Vote to Hold July Convention of Nebraska Press Association in Omaha.

Dean P. M. Buck and Prof.
M. M. Fogg Address Last Meeting of Scribes.

The mid-winter session of the Nebraska Editorial Association held at the University of Nebraska was brought to a close by the newly chosen president, E. R. Purcell of Broken Bow. The association was extended an invitation by Arthur C. Thomas of the Omaha Chamber of Commerce to hold the next convention in Omaha. It was voted to hold the convention in the metropolis sometime in July. About seventy-five editors and their wives attended the sessions which were held in the Social Science building at the university.

Prof. M. M. Fogg and Dean P. M. Buck of the university spoke before the editors preceding the final business meeting which closed the convention. Prof. Fogg made an appeal to make country journalism a field where the college graduate can satisfy his ambition and live congenially. He declared that the majority of the journalistic students are attracted to

The second event is convocation in the Armory, eleven o'clock Tuesday. Grace Coppock will speak and special music has been arranged. Men as well as women are urged to attend. Miss Coppock is a world traveler. She comes here about every two years, but has never spoken at convocation.

Night Riders Revel and Ransack in Wee Sma' Hours of the Night

The fraternity portico was adorably decorated with the equipment of several sorority parlors. The freshman had arisen at his superiors' bidding, and stepped out on the veranda to take in the milk bottles and the morning papers. It was so early that he was unable to discern in the dawn, the tall, rose shaded, floor lamp, the pictures of Madonna and Mary Pickford and the beautiful portieres which were unscientifically strewn upon the piazza. Striking the lamp, he stumbled, tripped over the portieres and came violently face to face with the lady in black.

With bewilderment in his eye and too full of words to express himself the froth returned paperless into the house and informed the members thereof that some unsophisticated friend had adorned their entrance with unseemly goods and indignation rose high within the family circle. It

REV. SHAYLER TO DELIVER BACCALAUREATE SERMON

Right Reverend Ernest Vincent Shayler, D. D. has accepted the university's invitation to deliver the baccalaureate sermon June 6. He is the Nebraska bishop of the Episcopal church. The services will be held in St. Paul's church in the morning. Previously the custom has been to conduct the baccalaureate services in the evening.

CADETS MAY SIGN FOR SUMMER CAMPS

R. O. T. C. Men Will Have
Choice of Three Training
Encampments.

Wednesday, March 3, is the last day on which men who expect to attend an R. O. T. C. camp next summer may register. The military department is anxious that all men who are doubtful as to whether they can attend, shall register by this date also and leave the final decision until later. The office of the department is room 202 Nebraska Hall.

The period of all camps will be from June 17 to July 28. The camps to which Nebraska cadets are eligible are: Infantry, Camp Custer, Michigan; Field Artillery, Camp Knox, Virginia; Motor Transport Corps, Camp Holabird, Maryland. The maximum total attendance for all camps is to be 10,000.

The program for the camps as outlined in a handbook received by Major Morrison provides for a strenuous but enjoyable and beneficial six weeks. The time will be divided between instruction in fundamentals and in technical subjects. Quizzes will be plentifully interspersed throughout the regular routine and at the close of the camps each camp commander will give certificates to the successful cadets bearing the grade which they have earned during the period. Among the subjects in which the men will receive instruction are physical training, organization and administration, close and extended order drill, target practice, practice marching, ceremonies, care of the equipment, first aid, map reading minor tactics, and others.

But the officers who made the plans for the camps realized that "All work and no play makes Jack a dull boy" and so they created the post of Camp Recreational Officer. It will be the duty of this officer to provide a camp band, organize mass singing, bring to the camp moving pictures, shows and other entertainments, promote athletics, make provision for the care of visitors, and to give the men opportunity to read and to attend devotions on Sunday.

The university men will be exempted from kitchen police and other disagreeable duties that go to make camp life tedious for the war department has ordered that each camp be provided with a detachment of regular army men to perform these tasks. It has also been decreed that the students shall receive the West Point allowance

MID-SEMESTERS DUE WEEK OF MARCH 15

Quarterly Examinations Come
Shortly Before Spring Vacation Begins.

Mid-semester begin March 15 and end March 20. The dreaded quarterly examinations will be held a week and a half before spring vacation begins. The few weeks that remain before the tests would be profitably spent if devoted to studies instead of social affairs and aimless ponderings. It is not unusual for a student to devote the first eight weeks of each semi-semester to the pleasures that swarm about him and to forget that there is always a penalty for his frivolity and that the judgment will be upon him ere he is aware of its nearness. The last week of the half semester is spent in burning the midnight mazda and cramming the learn-ings of weeks into his head in a few short hours. It doesn't pay. The jumble of facts twist themselves into myriads of phrases, become more jumbled and are not only useless but detrimental. Now is the appointed hour. Get busy.

RUMORS CIRCULATE THAT THE RAG PICKER IS UP TO HIS OLD PRANKS

It has been rumored that many students have lately contracted the habit of visiting Station A each morning and receiving the day's issue gratis under false pretenses thus prohibiting the legitimate subscriber from securing his copy of the Daily Nebraskan. If such a rumor is true, and it probably is, the practice should be nipped in the bud before the whole student body employs the same methods of a "Rag" picker.

