- It was late when Greloire went to in her salon when the chateau was and below graduated as necessary. In ed suit. fare which was perfectly honorable sleep, still half-conscious of the foot- struck by lightning. She was quite this way the fewest number of seams

Turn up the lower edge of the cloth

A few rows of stitching will give body to the front and do away with the necessity for an inner stiffening.

"Some years ago," said E. E. Moore, The little upper capes are cut exwhen I lived down on the eastern actly like the outside, but are only Tact in Dress.

Tact in dress is necessary to every "I then said to myself, 'I will tie woman who hopes to become representheir surroundings or position. In the latter half of the nineteenth century a noted woman of France, Mme. de Giradin, said: "Style ought inevitably to vary according to the position and age. It should fit itself to the fortune, to the habits, to the form, to the circumstances and indeed to every detail in the life of those who wish to appear its leaders." This truism is as real gypsy caravan, only more commodi- to-day as at the time it was written, ous. At the automobile show in Paris but unfortunately outside of la belle France this fitting of self to one's sphere is honored more in the breach than in the observance.

Shoulder Capes.

Another fashionable accessory to toilets at home and abroad is the pretty shoulder capes. True, Fashion decreed the long shoulder seam must go, but the long effect from the throat to the elbow is more than ever in evidence, as the deep frilled and fringed shoulder capes emphatically testify. Some are merely round or pointed handiwork in applications of lace and sleeves caught with fancy buttons. embroidery on sheer materials, to be | 2. White baby lamb coat, with cape, cape and cuffs of sable.

worn either over a shirt waist, or filling the neck of a decolette gown. Some of the deeper ones are more popular. Sometimes these are part is worn with evening gowns, and ties with long ends knotted at the bust.

When you want eggs to come to a froth quickly have them almost icecold before you break them.

To make a damp cupbord dry stand its power. A length of cretonne laid over the bed dressing in these days when fashpasse. Of course, a spread of cre-Sprigs of wintergreen or ground tvy will drive away red ants. Branches now looked honor-stained when con- versed, turned back over the hand. be kept out of sugar barrels by drawfronted with the appealing sweetness | They are but little more than an ing a wide chalk mark around the top Many housewives experience difficulty in getting oriental rugs of square shape small enough to cover the landing of the stairway of the usual city house. A so-called "saddle-bag" is just the thing and may be bought quite inexpensively.

Importance of the Veil. The veil is always an important accessory to the hat, and veil modes change even more often than hats. The correct veil just now with the tailor hats, meaning the simple toques, turbans and Amazons worn with the short skirted tailor suits, is of a fine figured lace, the color of the suit, or of some special trimming on the hat. These veils are finished, as indeed, are all, on three sides, and when gathered up at the back fall in a short cascade. For dressy hats the fine lined mesh nets, dotted with a few large chenille or velyet dots, are correct. Sheer Chantilly lace and fine chiffon with lace insets are also worn by smart women; but the long automobile veil is not worn except for real protection from the cold and wind.

Ruchings.

Now that ruchings have again firmly ensconced themselves in popular favor, they are to be bought by the box, as they were more years ago than most women like to acknowledge they remember. There are six yards in a box. Ruching cuts to better advantage in a long piece, and is less expensive. These are the cheaper va-

Caring for the Face.

Don't rub the face with too coarse a towel. Treat it as you would the finest porcelain, tenderly and delicately, for your face is not covered with parchment or cast iron. Learn how as a method of drying. This preserves

Get an eton jacket ready for spring. Veils of thin figured lace to match the color of the suit are first choice. Mohair is being made up in jaunty

A multi-gored skirt, flaring wide at the hem, is the favorite one for the Separate white waists with dark the newer silk petticoats.

Hoods Again Popular. Old-fashioned hoods are once more like berthas, falling over the shoul- of the evening wrap or cape, but more ders from a more or less low line, with often they are merely a piece of high but sheer guimpe above or noth- shirred and quilled silk puffing over ing but a string of pearls around the the coiffure with a wide ruffle filled throat. The "Marie Antoinette" scarf in with plisse chiffon around the face. With one of these tied under her chin, her dainty hands incased in silk lace mittens and a silk pocket hanging by a ribbon at her side, the modern girl is a replica of the girl of quaint antebellum days.

