Published every day during the college year. Subscription, per semester, $1.

Entered at the postoffice at Lincoln, Nebraska, as second class mail matter under the Act of Congress of March 3, 1879.

The "Tuxedo" and "Velvet" tobacco ads that have run as advertising matter in The Daily Nebraskan have been discontinued because of the possible influence it might have on its readers in the two hundred and twenty-five high schools in the state, to which the paper goes.

It would not be a good influence for University men to extend if the high school youngsters got the idea that they were human chimneys, combined with the life of the rah-rah college boy fascinating to so many high school boys.

The time when most young men form the smoking habit is at the high school age, and in a spirit of so-called "smartness." After men have graduated from that state they think twice and sometimes three times before they acquire one of the harmful and most extravagant of habits.

Football has had to bear the burden of the expense of the other athletics during the past fiscal year, according to the financial statement just issued by the athletic department.

There is not enough financial support for basketball, track and the other sports, here. There is always a loss on them all. If there were a single tax, part of which would go to the support of athletics as a whole, there would be no debit side to the financial statements of the athletic department.

And, too, there would be the support in interest, of every man and woman in school. There would be no loud acclamation of "jack of spirit," if there were a single tax—for there is no man who does not value a thing much more if he has paid for it.

Talk to your parents and guardians about the advisability of the single tax so that you will know how to vote on it at registration.

There has been much discussion, especially in the past decade, about the proper housing of college students. In many cases, students have had to live in an environment detrimental both to health and efficiency in their studies.

At the University of Nebraska, the conditions have been becoming more serious, and many friends of the University are hoping that soon there will be made some adequate means of providing the much needed dormitories for the women.

Students have been living in guild houses, fraternity houses, private homes and rooming houses,—and it is the latter, which, varying greatly in size and desirability, have brought the problem to the present point.

It would be impossible for the University to provide dormitories for all of the students, at present. But when the women living in sorority houses, at home and with private families are subtracted from the number of women registered in the University, the remainder would be of a size sufficiently small to be well taken care of. If further discrimination were necessary, there could be an age limit, or a class limit.

The dormitories would overcome the disadvantages and difficulties of the ordinary rooming house. They would provide cheerful, sanitary rooms at a very reasonable charge. They would provide for a more conscientious and proper supervision of the private life of each girl. There would be less midnight oil and better regulation of hours. There would be well-balanced meals, and proper care in case of illness.

A dormitory, well built, ventilated and heated, with an authorized matron in charge is the most economical and logical provision for the housing of the girl away at school.

and Miss Lillian Eiche. Before the first act they played Wagner's "Abendstern"; before the third, Rubenstein's "Kanenol Ostrow," and Schubert's "Ave Maria." Immediately after the fall of the curtain in the last act the trio played Winge's "Wiegengied." Worthy of mention is the fact that the audience gave absolute attention not only to the play itself but to the music during the intermissions as well.

The play loving public of Lincoln is to be congratulated on having the privilege of attending so beautiful and dignified, so carefully prepared and so well presented a production as that staged by the German Dramatic club.

BRIEF BITS OF NEWS

Charles M. Frey said Saturday, that after he had been mentioned in The Daily Nebraskan, as one who was a candidate for Ivy Day orator, so many of his friends have urged him to enter the race that he has decided to do so. The battle thus far lies between Frey and Robert B. Waring for the honor.

Dr. E. H. Barbour Sunday attended the funeral of Charles W. Kaley, a former regent of the University, who died in Los Angeles, Calif., at Red Cloud. He was the University's representative at the funeral.

The observatory on the University campus will be open, as usual, this evening, from 8 to 10 o'clock, providing that the skies are not cloudy. At 9 o'clock Prof. G. D. Swezey will give a popular lecture on some astronomical subject, and the telescope will be set for a glimpse at the skies.

A physiological assay is being made on frogs in the pharmacy laboratories. Drug plants from our drug-plant garden are ground into different degrees of fineness and the preparations tried on the frogs to determine which powder has the most strength.

TURN YOUR SHIRT-TAILS INTO DRAWERS

OLUS

IN OLUS the outside shirt and underdrawers are one garment.

This means that the shirt can't work out of the trousers, that there are no shirt tails to bunch in seat, that the drawers "stay put," to say nothing of the comfort and economy of saving a garment. OLUS is coat cut, opens all the way down—closed crotch, closed back. See illustration.

For golf, tennis and field wear, we recommend the special attached collar OLUS with regular or short sleeves. Extra sizes for very tall or stout men. All shirt fabrics, in smart designs, including silks—$1.50 to $10.00.

OLUS one-piece PAJAMAS for lounging, reading and comfortable sleep. Made on the same principle as OLUS shirts—easy cut, closed back, closed crotch. No strings to tighten or come loose. $1.50 to $3.50. Ask your dealer for OLUS. Booklet on request.
