

BRIEF BITS OF NEWS

Miss Sarka Hrbkova Seriously Ill—Miss Sarka Hrbkova, formerly of the Slavonic department the university, who was granted a year's leave of absence from her school work on account of poor health, has been seriously ill with bronchial pneumonia. A telegram received from Los Angeles recently by a member of the university faculty announced that she is improving slowly.

—Professor J. E. Le Rossignol, director of the university school of commerce and head of the economics department, lectured on "Bolshevism" at the First Congregational Church of Ashland last Sunday evening. A large audience was present to hear Professor Le Rossignol speak on this timely and interesting although foreboding topic. Each phase of the question was discussed and the listeners were aroused to the exact meaning of the word "bolshevism."

H. E. Club meeting Wednesday evening, March 19th, at 7:30 in Woman's Hall. Special program and United Agri. Party to be planned. Bring finished dresses for Lincoln orphans. Must be distributed by Saturday.

Lincoln Alumni Holds Meeting—The Lincoln alumni held a meeting Monday afternoon at the Alumni Headquarters to make plans for their part in the semi-centennial celebration. M. A. Hyde, '98, was appointed chairman of a committee of five to organize the Lincoln alumni. Mr. Hyde selected for his committee George Hager, '98, O. J. Fee, '03, Ralph Mosely, '10, and Mrs. C. W. Roberts, '14. The committee will meet Wednesday noon at the Commercial Club to make further plans.

Committee for Reese Memorial is Named—The Lincoln committee for the Dean Reese Memorial fund consists of the following men: T. F. A. Williams, D. J. Flaherty and H. Rosenbalm. These people are sending out a number of letters to the former students of Dean Reese so that every one might have the chance to contribute to the memorial fund. It is planned to have the tablet ready for the semi-centennial celebration.

YOUR PROFESSORS

Some students, especially freshmen, are exceedingly apt to adopt the "teach me if you can" attitude toward some or all of their professors. This sort of an idea is of course entirely erroneous. It is safe to say that any student with this attitude toward the faculty isn't going to get much out of his university work.

Met your professors half way. They are going to try to teach you what you ought to know, but unless you evince some amount of interest in the work they probably won't care much whether you learn or not. If, for instance, you make a habit of going to sleep in lectures, the professor will probably wake you up for the first few times, but if the somnoletn practice is continued he will probably let you sleep on and take the consequences.—Purdue Exponent.

GET AHEAD OF TIME

"There is a time for everything," so we read in an old, old book long ago. What a wonderful state of affairs that would be! A time to study, a time to play, a time to read the new book you have been wanting to read, and a time to call on the friend so long neglected. Will the student ever attain that happy condition? Not until that most pernicious of all campus thieves—the time stealer—is eradicated.

"I could manage my work beautifully if only I didn't lose so much time," is a cry heard on every hand. Some one makes an appointment with you and keeps you waiting twenty minutes or maybe does not come at all. A teacher comes in nine and a half minutes late to class. An entertainment begins thirty minutes later than scheduled and you awake a good half hour's study. Because of these robberies, certain verses in the good book are in danger of becoming obsolete. Along with the other lessons, we are learning, let us get the one of promptness.—Exchange.
