Visits Nebraskans At Fort Snelling

Miss Florence McGahey, returned last Friday from a ten-day's visit with her brother, who is at the officers' training camp at Fort Snelling. While at the fort Miss McGahey had the opportunity of seeing many of the Nebraska men who are at the camp.

A number of the Nebraska men she saw at the camp, have already received their commissions and are drilling recruits of the regular army. Merrill Reed, Bernard Hulless and Edward Perley are lieutenants in the regular army. Several men in their companies do not read or write English. In one company there are men speaking six languages. This makes the work of the officers very difficult. The manual of tactics and drill is translated into the several different languages of the men in the company and interpreters are sometimes required.

Other men whom Miss McGahey saw were her brother, C. K. Mose, Herman Kramer, Harold Corey, Claiborne Perry, Harold Campbell, Cyril Hrbek, Adrian Bryan, Harry Theisen, Hugh Birmingham, Richard Russel, Nye Morehouse and Professor C. W. Taylor.

NEWS FROM CAMP

Harry P. Letton, C. E. '09, sanitary engineer for the state board of health, who held a commission in the Engineers' reserve corps, is now in training camp at Fort Leavenworth. His place on the board will be filled for the present by Prof. W. B. Grant.

Unearth Old Scandal In Rhetoric Department

Scandal has again broken forth in the department of rhetoric! Perhaps if Nebraska had not gone dry it would never have happened.

Years ago when the English club was making traditions for its future members to uphold, a mysterious jug appeared. The jug's origin has been disputed, but those who should have known, said it was bought by a million freshman themes.

A certain professor of rhetoric, a member of the club, was elected custodian of the jug. Because he could find room for it nowhere else, he said, he placed it on a high shelf in his office in the department. There an inquisitive reporter found it two years ago, found it covey and dusty, but not empty!

Soon the English club held a great feast, the reports of which were hard to get as no two witnesses agreed. A reporter found a few sugary doughnuts and an over-turned jug when the revelry was through.

Now the jug has disappeared from its place on the shelf. It may be found in an obscure pawnshop downtown where it was taken by its fickle and mercenary custodians. What prompted the act can be only conjectured. Those who did it, admit their guilt but remain silent when questioned further.

Perhaps they feared the eagle eye of the law; perhaps the jug, empty, was useless, perhaps it was all because tri-chocolates have advanced in price.

Snelling Record Shows 150 Nebraskans Commissioned for Service

The following list of Nebraska men with addresses, sent to The Nebraskan by Lieut. Frank S. Perkins, '15, of Fremont, includes all Fort Snelling commissions for men from the University except about thirty-five, whose present address he could not find. The list included four captains who have been detailed as instructors at the second camp, and first and second lieutenants who have now been transferred to all parts of the United States and a number who are probably at present, "somewhere in France."

Following is the official list of commissions and addresses as far as it is possible to give them:

- Capt. Anan Raymond, 349th Inf., Division 88, Camp Dodge.
- Capt. Neil M. Cronin, 350th Inf. Division 88, Camp Dodge.
- Capt. Melvin Garret, 352nd Inf. Division 88, Camp Dodge.
