ART DEPARTMENT
PLANS EXHIBIT

SHOWING OF PICTURES WILL BE SEMI-CENTENNIAL FEATURE

The art department is preparing for an exhibition in connection with the semi-centennial celebration to be held in Lincoln this month. Among the pictures which will be exhibited are two by Mrs. Elizabeth Holsman of Chicago, who took a first prize in the Northwestern exhibition of Chicago and some paintings of artists in various parts of Nebraska will also be added.

Forty of the pictures which were here for the annual exhibit of the Nebraska art association have been retained for the semi-centennial celebration. The art classes have worked for some time making posters for this exhibition.

The Kid Has Gone to the Colors

The Kid has gone to the colors
And we don't know what to say;
The Kid we loved and cuddled
Stepped out for the flag today.
We thought him a child, a baby,
With never a care at all,
But his country called him man-size,
And the Kid has heard the call.

He paused to watch the recruiting
Where, fired by the fife and drum,
He bowed his head to Old Glory
And thought that it whispered:
"Come."

The Kid not being a slacker,
Stood forth with patriot-joy
To add his name to the roster—
And God, we're proud of the boy.

The Kid has gone to the Colors;
It seems but a little while
Since he drilled a schoolboy army
In a truly martial style.
But now he's a man, a soldier,
And we lend him the listening ear.
For his heart is a heart all loyal,
Unscourged by the curse of fear.

His dad, when he told him, shuddered,
His mother—God bless her—cried;
Yet, blest with a mother-nature,
She wept with a mother-pride.
But he whose old shoulders straightened
Was grandad—for memory ran,
To year when he, too, a youngster,
Was changed by the flag to a man.
W. M. MERSHELL,
In Indianapolis News.

Pale-Gray Feather

Pale-gray feather on the dim horizon,
Waving from the golden hill once
again farewell,
Swells the longing infinite, follow now
the beacon.
Follow o'er the sun-road where the
bright day fell,
Pale-gray feather, Pale-gray feather.

Pale-gray feather, in the gray twilight, Beckoning the blue, still heart from
the golden hills,
Leave the dormant valley, rush into the sun-land.

For the mad, sweet joy of conflict,
and the poignant strife that kills,
Pale-gray feather, Pale gray feather.
Note—Some sage has said that it is a wonderful thing to write poetry if you can destroy the evidence before you are detected. We feel that way about the above effusion, and we throw in the following edification tree, for those who fail to catch the symbolism: The gray feather mentioned is the smoke from a locomotive pulling out over the hills. —Ex.

THE UKULELE

THE languorous charm of the Hawaiian native instruments—so moving in appeal, so observably in vogue—is strikingly characteristic of the Ukulele. Its tone possesses that curiously beautiful timbre, that exotic charm of tonal quality which has made these instruments so sensation-ally popular.

The Ukulele has a pleasing grace of form. The finer models are made of genuine Hawaiian Koa wood. It is much in request today among the smarter college and other musical organizations.

It is easy to learn. Its price includes an Instruction Book.

Hawaiian Steel Guitar

Every chord struck upon this typically representative Hawaiian instrument is marked by a weird, plaintive harmony and strangely beautiful qualities of tone. It brings, to any music, qualities full of vivid color and varied charm.

Price $8.99 and upwards, including Steel and Set of Three Thumbies for playing, and Instruction Book.
