NOTHIN' P'TICKLER
 By Jeff Machamer

Some people think the fountain of youth is to be found in a bottle of hair restorer.
 All SHIFTERS will meet at Armstrong's haberdashery tomorrow;
 several pledges are to undergo initiation, and this will be an excellent opportunity to outfit the S. A. T. C.
 with uniforms.
 You invite a number of your gentler feminine friends out to dinner, and the girls have their mouths puckered and dripping in expectation of something precedential, and you force on your best smile, and try to look decent in an improvised uniform, and act like it was a banquet or something. You start for the big banquet hall, stepping high, and wishing you had a circus stake puller with which to pull your spirits together. Your head is up in the air somewhere, and you hope it doesn't get tangled up with a storm cloud. You look at one of the girls and a sixty-horsepower pang of sentimental regret impedes the normal whirl of your heart machinery.

 You know way down in the lower regions of your blood-pumper that you've arranged a thing that's very wrong.
 The big doors swing wide and you walk inside with the air of a doomed mortal enroute to the pleasures of an electric chair. You pick up a bunch of trays and load them down with forks, spoons, and knives.
 You wend your heavy-hearted way to the serving tables, an' sure 'nuff
 there were LIVER, PRUNES, and that immortal member of Uncle Sam's menu, BOILED POTATOES!
 "GIMME THE CHECK!"
 "NO THANKS, OL' CHAP, I'LL PAY IT!"

ONCE UPON a time.
 THERE WAS A girl.
 WHO LIVED in a small.
 NEBRASKA TOWN that has.
 PAVED STREETS and ever'thing.
 YOU USED to play around.
 WITH HER and once.
 YOU TIED a rag around.
 HER LEFT big toe when she.
 STUBBED IT on a prominent.
 BRICK IN the sidewalk.
 FOR AWHILE you were.
 THE ONLY boy in the.
 NEIGHBORHOOD until she.
 STUBBED THE other one and.
 SOMEONE ELSE was present.
 TO ACT AS doctor.
 THEN YOU moved away.
 AND TRIED to forget.
 THE VERY sad event.
 TWELVE YEARS later you.
 WERE INTRODUCED all over.
 AGAIN AT a certain co-ed.
 INSTITUTION of note.
 WE CAN'T go on with.
 THIS STORY because no new.
 DEVELOPMENTS have taken place.
 AND AS soon as something new.
 HAPPENS WE will let you know.
 ABOUT IT and we hope she stubbs.
 HER TOE OR something again so.
 THAT WE CAN win back our old.
 PLACE IN her heart.
 AND IF THIS little yarn.
 PROMPTS A lot of speculative.
 COMMENT WE'LL be happy.
 BECAUSE THAT'S what it's meant for.

DOC STEWART TO AGAIN TAKE REINS

casualty lists yet and it is hoped that the report was false.
 In a letter from the Husker soldier
 to Jack Best, the veteran Nebraska trainer, Rhodes said that Doc Stewart had passed through Paris, but he was unable to get off to see him. As a matter of fact, Stewart never saw the shores of France and Dusty would have been very disappointed had he tried to meet him in Paris.
Huskies Off For St. Louis
 The Cornhuskers left as per schedule yesterday for their first stab at the big city. Having been cooped up at the university for the entire season without being able to play a single out-of-town game, they are to see foreign soil for the first time tomorrow. Dana was included in the band of twenty-one players in spite of his broken arm, being given the trip as a reward for his playing during the season.
 Spirit is running high at the Missouri metropolis and a monster crowd is expected at the game. The lineup will be as follows:
 Left end, Newman or McMahon; left tackle, Hubka; left guard, Wade Munn; center, Monte Munn; right guard, Ross or Cypreanson; right tackle, Lyman; right end, Swanson;
 quarterback, Howarth; left half, Scheibenberg; right half, Lantz; fullback, Dobson.
 The officials selected by Rutherford and Kline were; F. E. Burch, Earlham college, referee; Dr. J. A.
 Reilly, K. C. A. C., umpire; C. E. Mc-Bride, Kansas City Star, headlinesman and timekeeper.

GIRLS TA MAKE
MERRY TONIGHT

W. A. A.—"The Clown Dance."
 These stunts will be given during the earlier part of the evening, and after them will come all sorts of fun,
 when the girls will trip the light fantastic. The Girls' Club board are in charge of the refreshments, which are free, although an admission fee of twenty-five cents will be charged.
