Entered at the postoffice at Lincoln, Nebraska, as second-class mail matter under the act of Congress of March 3, 1879.

This evening will see the start of the annual pilgrimage to the Old Home Town for Thanksgiving recess. Hurrying figures, with heavy luggage and light hearts, will hit through the gathering dusk for railway stations where wait the trains that will take them back to the best town in the best state of America. Tomorrow they will have reached the end of their journey and will be busy helping mother plan the Thanksgiving dinner. It is fine indeed that all of us are to have the attendant pleasures of this visit home, but in our own happiness let us not forget the American soldiers who will be denied this privilege. The Nebraskan hopes that every student will have made, before he leaves for home, some real sacrifice for the better care and comfort of those who are fighting our battles.

Nebraska spirit, shown at the last rally of the season yesterday, is destined to put up one of its greatest fights Thanksgiving Day, when the Cornhuskers will be pitted against their most formidable foe. There is a tense determination in every Cornhusker heart to do more than Nebraska's best, if more is needed. Former battles no less stupendous have been won by the indomitable spirit of the team supported by the stout hearts of the rooters, and Nebraska is primed for just that kind of a battle. Nebraska field will be the scene of a long-remembered game Thursday; let us see that it shall be a pleasant memory.

The grave danger the University faces if the smallpox epidemic spreads from its present narrow confinement brings direct responsibility upon each individual student. In the first place all of the safeguards the authorities have demanded should be taken as soon as possible. In case of immunity, be sure that you have your doctor's certificate to that effect. Vaccination, while not a pleasant experience, is a duty you owe not only to your own safety but to the safety of your classmates. Be sure that you are well within the limit set for immunity in such cases before you forego vaccination. It is much better to be vaccinated than to make a daily visit to the doctor's office, with its accompanying expense and uncertainty. These measures, taken to check the spread of the disease, are all vitally necessary and must be carried out. Students must not shirk their responsibility.

Another football season has passed and still Nebraska is without an appropriate repertoire of cheers. Every year there has been more or less agitation in the hope that some more good yells might be added to Number One's family, for it would seem to be against present labor laws to continue the present persecution of that classic cheer. Surely there must be some student in the Cornhusker school gifted enough to devise several rally cries better than those Nebraska now has to bring to the support of "U-U-U-N-I." It is too late now to produce one to help in the defeat of Syracuse, but let's have one before another football season comes around.

NEWS FROM CAMP

Among the war news recently received by Prof. M. M. Fogg in answer to his letter to the one hundred and thirty-eight members of the Intercollegiate seminary is the following.

Ben M. Cherrington, '11, for several years Y. M. C. A. secretary at the University of California, is in the army Y. M. C. A. work. He is associate director of religious work at Camp Lewis, American Lake, Wash.

Charles M. Frey, '17, who was commissioned as second lieutenant at the first Fort Snelling Training Camp, is at Headquarters, 59th Depot Brigade, Camp Deming, New Mexico.

STRINGENT RULES ISSUED FOR SMALLPOX PREVENTION

ing the Thanksgiving recess or who return before 5 p. m. on Sunday afternoon should report to the physicians at the places designated upon the campus for inspection or vaccination and receive an official card which will permit them to enter the campus on Monday morning.

All students who have been inspected and received their cards by 5 p. m. Sunday will report at the Eleventh street entrance to the campus on Monday morning and will be admitted on presentation of their cards.

All students who have not been inspected by 5 o'clock Sunday night will report to the Armory, entering by the Armory gate, Monday morning for inspection or vaccination.

Students who because of religious reasons or otherwise do not wish to be vaccinated must report to the inspectors before Monday noon to arrange for daily inspection until further notice. Anyone failing to keep his appointment for this daily inspection will be excluded from the campus.

UNIVERSITY NIGHT SCHEDULED FOR MARCH 2

Plans Now Under Way for Annual All-University Fun-Fest

University night for this school year will be held March 2, according to the decision made by the Y. M. C. A. committee in a recent meeting.

The announcement is made at this time to give the organizations and colleges an opportunity to prepare their stunts in time for the season's fun fest.

Special interest centers about University night as one of the biggest events on the year's calendar, as it is the occasion at which all campus organization are represented.

The nature of the University night this year will be the same as that of former years. Skits given by sororities, fraternities, the colleges and other groups representations will be the chief features.

A special award will be made to the ones giving the best skit. Last year the Laws received the prize in the contest.

Lions, Dummies, Wireists and Dancers at the Orpheum Thursday
Georges Merck's jungle players furnished seeds of real thrills and had many in the audiences primed for a record breaking 100-yard dash. The Merck act is probably one of the very best of all animal vaudeville offerings. Williams Ebs furnished one of the big surprises of the evening. The Jordan girls uphold the traditions of the Flying Jordans of casting fame by their wonderful feats on the wire. Capes and Snow opened the bill with some clever and dainty dancing and song numbers.—A. S. W. in Salt Lake Herald-Republican.—Adv.

MAKES SECOND APPEAL FOR BALL AND BAT FUND

An appeal has been made by Clark C. Griffith, of Washington, D. C., director of the general ball and bat fund for American soldiers, to college students, asking that money for a shipment of baseball paraphernalia to be sent to Europe immediately, be raised as soon as possible. The ship containing the first shipment was sunk by a German submarine.

Griffith's Proclamation

"Whereas it appears a certainty that all the ball and bat funds first huge shipment of baseball paraphernalia for the U. S. troops in France, went to the bottom of the ocean on the American steamship Kansan, being sunk by a German submarine, and that all of the work done has to be done again; and

"Whereas you cheerfully did your 'bit' before, by contributing to the fund that made the first purchase possible;

"We hereby appeal to you again to 'come across' in order that a fresh supply may be started 'over there' again with as little delay as possible. This movement to supply all our red-blooded fighting men with balls, bats, gloves and masks has met with universal approval and widest support. If sufficient replies to this appeal are made speedily, it will be possible at little cost to each individual to rush a new shipment to France for the men back of the trenches and in the training camps.

"Therefore all good Americans are asked to give their bit—perhaps two-bits or six-bits or a 'bone or two'—to this fund that will make the boys in the trenches feel that the folks back home are thinking of them in their glorious work for democracy and humanity.

"So, good Americans, don't let this have merely a sentimental effect on you—don't let it touch only your heart strings, but let it creep into and loosen your purse strings.

"Just a little time and trouble from you and we will be able to supply young soldiers, the material for wholesome and pleasant recreation whenever their duties permit it.
