FRESHMAN GIRL AT TEXAS UNIVERSITY TRIES TO JOIN AVIATORS

The arrogant anti-suffragist must forever be silent when he hears of the exploits of this 17-year-old freshman girl. No more can he claim that women are too weak to fill a man's place. This girl's mother awakened two mornings ago to find her daughter gone, and a note, a la moving pictures, pinned to the ketchup pincushion: "Have gone away on a freight train to join the aviation corps at Miami, Fla. Will drop down on you some day. Your loving daughter." The wildest excitement prevailed throughout the household, and immediate steps taken to recover the adventurous girl. After two days' search she was finally overtaken, and after much cogitation, decided to wait until the United States called out the girls. She has at present resumed her studies in the university.—Ex.
