DEAN HEPPNER MAKES APPEAL TO ALL CO-EDS

Asks Their Services to Meet
Demand for Bandages

GREATEST HELP AT FRONT

Red Cross Rooms in Nebraska Hall
to Be Open Full Time
For Work

A direct appeal was made to all University girls to aid in every way possible the Red Cross drive for surgical dressings, yesterday, by Dean Amanda Heppner. She urges that each girl give as much time as she can spare, to the making of these dressings, which are at this time a greater necessity than almost any thing that can be supplied to the men at the front.

The making of the dressings is not difficult, and experience is not necessary. Speed and cleanliness are the main requisites. The Red Cross has notified all chapters to increase their efforts in order that the great number of dressings needed may be supplied. A cablegram received from M. P. Murphy, head of the Red Cross commission in France, which stated "Red Cross standard surgical dressings in millions must be sent over (to France) with all possible speed," shows the vital need of this work.

The dressings must be sent at once as word has been received that the demand is so great that many hospitals are entirely out of dressings—surgeons are obliged to resort to the use of newspapers or other substitutes to care for the wounded.

Must Give Double Time

Work must begin immediately with double the number of workers if the quota from Nebraska is to be fulfilled. Girls who have been doing Red Cross work regularly are requested to give twice as much time as they have been giving, and those girls who have never attended, are urged to help share the responsibility of turning out the apportionment to be sent from Nebraska.

The Red Cross rooms in Nebraska hall will be open every day from 9 until 12, and from 1 until 5, except on Saturday, when workers are asked to report to the Red Cross headquarters. Girls are asked to wear wash waists or aprons, and some kind of a head covering.

Dean Heppner's Appeal

Following is Dean Heppner's letter: To all Young Women in the University:

"May I appeal to all women, faculty as well as students, to read and consider seriously the article appearing in the Daily Nebraskan yesterday, under the heading, 'Red Cross Sends Call to University Women.' The demand that Lincoln supply at least 3,500 dressings per day for ten days must be met and the University women will surely wish to contribute their share. Speed and cleanliness are the chief requisites. The Red Cross room in Nebraska hall will be open today from 1 to 6 p. m. on Tuesday's, and from 6 to 9 p. m. the following days except Saturday. Devote all the time that you can possibly spare from your college studies to this urgent need. All students who can not lend any assistance during the day will have an opportunity to make surgical dressings in the Red Cross rooms of the Scottish Rite cathedral at 15th and L streets every evening and all day Saturday. Men workers are also welcome.

"I sincerely hope that no girl will fail to respond to Major Murphy's earnest call for aid in a matter which means 'The most vital thing that the women of America can do for the soldiers in this war'."

AMANDA HEPPNER.

Colleges Form Union

A large number of representative American universities, colleges and technical schools have united to form the American University Union in Europe. The purpose of the union is to provide the privileges of a simple club for American college men on furlough in Paris. It is helpful in locating men, reporting casualties, visiting the sick and wounded, and serving as a means of communication between American college men in France. Headquarters are provided with an information bureau, writing and newspaper room, library, dining room, bedrooms, baths, an infirmary and a gymnasium. Charges are reasonable so that military men of any rank may have access to these quarters. Informal social affairs are planned from time to time and afternoon tea is served daily for those of English tendencies.

FOURTH NUMBER OF AWGWAN OUT TODAY

Students Urged to Call Early for Their Copies at Station A

The largest and cleverest issue of Awgwan published this year is number four, ready for the students this morning. It is a thirty-six-page number with real humor and original cartoons from first to last. The cover page by Dwight Kirsch, staff artist, entitled "Over There," and showing the triumphal entrance of Nebraska men in France is especially attractive.

Some of the best cartoons appear on a special page of campus take-offs. There are campus camouflage absurdities, animated translations in the French department and a touching piece of art entitled, "Your Nose Knows." D. K. Bryant has several good drawings.

Single copies of Awgwan may be obtained at Station A this morning and are for sale at all of the main news stands in Lincoln and Omaha. Students are urged to call for their copies promptly. Back numbers may be had at the business office in the student activities' office.

Lieutenant Reed to Tell of Fort Snelling Training

First Lieut. E. F. Reed, ex-'18, will address University students this afternoon at 3 o'clock in University hall 207, on "University Training and Fort Snelling Competition." His address was first announced for only the members of the course in argumentative composition, of which he was formerly a member, but the meeting has been thrown open to the student public. Lieut. Reed was commissioned at the Second Fort Snelling Reserve Officers' Training camp. He leaves soon for Fort Sheridan, Ill.

