Walter, however, was pretty badly hurt about the head and bruised generally, but thanks his lucky stars for the escape.

After the Carnival.

Last Friday closed the third Carnival which Loup City has celebrated the past few years, and to say it was successful in point of numbers, in interest, in sociability, in amusement and in first class jollity, is simply to repeat what was attested by general comment by our home people and by the thousands who were in attendance one or more days of the Carnival. The city was beautifully decorated with flags and bunting and the people were in the best of spirits and all contributed their quota to make it a grand success.

Wednesday, the first day, was of much interest, with horse racing, a good game of ball between Ashton and Wiggle Creek, to the success of the latter club, fine trap shooting, and a fair crowd to witness it all. But Thursday was the day of all. On that day at noon arrived a delegation of several hundred from Grand Island and intermediate points, crowding an excursion train of six passenger coaches to the guards, accompanied by the splendid Grand Island band, which was met at the U. P. depot by a delegation of several hundreds of our best citizens accompanied by the Arcadia band, which placed enthusiasm at a boiling point. From this time on, Loup City turned itself loose and until 11 o'clock that night, at which time the Grand Island train left for home, the Carnival was all that heart could wish. The streets were lined with a multitude of happy hearts, all intent on getting as much out of the occasion as possible. In the afternoon the crowd melted away to the fair grounds, where the horse racing, trap shooting and one of the finest games of ball, between Central City and Loup City, occupied the boards that has ever been witnessed in this section of the country, the score being 2 to 1 in favor of the home team. Capt. Hardy, the champion shot of the world, was also here on Wednesday and Thursday, and on the latter day gave the finest exhibition of fancy shooting ever witnessed in the west. At about 8 o'clock in the evening occurred the procession of the Carnival Queen, Miss Cora Leininger, and her attendants. The procession formed at Jenner's Park and proceeded to the city, headed by the Grand Island band, marching through the principal streets, past surging masses of humanity, amidst volleys of cheers on all sides. The evening followed with wild good natured ory, ever body contributing to the scene of jubilee, with not a thing to mar the pleasure of the occasion, save one or two little unpleasanties in the evening, which could hardly be avoided with the great mass of people to be handled, but which might have been lessened materially by concessions on the part of the ones interested. Besides the great crowd from Grand Island and south points, Arcadia, Ashton and the country surrounding Loup City sent immense delegations to swell the big day, even greater than the first named contingent until the streets were simply impassable by reason of the swaying masses of happy humanity. Friday followed with a much smaller crowd, but not less happy, nor less interesting. The afternoon on the fair grounds was inspiring, the races the best of the three days, to our notion, the ball games between the same clubs that played on Thursday, being the principal attraction and holding the greatest crowd, with the result in favor of Loup City by a score of 8 to 2. In the evening, another scene of merriment was witnessed, our home people taking this last evening as the one of most interest to them, celebrating the close of the Carnival with the best of free will and jollity. The people of Loup City are to be congratulated on giving a three days' festival of pleasure to the people of the surrounding towns and country, and from our visitors we heard nothing but words of praise and commendation. To the committee, Messrs Starr, Mulick and Reed, upon whose shoulders rested the burden of the whole affair, much commendation is due as also to the members of the various sub-committees whose assistance was given with right royal willingness and energy that greatly aided the principal committee. One of the most commendable features of the Carnival was the entire absence of the gambling fraternity, the committee turning down every proposition of the kind which came to them, and they were many. The concessions secured, while not many, were well patronized, harmless, and commendable in character. We should not at this time fail to remember with thanks the action of the B. & M. railroad people who held their west going passenger trains each evening till 10 o'clock, to accommodate their patrons along the line who desired to avail themselves of the best of the Carnival festivities. All in all, Loup City may be well satisfied over their Carnival this year, and feel satisfied that the people who attended were pleased over their visit and welcome accorded them.

As Grand Island Saw It.

