SYRACUSE CANCELS GAME WITH HUSKERS

Students do not favor invasion of West by Organizations.

Nebraska Officials Will Make no Effort to Hold Easterners to Contract.

Nebraska and Syracuse will not clash on the gridiron in 1920. The athletic officials at Nebraska were informed of the intentions of Syracuse to cancel the Cornhusker game, by a telegram received from New York yesterday. Student sentiment at Syracuse is strongly opposed to another western trip by the Orange team. Victories over the strongest teams in the East gave Syracuse every right to the championship title this year but her prestige was given a severe blow by the defeats at the hands of Indiana and Nebraska when the Orange invaded the western territory.

Graduate Manager Smith, of Syracuse, and "Doc" E. J. Stewart, former head coach at Nebraska, drew up a contract which provided for a game between the Huskers and Syracuse to be played in Lincoln next year. It is conceded by the Nebraska authorities, however, that contracts between athletic departments are not legally binding and the Cornhusker authorities will make no attempt to hold the Easterners to the terms of the agreement. Negotiations have been started to procure a game with some other prominent eastern team for Thanksgiving day and the complete schedule will be announced in the near future.

NEBRASKA WILL NOT PLAY NAVY IN 1920

The proposed trip of the Cornhuskers to Annapolis next year to mix with the Navy team, has been given up entirely. Admission to all games at Annapolis is by invitation which eliminates the question of gate receipts and the guarantee offered by the navy authorities is not of sufficient substance to persuade the Nebraska officials to consider entering an agreement. The Annapolis school was very anxious to obtain a game with the Huskers as several wires and letters were sent to the athletic department bidding for a 1920 game. The Navy schedule has been announced and includes North Carolina, Bucknell, Princeton, Western Reserve, Georgetown, South Carolina, and the Army.

UNIVERSITY SENATE PLANS HONOR FOR GENERAL PERSHING

At a recent meeting of the university senate it was decided to honor General Pershing in some distinctive and academic way. Consequently a committee was named consisting of Chancellor Avery, Professors Clara Conklin, H. B. Alexander, and Deans L. A. Sherman and P. M. Buck. The last named three were made a sub-committee to draft a memorial address. Dean Sherman is chairman of this committee. The address is to be engraved upon parchment of P. J. Harrison and presented to the general at a special university convocation to be held in Memorial Hall either December 26 or 27. Several committees are at work upon the details of this ceremony. The presentation will be made by the Chancellor. Such memorial addresses have long been a feature of academic life. The universities of the Middle Ages observed this custom and all thru the years it has been used at times of special fitness.

Students Going Home for Holidays Should Buy Tickets Early.

The railroad offices are urging that all students who expect to return to their homes for the holidays call at the ticket offices and buy their tickets a day or two before they go, stating clearly the day on which they wish to use the ticket. This done so that the companies may be sure to have seat service enough to care for all who wish to use the trains. The shortage or train service makes it necessary at this time to give the companies notice of expected travel. The return to their homes of about 5,000 people will tend to block the traffic beyond what the present service can accommodate unless this notice is given.

Professor Swezey Does Not Believe World Will End Today

"Today the world will come to an abrupt end." This has been written in many of the prominent newspapers throughout the country for many weeks by writers of fiction and "would-be" scientists.

These predictions will cause many families to be together for the day, will increase the church memberships throughout the country, and will greatly enhance the value of prayer. Already some university students have been requested to be home "Wednesday, sure," with the instruction that "if we all must go, we want to go together." University students are wondering what they will be doing at the time of the catastrophe. Some are planning parties, some are planning a "quiet study hour," and some

PLANS FORMING FOR JOURNALISM WEEK EARLY IN FEBRUARY

One week will be set aside during the latter part of February at the time of the annual meeting of the Nebraska Press Association, for a journalism week. Students who are taking the journalism course will be given several days of programs by the association. Speakers from all over the state will tell what the state's needs are along journalistic lines.

The fact that the university authorities intend to make the newly reconstructed course in journalism one that will supply the needs of the country newspaper makes it necessary that university students who intend to specialize in country journalism to get in touch with the needs of the field in which they intend to work. There are a number of country editors all over the state who have an inside knowledge gained from years of experience who will tell the factors that are required to make country journalism a success and an asset to the state. Faculty members and officials of the Press association are conferring and a date will soon be set for the event.

ENGRAVERS GRANT AN EXTENSION OF TIME

Arrangements to accept individual pictures taken from January 5 to January 30 have been made with the Bureau of Engraving at Minneapolis by the Cornhusker staff. All organization pictures not yet taken must be taken by that time. Nearly all Junior and Senior organization pictures have been taken, but in order to have the Cornhusker complete, these arrangements have been made to extend the time until January 30.