Investigates Farmers' Clubs

Frank Harrison has gone to Nemaha and Richardson counties to secure information regarding the first farmers' clubs and granges formed in Nebraska. This information will be used at the annual program in January.

ADDED SMALLPOX CASES —PRECAUTIONS INCREASED

First Case at Farm Campus
Reported Yesterday

RULES MUST BE OBSERVED

Committee Notifies Students That
They Must Be Inspected or Excluded from Classes

A case of smallpox has been discovered at the State farm, the first case to be reported on that campus. With one or two new cases developing daily. University officials are taking immediate measures to provide for either the vaccination or the daily inspection of every one on the campus.

There are still many students who have not complied with the regulations. A large number of those students who made arrangements for daily inspection in preference to vaccination, have failed to keep their appointments with the doctors regularly, and a still larger number have neither been vaccinated nor made arrangements for inspection. The authorities have obtained the names of all these delinquents, and are determined to round them up. Yesterday afternoon a statement was sent to each delinquent on the list, reminding him of the rules, and warning him that further non-compliance would result in exclusion from his classes. It is believed that in most cases this reminder and warning will be sufficient.

The officials are not greatly alarmed at the continual development of new cases, but are nevertheless determined to see that the proper precautions are observed by all. They say that the cases now being reported are confined chiefly to those students who refused to be vaccinated, and have since become exposed.

Many Chemists Needed

The demand for chemists in this country and in other countries has never been so great in the earth's history as it is today. The government is calling for the usual number of chemists for the regular peace time activities. In addition it is calling for men to help in the munition factories and in other pursuits incidental to war plans. The need for the industrial chemist is speeded up to a higher pitch than ever before, and the glowing inducements of the industrial world by the government have lured many veteran chemists from the teaching profession, thus causing a great shortage in this field.

No War Against German Literature

"Everyone seems to understand that we are at war with the Hohenzollerns and not with the Goethes and Schillers," said Prof. H. C. Thurnau, head of the German department of the University of Kansas in refuting the arguments of those who propose to drop the study of the German language from the college curriculum. The decrease in the enrollment in the German department has not been more marked than in any other department of the university, which all goes to show that students are not letting their patriotism interfere with their education.

New York Student Honored

Dudley L. Hill, '18, science, is one of the four Americans recently cited for distinguished service with the Lafayette Escadrille in France. He was the first undergraduate to leave New York University to join the French forces and has been seeing active service for almost two years now. His latest exploit was on the Verdun front the bringing down of a German fighting plane and escaping from the other which accompanied it.

PROFESSOR SHIMEK HAS INTERESTING WAR MESSAGE

Former Instructor at Prague to Deliver Forceful Lecture
This Morning

"The Friends of Our Enemy" will be discussed by Prof. B. Shimek, head of the department of botany, University of Iowa, formerly professor of zoology, University of Nebraska, at 11 o'clock convocation this morning in Memorial hall.

Professor Shimek is one of the most noted Bohemians in America. He is in Lincoln to give the annual Sigma Xi address. He has the reputation of being a forceful and very interesting speaker.

After graduating from the University of Iowa, Professor Shimek taught sciences at the Iowa state academy for a number of years. He then accepted a position as instructor of zoology here at Nebraska, resigning in 1890 to go back to the University of Iowa as professor of botany.

In 1913 and 1914 Professor Shimek was exchange professor at the University of Prague. His parents lived for years in Austria. Professor Shimek is therefore in a position to know first hand of the subject of which he is to speak.

Many Husker Foresters Now In the Service

In the last number of the American Forestry, which is the official paper of the American Forestry association, Dr. Raymond J. Pool, head of the department of botany, finds in the list of American Foresters in the service a number of Nebraskans. M. S. Benedict is a first lieutenant in the tenth regiment of engineers, and his brother Raymond E. Benedict, is a major in the same regiment. Both of these men were great Nebraska football players. Among others mentioned were Lieutenant Walter F. Goodman, Lieutenant Richard T. Guthrie, Carl L. Janouch, John C. Kittridge, Enoch W. Nelson and Lieutenant E. F. Wohlenburg.