Date Cookies.

One large cup of dates stoned and namon and nutmeg. Stir all together, then add two cups of flour sifted with two teaspoonfuls of cream of tartar and one of soda, one-half cup of water chopped parsley, one tablespoon but- in it a bowl of quicklime, which must or milk, vanilla, add more flour if needbe occasionally renewed, as it loses ed. Roll thin and bake in a quick oven -Boston Globe.

Cranberry Pudding.

pillows is one woman's solution of day One cup sugar, one cup milk, two teaspoonfuls melted butter, two cups flour, two cups cranberries, two teaspoonfuls baking powder or two small teaspoonfuls cream of tartar and one teaspoonful of soda. Stir all together The gauntlets are regularly turned of wormwood will serve the same pur- and bake three-quarters of an hour.

> Pretty Silk Waist. Blouse of pale green taffeta, gathered along the shoulders. The stole collar, ornamented with gold buttons is finished at the bottom with little fancy revers edged with a little ruffle of white mousseline de soie, which also borders the fronts. It is finished around the neck with a little collar of black velvet trimmed with embroidery, and the cravat and high standing collar are of lace. The draped leg-o'-mutton sleeves are trimmed to correspond.

Wraps for Evening.

Wrap milady in fine furs, satin or ermine when she goes to the play. There are some very dainty wraps for evening wear made of cocks' feathers, of ostrich feathers, of marabout, and, cheapest of all, of chiffon trimmed with ostrich tips. These last, like the wide lace scarfs, are not only suitable with light gowns, and for a protection to the shoulders when in evening dress but they give such a charming finish to the gown that no woman can stand aside from the temptation.

Evening Gown Trimmings. Trimmings of flowers are much used on evening gowns. For this purpose the small chiffon roses that come by the yard are very useful. There are other trimmings shown in wider and more elaborate designs of lattice work garnitures made up in bachelors' buttons and daisies and the like. which make beautiful berthas.

Brown Bread.

Two cupsful of cornmeal, one cupful lasses, two cups sour milk, one tea-Detachable collars and cuffs of spoon rounding full of soda, one teapour into a mold and steam five hours. The smart girl has a little patch | The milk should not be very sour. If pocket put on the sleeve of her walk- it is, use part sweet.

New Style in Rings. There is a variation of the twostone ring, in which two diamonds or cloth skirts are seen less and less fre- Instead of the simple claw setting the Water Starch for laundry use they English eyelet work is displayed on which curves down on either side to never sticks to the iron, but because the body of the ring.

FOR EXTREME WEATHER.

1. Smart walking costume, with | cuffs and facings of the black Persian Russian blouse of caracal, having vel- lamb, trimmed with gold embroidery deep collars, showing much beautiful vet beit and collar and the split and ornaments. 3. Figured zibeline coat suit, with while it is simply their poor blood that is the cause of their discomfort. If one sure remedy for making good. rich blood were used every one of their distressing ailments would disappear, as they did in the case of Mrs. Ella F. Stone, who had been ailing for years and was completely run down before she realized the nature of her trouble. "For several years," said Mrs. Stone, "I suffered from general debility. It began about 1896 with indigestion, ner-

HER BLOOD TOO THIN

GENERAL DEBILITY RESULTS FROM

IMPOVERISHED BLOOD.

The Remedy That Makes New Blood

Banishes Weakness, Headaches, Indigestion and Nervous Troubles.

Hundreds of women suffer from headaches, dizziness, restlessness, languor and timidity. Few realize that their misery all comes from the bad state of their blood. They take one thing for their head, another for their stomach, a third for their nerves, and yet all the-vousness and steady headaches. Up to 1900 I hadn't been able to find any relief from this condition. I was then very thin and bloodless. An enthusiastic cut in small pieces, one cup sugar, one friend, who had used Dr. Williams' Pink egg, two-thirds cup of butter, salt, cin- Pills, urged me to give them a trial and I finally bought a box. "I did not notice any marked change from the use of the first box, but I determined to give them a fair trial and I kept on. When I had finished the second box I could see very decided signs of improvement in my condition. I began to feel better all over and to have hopes of a complete cure.

