PLAY EXCITES MUCH PRAISE

"Believe Me. Xantippe," Is Sure Cure for Those Who Have the Blues—
Comment of Faculty

At the close of the production of the play "Believe Me. Xantippe," at the home of Regent J. E. Miller, late Thursday evening, a prominent members of the faculty was heard to say "great, great, great!" Few there are who see this play once that can resist the temptation to see it again. For those who have the blues it is a sure cure, for those who are in a joyous mood there is in Xantippe that which will heighten the joy. The New York Sun says: "You will send your friends to see it and you will go to see it the second time yourself."

The story of this play is somewhat beyond the ordinary run of life, yet Mr. Ballard says the heroine is a real, sure enough, live person, who used to come to see him when he was holding down a homestead out in southern Colorado. To those of us who know the west, she is typical of the womanhood of our frontier civilization. In the role, Ella Williams will appear at her best, for it is her native country and people that she is portraying. Concerning her work, Dr. Ballard, who saw the New York production, said that with a little more polishing she would make as good a "Dolly Kamman" as Miss Young did in the New York cast.

The work of Ruth Henninger, who plays the part of Violet, particularly pleased Dr. Ballard. He said that without a doubt she was better than the actress who played the part in New York. This indeed speaks well for the calibre of the University women who play in this drama.

As to the men, Maurice Clark's work is too well known to demand much comment. He is here portraying a very different character from that of Oswald Alving. Yet his work is perhaps easier and more finished here than in "Ghosts." The rest of the cast, playing the minor roles, is well prepared to give you two hours of hearty laughs.

Prof. Filley at Minden

Prof. H. C. Filley, of the Department of Farm Management, left Monday night for Minden, where he will lecture at the short course during the week. The work in farm management is in great demand, seven of the twelve short course points having asked for the subject. It has been necessary in some cases to substitute other subjects because of the teaching and other demands made upon this comparatively new department.

Prof. Hrbkova Will Speak

Prof. Sarka Hrbkova will speak next Thursday evening before the east Lincoln league, upon the subject, "The Assimilation of Foreign Population in the United States," in the Woodmen hall, Twenty-seventh and Vine streets. Dan V. Stephens of Fremont, congressman from the Third district, will also speak at the same meeting upon "Better Machinery for Local and State Government." Congressman C. F. Reavis was scheduled to speak about

"Military and Naval Preparation," but on account of the serious illness of his son, who is attending Cornell university, was forced to cancel the date.

Kearney Club Met

The Kearney club met in the Y. W. C. A. rooms of the Temple last Saturday at 8 o'clock. Several important business matters came before the meeting, including a report by the committee on constitution. According to the provisions of the new constitution, the club will meet on the second Saturday evening of each month. All students who have ever attended the Kearney State Normal are expected to come out to these meetings.

The rest of the evening, after business transaction was over, was spent in a general social time.

The marriage of Miss Elsa Haarmann, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Haarmann, of Omaha, and William Matthew Locke, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Locke, of Omaha, who formerly lived at Stanton, Nebr., will take place in Omaha at 8 o'clock Wednesday evening. Rev. Mr. Poucher, of Trinity Methodist church, formerly of Stanton, will officiate. The wedding is the culmination of a college romance. Miss Haarmann is a graduate of the University of Nebraska where she went after finishing her work at the Central high school. Mr. Locke also attended the state university. The maid of honor at the wedding will be Miss Virginia Leitch of Kansas City, and Roland LeBass, of Beatrice, will be best man. The groom's sisters, Miss Adrya and Miss Belle Locke, will stretch ribbons, and Miss June Phipps will carry the ring. The musical numbers will be a feature and are under the direction of the bride's mother, who is leader of the music department of the Woman's club.

The following members of the active chapters of Alpha Phi with which Miss Haarmann is affiliated, will go to Omaha for the wedding: Irene Johnson, Florence Bishop, Genevieve Welsh, Helen Stidworthy, Janet Wheeler, Vivienne Holland, Bernice Nelson, Genevieve Roberts, Milrae Jidkins, Mabel Anderson, Evelyn Anderson, Katherine Sturtevant and Mildred Montgomery. Miss Ruth Grievish of the alumnae chapter will accompany them.

SO MEAN

Mrs. Knocker—Can you suggest an appropriate name for our new neighborhood club?

Mr. Knocker—Yes; "The Giggle-Gobble Gossipers."

Heavy Advance in Drugs.

Lincoln.—Colds and headaches will be expensive this winter if one judges by advances in prices of cures for these ailments. Asperin, quinine and all the members of the bromide family are rapidly soaring highway, say Lincoln druggists, and eastern manufacturers are using cocoa butter instead of glycerine in some compounds. Just because another use has been found for cocoa butter it too has raised in sympathy with the other drugs and is now double in price.
