"But, Bertha, how did you make the acquaintance of your second husband?"

"It was quite romantic. I was out walking with my first, when my second came along in an automobile and ran him down. That was the beginning of our friendship."—Bartlesville (Okla.) Enterprise.

"Do you quarrel with your husband?"

"Why, of course! How else do you suppose I ever got all my lovely jewelry?"—Pittsburg (Pa.) Dispatch.

A Trenton, N. J., woman had to move the other day because her dead husband's spirit fumbled the latch every night. Most husbands do that earlier in their careers.—Washington Post.

SAYS HIGH GRADUATES SHOULD BECOME VOTERS

BERKELEY, Cal.—All the high school graduates, regardless of ages should be allowed to vote in the national, state and municipal election, according to Horace M. Rebok, of Santa Monica, who addressed the annual meeting of the California high school teachers' association in session here.

Rebok argued that education rather than age should determine the right of the citizen to vote. He maintained that any high school graduate was far better fitted to cast a ballot than many foreigners admitted to citizenship.

HIGH SCHOOLS RECEIVE CORNHUSKER SONG BOOK

Four hundred Nebraska high schools will receive copies of the second edition of the University of Nebraska song book, mailing of which is being made this week. The book was published late in May and has aroused much favorable comment about the university.

The books are being sent to the high schools as an advertising medium. It is hoped that high school students will learn to sing Nebraska pep songs and so become interested in the university. Fourteen Nebraska fraternities have their songs printed in the second edition.

PUSH BUTTONS FOR PIGS

Robert Gallagher, who has a hog farm near Maryville, Mo., will call his hogs to their meals by means of a great electrically operated bell. According to the Maryville Tribune, the farm is known as "Electron Farm", and is electrically operated, from the threshing machine to safety razor and paring knife. Mr. Gallagher hatches chickens, freezes ice cream, runs his washing machine and burglar alarm, his cooking range and razor by electricity. All farm buildings are electrically lighted. Electric light in the chicken house adds 25 per cent to egg production. When he has installed his electric dinner bell for the hogs, Mr. Gallagher will put in a radio outfit and will have probably the most thoroly electrified farm in the world.
