

RHODES MAN IS APPOINTED

RUSSELL PETERS OF OMAHA CHOSEN BY COMMITTEE.

FORMER CORNELL STUDENT

ONLY THREE UNIVERSITY OF NEBRASKA GRADUATES APPLIED.

Successful Candidate May Take Any Specialized Course Covering Three Years.

Mr. Russell Peters of Omaha, graduate of Cornell University, was awarded the Rhodes Scholarship, September 25. Mr. Peters is the son of Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Peters of Omaha. He graduated from Omaha Central High School in 1916 and from Cornell last spring. At Cornell he was very prominent in athletics, particularly golf, and was editor-in-chief of the Cornell Daily, which is the Ithaca daily as well as the school paper.

Mr. Peters was chosen from the seven applicants for the scholarship. Only three of the applicants were University of Nebraska men. The committee in charge of selecting the representative regrets that there were not more applicants from the University. It believes that there should be at least twenty-five candidates for each selection. The Nebraskan hopes to be able to furnish, in the near future, detailed information concerning the requirements for candidates for the scholarship. The committee feels that a lack of information prevents many capable men from entering the contest.

The courses at Oxford are specialized and any course is open to the scholar. The work which will cover three years may lead either to an A. B. degree or Ph. D. These advanced studies will correspond very closely to post-graduate work in American colleges.

The members of the Nebraska committee in charge of selecting Mr. Peters are Chancellor Avery, Professors Noble, Rice, Lees and Mr. Paul B. Good. The last three named are ex-Rhodes men.

Alfred Reese, '20, won the Rhodes scholarship last year and leaves for England early in October. At that time there were a number of University of Nebraska men applying for the scholarship.

WOMAN'S BUILDING CHRISTENED TUESDAY

NAMED IN HONOR OF ELLEN SMITH, FIRST REGISTRAR.

The Woman's Building was christened "Ellen Smith Hall" in honor of the memory of the first woman on the University faculty, at a meeting of the Board of Regents, Friday morning. The alumni of the University asked that this be done. Older Nebraska "grads" will remember Miss Smith as a Professor of Latin, Librarian and registrar.

Miss Smith joined the ranks of the University faculty when the school was founded in 1869 and for many years was actively connected with the institution. For years she lived at Tenth and U streets, which is now part of the campus. She died in Lincoln several years ago.

DEAN SEAVEY GIVES HIS FIRST LECTURE

Dean Warren A. Seavey, head of the Law College at the University, gave his first lecture to the entire college at the new lecture period hour, eleven o'clock, Friday, September 24. This course of general lectures is required and must be taken by all Law students.

About 300 students, comprising the three classes of the school, heard the lecture. Dean Seavey spoke on the duties of a student to his chosen college, and the duties of that college to the students enrolled therein. He believed that only those students who were good in their class work should take part in outside activities, while the plodders should confine their work to application of text-book knowledge gleaned from the course they are taking.

Next Friday some one not connected with the University will deliver a lecture.

GENEVA CONFERENCE DELEGATES REPORT

The report of the Lake Geneva Conference will be given by various delegates at Vespers, at Ellen Smith Hall, at five o'clock on Tuesday, September 28. This conference is for the benefit of college Y. W. C. A.'s of the middle west, and is held annually at Lake Geneva, Illinois. This year it extended from August 17 to 27.

Each branch of the Y. W. C. A. sends a group of delegates varying in number according to the size of the local organization. Nebraska sent six members. Miss Amanda Heppner, Dean of Women, was chosen hostess of the Conference. The following is the list of Nebraska delegates: Miss Heppner, Ada Stidworthy, Faye Curry, Helen Nieman, Grace Stuff, Agnes Lawritson and Claire McKinnon, who is the secretary of the University Y. W. C. A. here.

VARSITY BEATS FRESHMEN TEAM

Thompson Runs 50 Yards Through "Frosh" Line Before Being Downed.

SCORE 15-7 AT END OF SIXTH PERIOD.

The Cornhusker football season was inaugurated Saturday when the Varsity trimmed the Freshmen to the tune of 15 to 7. This score was somewhat smaller than was expected on the part of the Varsity but goes to prove that the Freshmen have a strong aggregation.

It will be necessary for the Varsity to do some stiff "grinding" this next week in preparation for their first scheduled game with Washburn College October 2.

Every man on the Varsity and Freshmen squads had a chance to show what he could do Saturday. Both coaches used enough men for three teams. Most of the play in the first six periods of the game was in Freshman territory. Very few forward passes were used by the Varsity. The freshmen had much difficulty in making any substantial gains through the Varsity's line but were more successful on end runs. The "Frosh" also completed more forward passes than the Varsity.

