BIGGEST NEBRASKA RALLY

Serenade Notre Dame Squad at Lincoln—"We Came to Wallop
You"—Phelan

By Dwight P. Thomas

Two thousand loyal Cornhuskers joined hands last Friday night in one of the biggest parades ever given by the student body. At 7 o'clock a meeting was held in the Armory to inject the proper amount of "pep" in the supporters of the team. After the band had struck off a few lively airs, talks were given by Coach Stewart and Captain Shaw on the outlook for Saturday. These were followed by short, snappy speeches from Prof. H. W. Caldwell, Jean Burroughs and Captain H. H. Corey and Loren Caley of last year's squad, who were back from the army to see the boys battle the Catholic eleven. Lieut. D. T. Lane was in his former position at the head of the band. After a cheering session the students left the Armory. A line for parade was formed along 12th street with the band in the lead and the women in groups of four abreast following. The men came next in line in files of two. Every one carried a torch which was lighted at a given signal. The band took up U-U-Unl and the parade started on its march on R, to 16th, and west on O until it turned to the Lincoln, where the Hoosier squad was quartered. At no time in the previous history of Nebraska has there been such an exhibition of student spirit. From the start the women joined with the men in cheering and in singing the favorite strains of "We're Going to the Hamburger Show." The snake dance was taken up at once and soon the streets for over six blocks appeared a moving mass of flame. O street was cleared of all traffic so that the songs of the students mingled with the music of the band converted the whole of the business section into one great pavilion for merry-making.

Every student cheered with the confidence that the team was going to win the Saturday's battle.

At the Lincoln Captain Phelan and Coach Harper of the Notre Dame team gave short talks of appreciation for the reception they received at the hands of the Nebraskans. Captain Phelan included in his talk the purpose of his team in coming to Lincoln. His statement, "We did not come to beat you, we came to wallop you," brought forth a full chorus of dissenting groans from the supporters of the Huskers. After a short meeting here the crowd marched back to the Armory, and disbanded satisfied to abide the issues of the game that was to follow.

Gives Books to Historical Society

Mrs. D. W. C. Huntington of University Place has presented the manuscripts, books and documents of the Methodist Relief mission to the Nebraska Historical society. The Methodist Relief society distributed much aid during the drought years of 1884 and 1885 in this state.

FOUR-MINUTE MEN IN LINCOLN THEATRES

Appear for Short Talks to Sixteen Audiences, Thursday,
Friday and Saturday

Branches of the department of four-minute men have now been organized by Prof. M. M. Fogg, head of the department of public information in this state. Seven hundred and thirty-eight speakers are giving short talks for liberty bonds and Red Cross before the theatre audiences in these cities.

The speakers are part of the national army of over 13,000, who are enlisted for the war.

The first appearance of the Lincoln four-minute men was made in the eight theatres Thursday evening. Among the speakers were several of the faculty and alumni of the University.

The Thursday evening speakers were John W. Cutright, Prof. Lawrence Fossler, '81, Rabbi Jacob Singer, W. A. Selleck, Prof. H. H. Wilson, '78, A. W.

Richardson, Prof. George N. Foster, George R. Mann.

Friday evening the following were speakers: Prof. J. E. Le Rossignol, Rabbi Jacob Singer, W. A. Selleck, H. H. Wilson, '78, Prof. F. M. Fling, Guy Chambers, Law '15, G. R. Mann, Law '15.

Saturday evening the following spoke: G. N. Foster, Prof. Laurence Fossler, Frank A. Peterson, '05, Law '08, W. A. Selleck, Prof. M. M. Fogg, Guy Chambers, Law '15, A. W. Richardson, Prof. F. M. Fling, George R. Mann, Law '15, C. L. Rein, '13, Law '15. (Continued on page four)

Professor Howard in California Prof. G. E. Howard, of the political science department, who was granted a year's vacation last spring, is now at Berkeley, Cal., according to a letter received recently by Prof. Hutton Webster. He is accompanied by Mrs. Howard. Professor Howard taught in the summer session at the University of Chicago, and then they made a trip to Alaska, crossing the Canadian Rockies on their way. Professor Howard writes that he expects to spend the next few months in lower California, and that in December he is to deliver his presidential address before the American Sociological society.