"I used in all eight or ten boxes, and when I stopped I had got back my regular weight and a good healthy color and the gain has lasted. I can eat what I please without discomfort. My nervousness is entirely gone, and, while I had constant headaches before, I very rarely have one now. I cheerfully recommend Dr. Williams' Pink Pills to women who suffer as I did."

Mrs. Stone was seen at her pretty home in Lakewood, R. I., where, as the result of her experience, Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are very popular. These famous pills are sold by all druggists. A book that every woman needs is published by the Dr. Williams Medicine Company, Schenectady, N. Y. It is entitled "Plain Talks to Women," and will be sent free on request.

Chinese farmers are beginning to demand modern tools, especially such as are useful for intensive farming.

Earliest Green Onlons. The John A. Salzer Seed Co., La Crosse Wis., always have something new, so thing valuable. This year they offer among their new money making vege-tables, an Earliest Green Eating Onion. It is a winner, Mr. Farmer and Gardener!

JUST SEND THIS NOTICE AND 16C. and they will send you their big plant and seed catalog, together with enough seed

1,000 fine, solid Cabbages, 2,000 rich, juicy Turnips, 2,000 blanching, nutty Celery, 2,000 rich, buttery Lettuce, 1,000 splendid Onions,

1,000 rare, luscious Radishes, 1,000 gloriously brilliant Flowers. In all over 10,000 plants-this great offer is made to get you to test their warranted vegetable seeds and ALL FOR BUT 16C POSTAGE, providing you will return this notice, and if you will send them 26c in postage, they will add to the above a big package of Salzer's Fourth of July Sweet Corn-the earliest on earth-10 days earlier than Cory, Peep o' Day, First of All, etc. [W.N.U.] That which is stolen by the tongue cannot be restored by taffy. NO SLEEP FOR MOTHER

Baby Covered With Sores and Scales -Could Not Tell What She Looked Like-Marvelous

Cure by Cuticura. "At four months old my baby's face and body were so covered with sores and large scales you could not tell what she looked like. No child ever had a worse case. Her face was being eaten away, and even her finger nails fell off. It itched so she could not sleep, and for many weary nights we could get no rest. At last we got Cuticura Soap and Ointment. The sores began to heal at once, and she could sleep at night, and in one month she had not one sore on her face or body.-Mrs. Mary Sanders, 709 Spring

God often says, "Wait;" but he never says, "Worry."

St., Camden, N. J."

Every housekeeper should know contrasting stones are set diagonally. that if they will buy Defiance Cold two stones are set deep in the gold, will save not only time, because it each package contains 16 oz .- one full pound-while all other Cold Water Starches are put up in %-pound packages, and the price is the same, 10 cents. Then again because Defiance Starch is free from all injurious chemicals. If your grocer tries to sell you a 12-oz, package it is because he has a stock on hand which he wishes to dispose of before he puts in Defiance. He knows that Defiance Starch has printed on every package in large letters and figures "16 ozs." Demand Defiance and save much time and money and the annoyance of the iron sticking. Defiance never sticks.

> Many School Children Are Sickly.
>
> Mother Gray's Sweet powders for Children, used by Mother Gray, a nurse in Children's Home, New York, break up Colds in 24 hours, cure Feverishness, Headache, Stomach Troubles, Teething Disorders and Destroy Worms. At all Druggists, 25c. Sample mailed free. Address Allen S. Olmsted, Le Roy, N. Y.

The hypocrite's religion is the most repulsive of all his traits.

Dealers say that as soon as a customer tries Defiance Starch it is impossible to sell them any other cold water starch. It can be used cold or

The most hopeless task is that of saving the world with a scowl.

TO CURE A COLD IN ONE DAY Take Laxative Bromo Quinine Tablets. All druggists refund the money if it falls to cure. E. W. Grove's signature is on each box. 25c.

Money can do everything except the things we want it to do.