The Lineup.
The lineup at the beginning of the game was lined up as follows:

Varsity	Pos.	Freshmen
Swanson	L. E.	Lopp
Pucelik	L. T.	Odum
W. Munn	L. G.	Thompson
Bassett	C.	Peterson
M. Munn	R. G.	Benesch
Weller	R. T.	Toft
Dana	R. E.	Klemke
Newman	Q. B.	Lewellen
Dale	L. H.	Morgan
Howarth	R. H.	Noble
Hubka	F. B.	Dewitz

Referee—Earl Johnson. Umpire—John Riddell.

The Varsity kicked off to the Freshmen and after two attempts to gain through the line, the Freshmen punted but the kick was blocked and the ball rolled back of the line where Lewellen fell on it for a safety. The ball was returned to the twenty yard line where a punt by the first-year men was blocked and the Varsity recovered the ball. Hubka then punted out of bounds on the Freshmen's three yard line. Lewellen's punt was blocked, Dana, Varsity end, recovering the ball. Dale then plunged over for the first touchdown. Weller kicked goal.

Lewellen kicked off to Hubka, who returned the ball ten yards. The ball was rapidly advanced down the field by Howarth, Hubka, Thompson and Hartley. Thompson got away for a fifty yard sprint through a broken field but was downed by Noble. The Freshmen were then penalized five yards and a pass over the goal line, Hartley to Howarth, gave them another touchdown. Moore failed to kick goal.

The Freshmen Score.
The Freshmen's touchdown came when Newman fumbled a punt and the ball was recovered by one of the first-year men. The Varsity was penalized for being off-side and after a couple of line plunges, Lewellen took the ball over for a touchdown. He also kicked goal, making the score 15 to 7. Neither team was able

FRESHMEN TO LEARN OF SCHOOL TRADITIONS

SPECIAL MEN'S CONVOCATION TUESDAY TO BE FULL OF PEP.

The annual Freshman initiation for men will be held in the Armory at eleven o'clock Tuesday. All classes will be dismissed.

The University Cadet Band will play in front of the Armory at eleven o'clock and within at various intervals during the program.

The entire affair will be one of pep designed to instill Cornhusker spirit into the Freshmen. There will be plenty of opportunity to make a noise.

Candidates for cheer leaders will be given an opportunity to try out under the direction of Russell Bailey. All husky Huskers with big voices will be welcomed in the contest.

Luehring to Speak.

Luehring, director of Physical Education, and Coach Schulte will initiate the Freshmen into the spirit of Cornhusker athletics. They will tell how the Athletic Department has grown from a humble beginning to an institution of prowess and reputation. The Freshmen will hear of the early days when Cornhusker spirit under the leadership of Jack Best made up for the lack of equipment. They will learn how events, such as the Olympics, have become traditions, and the part they now take in University life.

Every phase of school life will be touched by the speakers. Dr. G. E. Condra will tell of the traditions and spirit of the institution. Dean P. M. Buck will tell the Freshmen what is expected of them from an educational standpoint.

This convocation, sometimes called "Freshman Initiation," is given annually by the Innocents, whose purpose it is to acquaint Freshmen with Cornhusker spirit and traditions, and to tell first-year men definitely how to enter Cornhusker sports.

Y. M.-Y. W. C. A. MIXER PROVES BIG SUCCESS

The Y. W. C. A. and Y. M. C. A. entertained about two hundred and fifty students at a mixer Saturday evening. The evening was spent in games on the gymnasium floor. Mr. Luehring, director of athletics, addressed the students on clean sportsmanship and the relation of Christian activities to clean athletics. Following Mr. Luehring's talk and the games, light refreshments were served to the guests. The mixer was under the direction of Paul Cook and Hulda Greenwald, joint chairmen.

"AG" REGISTRATIONS LESS THAN LAST YEAR

Dean Burnett estimates that approximately 400 men and women have registered for work in the College of Agriculture. Up to last Saturday, 218 men and 176 women had registered. This is a little less than the first semester last year but about the same as the second semester.

Registration for the School of Agriculture opens October 5. Last year, 450 were enrolled the first semester and 471 the second. Boys entering the school must have at least three months of actual farm experience and be seventeen years of age while the girls must be sixteen years. The room question will become acute when the short courses open because they are scarce and with the addition of the School of Agriculture students a vacant room will be a rare commodity.