UNIVERSITY DIRECTORY OUT BY END OF MONTH

Fifteen Hundred Copies Printed
This Year—Big Help to All Students

All of the material for the 1917-18 student directory is now ready for the press and the book will be ready for students by the end of the month unless the printing is delayed.

The directory, which most students consider indispensable, will be as complete this year as ever. It will contain a complete list of all students, alphabetically arranged, with phone numbers and addresses as well as all students by towns. Faculty members will be listed in the same way and there will be the usual directory of fraternities and sororities.

Fifteen hundred copies of the directory will be printed this year and the price, sufficient only to cover actual cost of publication will be 25 cents. This slight increase over last year is made necessary by the added cost of printing.

Those desiring leather-bound copies are requested to leave orders at the University Y. M. C. A. office, as only the number ordered will be prepared.

To Address Historical Society

Mr. W. E. Connelly, secretary of the Kansas Historical society has accepted an invitation to address the Nebraska Historical society at its annual meeting in January.

Opening for Engineering Graduate

Prof. O. J. Ferguson, of the electrical engineering department, has received a request for an electrical or mechanical graduate who desires to get into railway power plant work. The work would involve principally coal analysis and office work.

Lost and Found Bureau In Activities' Office

The Lost and Found bureau that was located last year in the registrar's office, will be continued this year, in the Student Activities' office. Anyone finding an article should leave it at this office, where it will be listed and kept until claimed by the owner. Students who have lost articles can leave a description at the desk, and they will be notified if it is brought in. At present, the bureau has about two dozen unclaimed books from last year, five pairs of gloves and half a dozen pens.

Doing Their Bit

K. F. Warner returned from extension work Saturday. He left again last night for Fullerton, Neb., where he will hold a county agents' meeting of Lance county.

Mr. W. J. Loeffel, swine husbandry extension specialist and Miss Mable Sterne, home demonstration agent are working at Farmers' institutes at Hampton today and in Prairie Gem community, Hamilton county tomorrow.

Professor Hoppert, extension specialist in horticulture and Miss Ada Johnson, extension specialist in home economics are assisting County Agent Fred L. Taylor in Farmers' institute at Dawes county this week and will spend next week with County Agent Rex Truman in Sheridan county.

WILL ORGANIZE THIRD SERIES OF OFFICERS' CAMPS

Open Primarily to Enlisted Men
—Nebraska University Is Allowed a Quota

With the object of training enlisted men of the Regular army, National Guard, and National army for appointment as officers to fill vacancies that may occur in these forces, a third series of training camps will be organized. The graduates of these training camps who may be so recommended, will be listed as eligible for commission as second lieutenants and will be commissioned as vacancies occur. To these camps, which are primarily for enlisted men, as indicated above, it has been decided to admit a certain number of graduates and undergraduates of universities, colleges and schools which have earned recognition by having had military training under army officers during the past 10 years. The University of Nebraska is one of the universities assigned a quota.

One camp will be held from January 5, 1918 to April 5, 1918, in each Regular army, National guard and National army division.

The graduates and undergraduates of the colleges must be between 21 and 31 years of age on January 5, 1918, to be eligible to apply for admission. Applicants may be married or unmarried, but other things being equal, examining officers will give preference to unmarried men. Graduates and undergraduates of these institutions who did not take the course of military (Continued to Page Two)

CONVOCATION

A new feature in convocations at Nebraska will be the community singing tomorrow morning at 11 o'clock in Memorial hall in charge of Mrs. Carrie B. Raymond. She has arranged this because for some time there has been agitation for this form of singing to further the using of Nebraska songs.

The chorus will lead with the singing but all students will take part. Several of these convocations are being planned for the year.