The circulation department states that 1200 papers are printed each day. Nine hundred are distributed at the sub-station while the remaining 300 are mailed to out-of-town subscribers and exchanges with other college and university papers. There are plenty of Nebraskans for all students who have extracted $1.25 from their wallets. Many more can be easily printed for those who wish to fall in line with the 900 on the circulation lists.

Are you a "Rag" picker?

DELTA TAU DELTA WIN FRAT TOURNEY

Conquer Sig Alphas Friday Afternoon in Inter-Fraternity
Tourney 14 to 8.

In a fast and strongly contested game of basketball, Delta Tau Delta defeated Phi Delta Theta by a score of 22-13, thereby winning the inter-fraternity championship for 1920. The game was played on the Armory floor and the bleachers were crowded with cheering spectators.

The Deltas entered the fray the favorites over their opponents and proceeded to take the lead from the start. The fast floor work and basket shooting of Haverly and Weimer completely baffled the Phi Delta guards. Haverly connected for nine points and Weimer was good for seven. Munger from a guard position added four.

The feature of the game was the playing of "Chick" Hartley, freshman football star of 1919, and star of the freshman basket squad. Hartley was responsible for nine of his team's points, throwing seven free throws out of nine attempts. In the face of defeat, he maintained his cool-headedness and showed himself a true sportsman at all times. Bob Hall also played an excellent game for the Phi Deltas. The plucky forward fought hard throughout the game and accounted for one field goal.

The work of Haverly, Weimer, Wyncoop, and Munger, is deserving of great praise. Excellent team work was evident and time after time they worked the ball down to the goal and registered two points. In team work, the winners were far superior to their opponents. The defense of the Deltas was practically impregnable and very few shots were allowed the Phi Deltas.

The lineups and summary:

Why I Am Always Broke or Down With the Lunch Hound

The last bars of the fox-trot died in a crash. The dancers applauded madly for another encore. The "more" of the stiff-legged dancers was plainly heard above the applause of the more conservative element. It was of no avail. The musicians were giving nothing more than they were paid for. Do not the rules of the unions say that all dances shall cease at eleven thirty and it was the eleven thirty-one. Not having learned as yet the art of the stiff-legged dance I was not as enthusiastic as some of the others for some more so I hurried my girl off to the cloak room so that we could get our pick of the coats and hats there. We bettered ourselves considerably in the line of wearing apparel (I got a new derby) and then tripped lightly up the street toward home.

On our way home we passed a popular restaurant. My girl got real clubby as we passed in front of the place, squeezing my arm severely. I

HUSKERS TAKE FIVE STRAIGHT

Huskers Win Second Game from Valparaiso, Record of Five Victories.

Schissler's Fast Pony Team
Makes Clean Sweep on Eastern Trip.

VALPARAISO, Ind., Feb. 25.—The Nebraska Cornhuskers took the first game on the local floor from the Valparaiso five by the score of 30 to 17 here last night. A large crowd attended the battle favoring the home team and meeting one of the greatest surprises of the season.

Contrary to expectations, Coach Schissler held Captain Schellenberg and Russell out of the lineup and started his fast "pony" team against the big Valparaiso five. This combination played rings around the Hoosiers and accurate basket shooting by Bekins and Patty soon put the game on ice.

Valparaiso led only once, when two long goals by Goheen placed the Indians on top for a minute. Patty gave the Huskers a lead with a corner shot a moment later and the Huskers, once in front, maintained their advantage to the finish. The score:

PHI DELTS WIN RIGHT TO BATTLE IN FINALS

Defeat Phi Delta Theta Five
22 to 13 in Hotly Contested
Battle.

The Phi Delta Theta basket quintet downed the fast Sigma Alpha Epsilon team to the tune of 14 to 8 Friday afternoon in the semi-finals of the inter-fraternity meet. The excellence of team work displayed by the Phi Deltas and the skill in looping field goals contributed to the defeat of the Sig Alpha aggregation. The scoring started soon after the ball was in play when Koehler of the Phi Deltas caged a basket from the center of the court. Fast playing by both teams featured the first half which ended 7 to 3 in favor of the Phi Deltas. A scare was thrown into the leaders' camp after the Sig Alphas gradually scored but the lead was clamped when Hartley of the Phi Deltas threw two field goals in the last two minutes of play. The Delta Tau Delta flippers had everything their way against the Alpha Sigma Phi team, easily winning by the score of 19 to 7. The Deltas scored from the start looping the basket with comparative ease. A superb brand of team work rarely shown in fraternity games by the Deltas scored from the start, looping throughout the conflict. Field goals by Eitter and Dobson and foul goals by Nixon totaled 7 points for the Alpha Sigs. Wiemer and Haverly of the Deltas contributed to the score column for the Deltas.

understood these signs of emotion as a desire to have something to eat at my expense. I regretted very much that the place was crowded and that we were unable to find a table but such was the case. My girl was a veteran Lunch Hound however and was not daunted in the least by this. Was there not some other place farther up the street where a person could dine? We would go to a drug store up the street which she knew of where one could get perfectly adorable sandwiches.

On our way there she confided in me. Her sorority had just that day bought a new piano. Wasn't that simply grand? "Oh, yes, that was fine," I replied. My own personal convictions were different however. They ought to be able to buy a new piano every year or so. The girls never did have but two meals a day at the house. Their dates always bought them their