Ten O'Clock Classes Prove Most Popular With Students

Deans of colleges at Nebraska and advisers of students report that students are swarming to them asking that their schedules of classes and study programs be changed. It is thought that if the subject shows up in an unfavorable light to the student at first, because of its difficulty, or that if the name sounds a silent warning, so to speak, the students ask for an immediate change to an easier, or, as some of them aptly put it, to a more "sane" subject.

Some of the changes were made, however, because students wish to work part of the time. Many students find that they can earn a fair-sized amount of spending money by working in the afternoons, and there-

GIRL LEADERS ADDRESS SPECIAL CONVOCATION

FRESHMEN GIRLS TO HEAR ABOUT STUDENT CAMPUS ACTIVITIES.

Convocation for Freshmen girls will be held Tuesday at eleven o'clock in the Temple Theater. The purpose of this meeting is to acquaint the new girls with the names and work of the various organizations and societies having to do with women of the University of Nebraska. Every girl should be interested in knowing what lines of activities she can enter into and this is an opportunity to find out about such things.

The presidents of the various organizations will each give a talk on the work done by their particular group of girls.

Janet Maitland is the chairman in charge of the convocation. She will give a talk on Black Masque, the Senior honorary society of the school.

Other girls who will speak are Mary Brownell, Ada Stidworthy, Margaret Stidworthy, Betty Scribner, Nell Bates, Ruth Lindsay, Marjorie Barstow and Faye Curry. Dorothy Wright and Lois Melton will lead the Nebraska yells.

Mary Brownell will talk on the Woman's Self-Governing Association, explaining its work and use in the life of the girls of this school. Ada Stidworthy's topic is the Y. W. C. A. Margaret Stidworthy is to tell of the things Xi Delta, the Sophomore honorary society, has done around the campus. Betty Scribner will tell about Silver Serpent, the Junior honorary society.

Nell Bates will represent Mystic Fish, Freshman honorary society, telling things that will interest Fresh-

NEBRASKANS ATTEND BUREAU CONFERENCE

Prof. H. C. Filley and Prof. Wm. Brakaw, director of the extension service, have just returned from an auto trip to Manhattan, Kans., where they attended a conference of farm bureau representatives and officials, from the western states. This conference was called to discuss farmers' co-operative live stock commissions at the main packing centers and the possibility of federating these commissions.

POTATO EXCHANGE MAY MARKET NEBRASKA CROP

H. O. Werner, secretary of the Nebraska Potato Improvement Association and extension horticulturist for the College of Agriculture, reports that a movement is on foot to establish a state potato exchange as a more effective means of marketing this big Nebraska crop. A meeting of potato growers, agricultural agents, commercial representatives, State Secretary of Agriculture Leo Stuhr and others was recently held at Alliance to perfect plans for the exchange.

It is planned to establish a central exchange at Alliance, with affiliated local exchanges or associations over the potato belt. The local exchanges will market their potatoes through the central exchange. The local associations are to be organized immediately and a mass meeting of delegates from such associations held to complete the organization of the central exchange. It is planned to have the exchange in operation in time to handle this year's crop. Potato growers in some of the other big potato states have organized successful marketing exchanges, according to Professor Werner.

DANDY EATS FOR 'BIG AND LITTLE SISTERS'

More than one hundred twenty-five "Big and Little Sisters," clad in variously styled hiking attire, walked and rode to Antelope park Saturday morning to participate in the picnic breakfast under the auspices of the Senior Girls' Advisory Board.

They started gathering at nine o'clock. Some came on street cars, some autoed and some walked. The first arrivals soon sought a spot sheltered from the dusty wind to play "Pussy wants a corner."

When the car carrying the "eats" arrived some hundred hungry girls were heard uttering exclamations of joy. All repaired to another part of the park and gathered food for the fire. Hot coffee, sandwiches and fruit were handed out.

Each girl was tagged with her own name to dispense with introductions. Restraint was cast to the winds of a very windy day and a "get-acquainted" spirit prevailed.

DEDICATION AT FARM CAMPUS

Dr. Theobald Smith of Rockefeller Institute Principle Speaker.

ANIMAL PATHOLOGY BUILDING ONE OF FINEST IN COUNTRY.

One of the most modern animal pathology and hygiene laboratories in the United States was dedicated at the University State Farm Friday afternoon. Dr. Theobald Smith, director of the Department of Animal Pathology of the Rockefeller Medical Research Institute, Princeton, N. J., was the principle speaker. Short addresses were delivered by Chancellor Avery, Regent E. P. Brown, Dean E. A. Burnett, Dean I. S. Cutter, Dr. L. Van Es, chairman of the Department of Animal Pathology and Hygiene, and Dr. S. W. Alford, president of the Nebraska Veterinary Association. The dedication services were held in the Agricultural Hall auditorium.