Dr. G. W. Luckey Author Of Book on Child Study

Dr. G. W. A. Luckey has recently written a book on "The Essentials of Child Study," published by the University Publishing company. The book is receiving very favorable mention from many eminent authorities on this subject throughout the country. The following letter written to Dr. Lyman by President C. Stanley Hall of Clark university, Worcester, Mass., is characteristic of the many letters coming to his office daily.

"I have been delighted to receive a copy of your book (The Essentials of Child Study) and have looked it over with great interest. It is attractive, and ought to be very serviceable to teachers, because it is a judicious combination of theory and practice, and particularly interests me as illustrating a method that has been in the making for a score of years by a sagacious and devoted teacher, who in this day of many lights of all kinds can keep his perspective."

Alumni Holding Fine Positions

Nebraska alumni who have the graduate teachers' certificate are now occupying prominent positions in all parts of the country. Some of these are:

- Frank Dickinson, A. M., professor of philosophy in Denver University.
- Ira B. Fee, A. M., superintendent of schools, Cheyenne, Wyoming.
- Neil M. Drake, A. M., fellow in philosophy at Bryn Mawr, Pa.
- Philip Laurence, A. M., superintendent Clarkston, Neb.
- Bertha Luckey, Ph. D., director psychological clinic, city schools, Cleveland, O.
- Ernest F. Monroe, A. M., dean and professor of education, state normal school, Las Vegas, N. M.
- Paul Kies, A. M., tutoring the children of the Ringling brothers, Evanston, Ill.
- B. J. Brethower, A. M., minister, Syracuse, Neb.
- Anna Tibbets, A. M., education, critic teacher and professor, state normal school, Peru, Neb.
- Claro O. Wilson, A. M., scholar in Teachers' college, Columbus University, New York city.

Rose Yont, Ph. D., private teacher of music, Lincoln, Neb.

Ruth O'Brien, A. M., assistant professor organic chemistry, Agricultural college, Ames, Ia.

Finds Fossil Horse

Dr. E. H. Barbour made a trip to Arapahoe Friday evening where he unearthed a fine specimen of fossil horse of the genus equus. This is different from anything found so far. After returning from Arapahoe he went to Milford where the workers in a sandpit owned by O. S. Tritts, found a fine big pelvic girdle. This is now in the Museum workroom awaiting restoration.

Has Splendid Barn Owl

Mr. C. W. Wallace has just finished mounting a splendid barn owl. It stands in an aggressive attitude holding a captured mouse in one claw. The beauty of this bird's plumage are beyond words. It was shot by a farmer's wife who thought it was killing young chickens. The farmer and his wife were greatly surprised to learn that the bird was merely picking up grain from the chicken yard.

STATE EDUCATORS DECIDE VACATION QUESTION TONIGHT

Representatives of All Schools to Meet in Temple Tonight
for Conference

The state educational conference, made up of representatives from all schools of the state, will be held at the Temple tonight to discuss the question of closing all schools for the cornhusking period. The meeting has been called by Chancellor Avery and the state superintendent on the recommendation of the board of regents at their last meeting.

A census of all the students taken a short time ago showed that only half of the men were able to husk corn and that they were opposed two-to-one to a full three weeks' vacation.

Students who wish to do harvest work may at present obtain furloughs by applying to the executive dean, and will be given all possible help in making up their work.

Doing Its Bit

The Home Economics cafeteria at the University Farm is trying to "do its bit" in food conservation by giving students the opportunity to observe Thesday as "Wheatless" day and Friday as "Meatless" day. On "Wheatless" day rye and corn bread and corn meal mush are provided as is also wheat bread thus giving the students opportunity to make a patriotic choice. On "Meatless day" fish is the only meat provided but several meat substitutes and cream vegetables make it comparatively easy for the student to choose to do without meat for that one day. The students are showing their patriotism by falling in with the new order of things without complaint or question.

Three Hundred Attend Girls' Football Luncheon

Three hundred girls attended the Girls' Club Football luncheon Saturday noon at the Temple.

The room was decorated with Nebraska pennants and "N" blankets. Each table had for a centerpiece a football tied with scarlet and cream ribbons.

