Xi Delta will entertain all Sophomore girls in the University at a Washington Birthday party, Saturday afternoon, February 22, at the Woman's hall. This is exclusively for Sophomore girls and a large attendance is desired in order that the girls may become better acquainted. This is the first party given this year for Sophomore girls and Xi Delta is going to make it a success. So come, girls, and meet your friends.

Omnicron Nu will be at home to the girls and faculty of the Home Economics Department next Saturday afternoon from 3:30 until 4:30 at the Practice Cottage, 2985 Holdredge street.

Phi Kappa Psi held its twenty-fourth annual charter day banquet Wednesday evening at the chapter house. Twenty alumni attended.

Women of the Faculty Club met in the Woman's Hall Wednesday night, February 19. Several articles were read from the coming semi-centennial anniversary book, sketching the history of the university, among them one on "The Future," by Professor H. B. Alexander.

A humorous paper, entitled "Why Does She Yearn?" by Mrs. Amy Armstrong, was read by Miss N. J. Compton.

Marjorie Barstow of the Physical Training department gave a dance and Lenore Burkett of the Department of Education sang.

ATTENTION!

The success of any party depends upon the completeness of the details—Dance Programs and Stationery, or Society work is our first name. We can round out your happiness now by supplying every need from a fountain pen to office fixtures at our new store, 1213 N St. George Bros., Printers and Office Supplies.

Making America
Translating some leader's vision into national law does not finish the work of making a nation. The law, of itself and of those who enforce it, does not reach very far into the run of our community life. The existing relations between people are the test of national greatness and the foundation of national strength. The stress of war has given us an agency of partnership such as no other country has ever had in the Council of National Defense with its army of 185,000 lesser councils. The big jobs now ahead of the U. S. A. are partnership jobs rather than mere governmental responsibilities, and the Council of National Defense can do much toward getting the returning service men back where they belong in our community life, toward interesting all of use in what should be done to raise more food, toward starting needed public improvements, and relating these undertakings to the problem of unemployment, toward bettering public health and public finances, and especially toward completing the great work of Americanizing our newcomers to which Roosevelt gave almost the last of his patriotic energy.—Collier's.

The railroad administration, which last year ordered 1,430 locomotives for 1918 delivery, at an estimated cost of $78,193,000, and 100,000 freight cars, at a cost of $289,460,000, of which 743 locomotives and 17,027 cars have been delivered, is reported to have placed an additional order for 600 locomotives for 1919 delivery, involving an expenditure of about $37,842,000.

HAND GRENADES

To an Artificial Rose
Despite the fact that German dyes are no more, there are still some colors that will not come off—no amount of Ivory soap or Dutch Cleanser will have the slightest effect on them.

You go to a class. The professor there is somewhat akin to an Eskimo, and accordingly keeps the windows high and the heat low. You slowly but surely freeze as the frigid blasts blow about you. Your face assumes a purple hue—and the color will not come off.

In your next class, the professor keeps the heat up and the windows down. You drowse stupidly through the hour, with said prof. casting "eat 'em alive" looks in your direction if you venture to raise the window as much as a fraction of an inch. Whose face, under such conditions, would not look like a cherry in July? And the color will not come off.

You hurry to and from classes, one in the Law Building, the next in Chemistry Hall, and hither and thither over vast spaces. No wonder the blues disappear, and roses take their place in your cheeks—and the color will not come off.

What if the blues of some thirty-five roseloids are susceptible to the aforementioned Ivory soap and Dutch Cleanser? There remain some nine hundred whose blues are unmoved by either.

Our Foreign Markets

Germany normally used as much fertilizer on her 82,000,000 acres of tillable land as the United States on her 478,000,000 acres, and the average production per acre of wheat in Germany was double this country's. But now the war has educated our farmers.

With immense oversea markets in sight, the American manufacturer can scarcely hesitate to expand his business. One of the most significant move connected with foreign trade has been the organization of Heading steel interests into an export company. In December it was reported that some thirty companies, representing an ingot production of 20,000,000 tons a year, had gone into this Independent Steel Products Corporation, and planned to export 10 per cent of their output.

Almost the first peace order following the armistice was for 300,000 tons of commercial steel for Europe. One of the main problems relating to foreign trade is not lack of markets, but to prevent the stripping of the United States by these foreign markets. We need to avoid runaway prices and to provide for the protection of our own people. This is a matter for congress.

Italy is expected to spend $700,000,000 for reconstruction within a few years. France needs 7,000,000 tons of steel and iron at once, and 400,000,000 pounds of copper. Belgian and French commissioners are now in this country arranging for immense purchases of many lines. France and Belgium both need great quantities of textile machinery. In France 350,000 homes have been destroyed and 450,000 agricultural machines. That country lost 1,000,000 tons of shipping through submarines, with small replacements.

Over 2,000,000 bales of cotton are needed for export within a year for all of Europe.

In South America there is plenty of money and big markets. In the Argentine the bank deposits on June 30, 1918, were $2,500,000,000, against $1,200,000,000 in 1914. The total South American markets for the United States are estimated at $500,000,000 a year for two years at least. Chile, Bolivia, Uruguay, and other South American countries are in the same prosperous situation.—Collier's.