Dr. Smith pointed out the importance of the study of animal diseases in connection with the production of food. And as the production of food is becoming a greater problem the study of animal diseases becomes of vital importance. Domestic animals perform a service very necessary to the sustenance of mankind, and that is the conversion of nature's abundant, indigestible roughage into milk, muscle and fats, that are nutritious and easily digested. The study of animal diseases has ceased to be merely for the benefit of scientific knowledge but is of tremendous economic importance as well. The increasing demand for food has placed an increased burden upon the animals in that they are called upon to furnish an increased output of offspring, eggs, milk, fat and muscular tissue and wool. Animals must not only maintain health but must increase their efficiency. It must use cheaper grades of feed in place of the feeds and food now used directly as human food. This increased pressure upon the animal must be closely studied. The pathologist must determine to what extent animals may be pushed to yield energy before internal equilibrium is upset and diseases begin. He must watch changes in food, whether they contain harmful poisonous substances or not, and whether or not they are sufficiently nutritious. "An ounce of prevention is better than a pound of cure," according to scientists, and research work directs itself towards this point. Large, destructive forces have small beginnings and therefore it is only in the beginning that we can stop them. The object of research work is to get as close as possible to the beginning of those natural phenomena we wish to oppose or destroy.

Quack medicine is dangerous because of the cocksureness manifested in the treatment of certain difficult, infectious diseases. Commercialism moves faster than science and applies facts yet to be born. Departments of animal pathology will aid in protecting against high-sounding products, vaccines and serums and the only way to meet the situation is not to employ any products not tried and recommended by authorized institutions. The state should not permit science to lag so far behind that it

EASTERN TRIP FOR WINNER

NEW YORK TRIP TO SUCCESSFUL CONTESTANT.

ORGANIZATIONS COMPETE

CAMPAIGN STARTS WITH BANG TUESDAY MORNING AT EIGHT.

Five Thousand Season Tickets is Pledge of Backers of the Drive.

Buy your season football tickets Tuesday. The 1920 football sales campaign will start with a bang Tuesday morning at eight o'clock and a supreme effort will be made to tag every student on the campus. Keen competition already exists among the various organizations, which have pledged themselves to boost the campaign over the five thousand mark.

The athletic department has offered a round trip ticket to the eastern games, or the equivalent in cash, to the organization or individual that sells the largest number of tickets. Each campaigner may secure his tickets at eight o'clock at the Student Activities office. No tickets will be issued previous to this time—this giving everybody an equal chance to win the prize.

A record will be kept of every student purchasing a ticket, in order that students will know the organizations which are supporting student activities. A list of 100 per cent organizations and fraternities will be announced at the end of the campaign. Two organizations have pledged 100 per cent at this early date and many more are nearing the goal.

The price of these tickets has been set at five dollars, which is within the reach of every local Husker. By purchasing one of these tickets, each student saves seven dollars. The price of single admissions for this year's season has been set at two dollars and of course this does not entitle you to the best tickets which are to go to the season ticket purchasers.

The Athletic Department has decided to give students the preference over the alumni and public in reservations for all football games. Cornhusker students—football games present to you the one opportunity of the year for the entire student body to pull together.

COMMERCIAL CLUB HAS FIRST MEETING

BIG GET-TOGETHER SMOKER PLANNED FOR SEPTEMBER 30.

The University Commercial Club held its first meeting Thursday, September 23, in the Social Science Building.

The meeting was called for the purpose of nominating officers for the coming year. The nominations were as follows:

President—McLellan, Darlington, Latowsky.
Vice-President—Eastwood, Herrick.
Treasurer—Hedge, Gillette, Mauck.
Secretary—Spangler, Estes, McMillan.

The election of officers will be held Thursday, September 30.

Plans were laid for the annual smoker, which will be held next week.

All students registered in the College of Business Administration are cordially invited to become a member of the Club.

LEFFLER IS ELECTED TO LINCOLN SCHOOLS

M. C. Leffler, sales manager of the University Publishing Company, has been unanimously elected superintendent of the Lincoln city schools, but has not yet accepted. He was formerly principal of the Peru Normal training high school. In 1918 M. C. Leffler was the assistant principal of the Lincoln High School. He was assistant superintendent of the Lincoln city schools last year until he resigned in the spring to accept his position of sales manager.

Miss Julia Reusch, a former student of the University, is acting as assistant to Miss Amanda H. Heppner, Dean of Women, during the absence of Miss Marjorie Selleck, who is spending her vacation in Massachusetts with her mother.