Edith Youngblut, '17, was toastmistress. The following responded to toasts, Helen Loftman, '19, "The Band"; Florence Wirt, '17, "Rooting"; Betty Brown, '20, "Opponents," and Dr. Winifred Hyde, "Our Team."

Helen Howe, '20, Mildred Gillilan, '20, and Frances Whitmore, '19, were cheer leaders.

Selected as Critic

Prof. N. A. Bengtson, of the geography and conservation department, has been selected as special critic for a new text in college geography to be published soon by Prof. J. Russell Smith, of the University of Pennsylvania. Prof. Smith is one of the leading authorities in the country in the field of economic geography.

Dr. Condra to Speak

Dr. E. G. Condra of the department of conservation of the University, has been asked by Herbert Hoover, federal food dictator, and G. W. Wattles, director of the state food conservation committee, to make a series of addresses in the interest of food conservation.

CATHOLICS LOSE TO HUSKERS, 7-0

Notre Dame Far Outplayed in Annual Battle, Saturday

NEBRASKA DEFENSE GOOD

John Cook Master of Situation
Throughout Game, Making Score
Possible With Brilliant Run.

For the second time in three years last Saturday afternoon Nebraska triumphed over Notre Dame last Saturday afternoon, winning by a score of 7 to 0. It was not as much the fact that the score indicated that Nebraska won, as it was the fact that the Cornhuskers so completely outplayed the Hoosiers, that pleased the Nebraska supporters.

After the Nebraska score near the middle of the second quarter the Cornhuskers gave the impression of being a cat playing with a mouse. They could gain and they knew it and they went to no extremes to make distance. If they couldn't make distance without too much trouble they would punt knowing well that the Catholics were absolutely helpless when it came to advancing that ball, and that the pigskin would be back in their hands before long.

Make 12 First Downs

Two facts show the comparative merits of the two teams. Nebraska made twelve first downs to the Catholic's one and the Cornhuskers were set back 105 yards on penalties while the Notre Dame reverses totaled only sixty yards. Penalties on both sides made oppositions to score, few.

To pick a star from the Nebraska team would be like picking the brightest sunbeam on a cloudless day. Johnny Cook the Cornhusker's veteran quarterback played the best game of his career and one of the best games of generalship that has ever been seen on the Nebraska gridiron. His fifty-five yard return of a Notre Dame punt, putting the ball within scoring distance was the most spectacular play of the day.

Bill Day, the Cornhuskers' midget center, was the ever-present help on defense. Before the game was two plays old the Hoosiers had felt the power of Day's tackles and from that time until the end of the battle he was "crackin' 'em" on all sides. Some critics have been heard to say that Redzewski, the Notre Dame center is one of the best players in the west. If said critics were present Saturday and saw the way in which Day outclassed the big Hoosier a different opinion about who is some center might have been forthcoming.

Smash Notre Dame Line

Otoupalik and Dodson, the Husker fullbacks, put up a line-smashing game that has been unequalled in many a day on a Nebraska team. They were both good for gains every time they carried the ball. Otoupalik was irresistible in his rushes that brought the Nebraska score. Schellenberg who suffered more punishment than any other man on the team was not given a show. It was evident from the start of the game that the Hoosiers were on the field for one big purpose and that was to stop Schelley. Even with as close watching as he had he managed to make repeated gains.

Stonewalls may come and stone-walls may go, but the Nebraska stone-wall of Saturday will be remembered as long as football is played at Nebraska. The Catholic backfield dashed in the line only to stop more suddenly than they had started, and often to be thrown for a loss.

Rhodes, Hubka and Riddell, at the ends smashed the Hoosier interference as if it had been made of paper and covered up on punts in fine shape. Captain Shaw and DeTeau and Munn. (Continued on page 2)

NEBRASKAN FREE TO UNIVERSITY SOLDIERS

Believing that Nebraska men actively engaged in the war are just as anxious for news from the campus as their former classmates are for word from them, the management of The Nebraskan will send the paper free of charge to every Cornhusker soldier whose address is known. You can help by sending lists of addresses to The Nebraskan, either mailing them to Station A or telephoning them to the business office, B-2597.