All of these men are either in the tenth regiment of engineers, which is now in France, or in some branch of the service in one of the camps in the United States. All were students who did special work in the Botany or Forestry departments, and who left good positions in the forestry service to enter the army. The tenth regiment is commanded by officers who were high up in the forestry service. The regiment is now in France taking care of the supply of timber in conjunction with the French forestry service.

Captain-Elect Rhodes Gives Dinner for Team

Captain-elect "Dusty" Rhodes gave a dinner for the football team Sunday noon, at the Sigma Nu chapter house. All the men were present except Farley Young, Bill Day and Ed Kositzky, who have left to enter some branch of the service. The wittier Huskers told of their various experiences since they had been members of the U. of N. varsity, and Coach Stewart made a short talk.

BASKETBALL CANDIDATES HAVE SHORT WORKOUT

Start Second Week's Practice
With Scrimmage Principles

MORE MEN ARE WANTED

Coach Issues Call for Players—Games
To Be Scheduled for Freshmen
This Year

The second week of basketball practice started last night with a peppy practice devoted chiefly to the principles of scrimmage.

The varsity was represented by Jackson, Thompson and Koehler at forward, Munn at center, and Anthes and Spear at guard. The showing made by the team was as good as could be expected so early in the season.

A dearth of candidates for both teams has become a serious problem that is causing Coach Stewart no little concern. Candidates are needed badly for the varsity, and they are in still greater demand for the freshman team. The coach urges that all men who have ever played basketball or who want to learn to play, report for practice at once. Plenty of material is necessary to the development of a good basketball team, and this material has so far been lacking in both the first and second teams.

Freshmen to Have Games

A special inducement to candidates for the freshmen team is found in a ruling of the Missouri Valley conference, made at Kansas City last week, that will allow games to be scheduled for freshmen teams this year, as well as for the varsities. Taking immediate advantage of this ruling, Dr. Stewart has already scheduled several games for the freshmen varsity. Kansas and the Kansas Aggies will both bring their freshmen teams with them when they play here, for games with our freshmen, and there will be the usual return games played. Games will be arranged with the freshmen of other schools, and with some of the leading high schools of the state, so that the first-year men will have a well-filled schedule.

The varsity schedule this year will be fully as heavy as those of previous years. While it is true that so far less than the usual number of conference games have been scheduled, plans are under way for at least eight more, to be played with Drake University and Ames college. Then, in addition to these conference games, several outside games will be played. The team will meet Northwestern, probably Wisconsin and Minnesota and other big schools of their class, and several of the smaller schools in Nebraska and Iowa.

Interesting Program at English Club Meeting

The English club met at the Alpha Xi Delta house Saturday evening with Miss Williamson and Augusta and Ada Kibler. Miss Augusta Kibler read a story written by herself entitled "The Minister Scores a Trump." This story was published in the Mothers' Magazine. Miss Rose Anderson, accompanied by Miss Edna Hathaway, sang a song, the words and music of which were written by Miss Hathaway. Miss Pound read a Russian play, "Love of One's Neighbor."

Christmas Program at Vespers Today

All University girls are invited to attend the special Christmas program at Vespers today, at 5 o'clock, in the Y. W. C. A. rooms at the Temple. Ruth Hutton will preside. Elma Dykes and Estelle Lull will sing a Christmas duet. Lucille Wilcox will speak on "Christmas Gifts." Helen Kendall will talk a few minutes on "Christmas Greens." Ruth Welch will tell about "The Christmas Tree."

California to Play Notre Dame

Coach "Andy" Smith of California wants to play the Notre Dame eleven in 1918 and negotiations are already under way. His plan is to take the South Bend team to the coast next fall and then play them in Chicago in 1919.

What Happens When We Try It

Oh, say, can you sing from the start to the end,
What so proudly you stand for when orchestras play it;
When the whole congregation, in voices that blend,
Strike up the grand hymn, and then torture and slay it?
How they bellow and shout when they're first starting out,
But "the dawn's early light" finds them floundering about.
'Tis "The Star Spangled Banner" they're trying to sing,
But they don't know the words of the precious old thing.

Hark! The "twilight's last gleaming" has some of them stopped,
But the valiant survivors press forward serenely
To the "ramparts we watched," where some others are dropped
And the loss of the leaders is manifest keenly.
Then "the rocket's red glare" gives the bravest a scare,
And there's few left to face the "bombs bursting in air"—
'Tis a thin line of heroes that manage to save—
The last of the verse and "the home of the brave."