In the neighborhood of two hundred people of this city boarded the excursion train yesterday morning at nine o'clock for Loup City all wearing badges inscribed "Grand Island greets You." It was one of the finest trips of the kind ever taken and the ovation received by the residents of Loup City was the best ever.

From the time of the arrival, until the train pulled out last evening, nothing was spared to show the people from Grand Island the best kind of a time. There was not a hitch in the whole affair and everything went off as per program.

Engineer Joe Morris and fireman Van Pelt furnished the motive power for the trip and with them in the cab all were assured of a speedy and sure trip. Only one mishap marred the trip, that being at Dublin Hill where a grate came down, leaving the heated coal into the ash pan.

Both engineer and fireman set about to remedy the trouble at once and after a few minutes' stop the "all aboard" of Conductor Hansen rushed the crowd into the coaches. On arrival at St. Paul all followed the band to the main business corner of that town and a short concert of several pieces was given and the business men hurried around to renew acquaintances and have a neighborly chat. After several hours for St. Paul, led by Mayor Schuff, he and John Sisk, who each were provided with a sample stalk of the Howard county corn, led the procession back to the depot. At Dannebrog, Boelus and Rockville stops were also made and the band was called out at each place to liven things up. Very few people outside of this city took in the trip.

On arrival at Loup City, the Loup Valley band with a large delegation of residents and business men of the city were present to greet the excursionists and escort them to the city Judge Wall made the address of welcome in which he heartily welcomed the visitors and in particular those from Grand Island. The general remarks were in evidence and all set about for the best kind of a time. Mayor Schuff responded and in his remarks briefly referred to the relation of the two cities and of the welcome they would always receive as guests of the city of Grand Island. At the same time Mr. Schuff accounted for a little misunderstanding when Loup City made the trip to Grand Island during the carnival. Dinner followed.

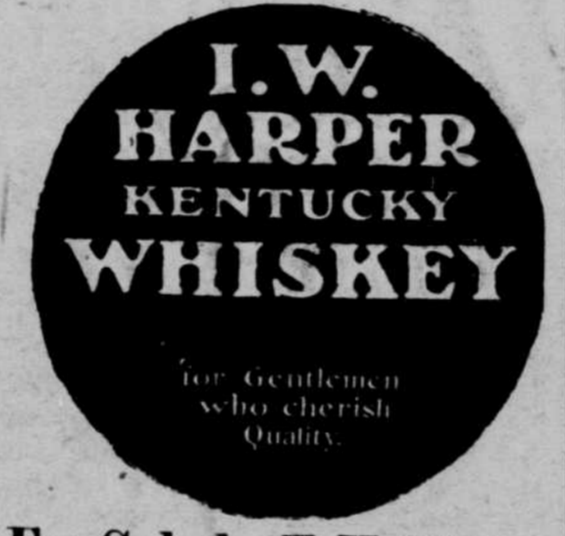

In the afternoon the crowd scattered through all parts of the town and enjoyed the fair and carnival. The greater part were taken out to the race tracks where some exciting races were witnessed, a ball game between Central City and Loup City in which the latter won by a score of 1 to 2, was played, and an exhibition of the shooting by Captain Hardy was given.

In the evening, the crowning of the carnival queen, Miss Cora Leininger, who was elected by competitive vote, was a feature. Harrison's band led the evening parade in which several attractive floats were in evidence.

Loup City has a beautiful park on the outskirts of the city which was an attractive place during the evening for quite a few, while large numbers took in the different concessions along the streets.

Robert P. Starr, who was one of the managers of the carnival, did everything in his power, as well as did all others, to make every moment of the Grand Islanders' time in Loup City a pleasing one, and when they boarded the train at 10:30 for home, they were unanimous in giving Loup City a vote of thanks for their hospitable entertainment. Loup City is ever grateful to the many gentlemen who business blocks are being erected as well as residences.—Grand Island Daily Independent.