Room 206, U-Hall, has been given to the staff of the Cornhusker for use as their office, and a meeting of the staff will be held in this room, 11:00 o'clock, Thursday.

JESSE PATTY

FORUM WILL DISCUSS LIVE QUESTIONS AT MEETING THURSDAY

Rev. Harry Huntington, Methodist university pastor, will lead the discussion at the "Y" forum meeting at the university Y. M. C. A. Thursday at 5 o'clock. Some of the questions to be discussed are: "Can a Man Earn a Million Dollars in Lifetime?" and "What is a Just Wage?" These questions are of live interest at the present and every man should express his opinion and get the opinion of others.

The first forum meeting, held last Thursday, was a decided success. The Palladian quartet gave several selections. Lawrence Slater, president of the university Y. M. C. A., lead the discussion on the "honor spirit" in universities. A large number of men took part in discussing the question. At the close of the meeting the men present voted unanimously to continue the forum meetings.

PROFESSOR GRANT UPHOLDS Y. M. C. A. WAR WORK IN FRANCE

Professor Blanch Grant spoke at convocation Tuesday morning on her experiences in France. Her work was with the Y service and her particular duty was decorating the huts. She traveled through the district around Le Mans with her caminette and driver carrying pots of paint or kalsomine. Usually when she had started in some soldier would come looking on and remark that was his work back in the states. She would then ask if he would not like to help. Then she could go on with her caminette to another hut.

Professor Grant said that much good was reported in consequence of this sort of decoration for the soldiers reflected the place in which they were. She declared that much of the criticism directed against the work was unjust. The Y workers had to buy in the open market and so prices were high. They had little or no means for transporting supplies. Once they were told that the army would soon be centered in a certain place. Accordingly they filled a great warehouse with supplies only to have the army, men and trucks removed to another quarter. Thus the warehouse was stranded with all its supplies and it was very difficult to get the things removed to places where they could be used.

There was complaint that Y did not supply the men with the paper. They did so when paper was to be had. For a time ten million francs worth of paper was held up at Bordeaux and during that time they had none for the men.

The Y workers had thousands of things to do. The Salvation Army was asked to do just one thing and

CORNHUSKERS AWAIT CLASH WITH MAROONS

Schissler Has Three Complete Teams for Opening Game With Maroons.

Nebraska Basket Tossers Will Have Stiff Tussle With Veteran Iowa Team.

The lineups for this afternoon.

Nebraska	Morningside
Hussey.....F.....	Clapper
Patty.....F.....	Balkema
Munn.....C.....	Schafenberg
Schellenberg.....G.....	Weinig
Paynter.....G.....	Rorapugh

With three different teams ready to play, Coach Schissler and his trusty basket flippers await with confidence the clash with the invading maroons. Fifteen men have been issued the new Varsity equipment which will be used for the first time today. These men are: Captain Schellenberg, Bailey, Newman, Patty, Pickett, Munn, Paynter, Smith, Russell, Jungmeyer, Collins, Howarth, Hussey, Bekins, and Stromer. This string of fifteen artists may be divided into three teams, each of which is an aggregation of basket tossers of which no school could be ashamed.

Coach Schissler intends to give every one of these men a chance to play against Morningside, provided the Methodists do not prove to be stronger than is anticipated. Schissler wants to use every man but nevertheless he will take no chances on losing the game. The Schellenberg, Paynter, Patty, Hussey, and Munn combination will in all probability start the fray this afternoon. Here is an aggregation of competent performers, with plenty of speed, weight, and aggressiveness.

If this team fails to make the desired impression on the Maroons, another quintette, consisting of Russell, Smith, Bailey, Newman, and Bekins will be ready to be rushed to the scene of battle. Speed and cleverness are the main characteristics of this combination. Russell and Smith are wily basket shooters of rare ability and at the guard positions Bailey and Newman completely cover their opponents and are very fast on the floor. Bekins, at center, plays the pivot position in a very creditable manner and registers his share of counters.

A third team will also be at the disposal of Coach Schissler. Collins, Pickett, Stromer, Howarth and Jungmeyer, comprise this quint and it is by no means a second rate combination. Collins and Pickett have both earned their letters in the basket years in previous years and are clever players. Collins is a sure shot at the basket.

Coach Saunderson's veteran squad of court performers arrived in Lincoln last night and are ready to give battle to the Huskers today. Ten Maroon players made the trip. Rorapugh, one of the husky guards, is a former Norfolk, Nebraska, boy. He played basketball with the Norfolk high team and appeared in Lincoln in two high school tournaments. Three of the five Iowans who will start the game are veteran artists and the dope forecasts a snappy battle when the whistle blows at 4:30 this afternoon.
