LINCOLN'S STADIUM SUBSCRIPTION EXCEEDS $150,000 QUOTA

LINCOLN QUOTA FOR STADIUM IS OVERSUBSCRIBED

Citizens and Business Houses of City Add Over $150,000 to Stadium Fund

$10,000 EXCESS PREDICTED

Omaha Campaign to Finish Soon. Alumni Association Now Has $300,000 In Pledges

Over $150,000 was added to the stadium fund Saturday evening when Lincoln business men and residents oversubscribed their quota for funds for Nebraska's Memorial Stadium. A flood of small subscriptions and substantial additions to pledges already made, featured the last day of the campaign, which has been conducted this week under the direction of the Chamber of Commerce.

The quota was $150,000 and it was estimated that over $155,000 was pledged Saturday night with an additional $5,000 or more sure to be in by Monday evening. R. E. Campbell, chairman of the general committee said that a full day's work was left to do before any exact announcement could be made of the total subscriptions.

The last day of the drive went across with a rush similar to the final day in the student drive. Voluntary subscriptions helped materially to push the amount across the goal line and to break the arms of the huge clock in front of the Chamber of Commerce, which has kept the record of each day's subscription this week.

The Lincoln campaign was the third of the stadium drives to be conducted and the third to go "over the top" by a big margin. Over three hundred thousand dollars toward the ultimate goal of $450,000 is now in the hands of the alumni association in the form of pledges.

A campaign in Omaha among the business men and students there will be over within a short time and results will be known early this week. The rest of the fund is being subscribed by the alumni in Nebraska and in other states.

Mr. Campbell, chairman of the Lincoln stadium drive stated Saturday evening, after it was known that the drive had gone across, that the people of Lincoln realize now more than ever all that the University means to the city and they are willing to do their share and more to make the stadium a reality.

NEXT ALL-UNI PARTY IS SATURDAY NIGHT

Ames Team and Visitors Will be Honor Guests—Dancing All Evening

With the Ames football players and visitors as honor guests, the fourth All-University party of the year will be held in the Armory next Saturday evening at 8:30.

The party next Saturday will not be featured by games, but will be almost exclusively for the school dancers. The committee feels that the games should be eliminated for this one party and a complete evening of dancing with a possible short five-minute feature entertainment will constitute the evening's program.

Masks will be furnished for the early evening to all the merry-makers. The masquerade will not last for long, however, and the students will unmask shortly after 9:30.

An invitation to all Ames students to attend the Saturday evening dance has already been extended. Arrangements have been made whereby all of the Iowa State visitors will be admitted to the dance free of charge and a large crowd of the Ames guests are expected. The Ames school is planning a special to be run to Lincoln for the game and should the special be arranged, the number of Iowa State visitors will be large.

NEBRASKA HARRIERS WIN FROM FARMERS

Captain Bowman, Haskell and Gardner Tie for Second Place in Run

Nebraska's cross-country team won its first victory since 1920 when they defeated the Kansas Aggie distance runners by the score of 29 to 26 in a dual meet over the Belmont course Saturday afternoon. Captain Henre of the Aggies, Missouri Valley ex-country champion, was the first man to finish. The finish was on Nebraska field, during the football game with the Jayhawk Farmers grid team.

Captain Bowman, Haskell and Gardner, running arm in arm, tied for second place. These three runners were close on the heels of Henre. Farmer runners took third, fourth, and fifth places, while three Cornhusker runners, Hyde, Higgins and Hartman finished before the last Aggie harrier. The Aggie meet was the last of the season for the Huskers, though a number of the Scarlet and Cream runners are expected to compete in the Omaha and Lincoln Thanksgiving Y. M. C. A. runs.

Wampus Cats and Corncocks Furnish Entertainment for Crowd at Game

Anyone who could have attended one of the gladiatorial contests in Rome or Athens and then watched the Kansas Aggie-Nebraska game would have declared that the pomp and ceremony between halves surpassed all the novelty that Nero was ever able to bring before his fellow citizens. Never before has a follower of the Nebraska team witnessed a bigger jubilee, a more glorious celebration, a greater exhibition of the spirit that makes football games more than football games.

The well-meant taunts, the good sportsmanship, all went to strengthen the foundation upon which athletic contests are built. In keeping with Dads' Day the Corncocks, Nebraska's pep organization, escorted Jack Best around the field amidst the cheering of every spectator in the stands. The Grand Old Man nodded in approval of the compliments. Each Corncock held a balloon in his hand and at the signal of the Chief Cob, every one released his balloon allowing it to soar skyward, waving the Scarlet and Cream at the huge mass of spectators below.

The Kansas Aggie pep organization marched around the field flashing

NEBRASKA "DADS" WERE GUESTS OF SONS YESTERDAY

Initial "Dads' Day" Brings Large Crowd of Fathers to Lincoln for Luncheon

FINE PROGRAM PRESENTED

Fathers and Sons Attend Game in Bcdy Following Entertainment in Armory

More than a thousand Nebraska Dads and sons took possession of the campus yesterday and celebrated Nebraska's first annual Dads' Day. At noon, the dads gathered at a cafeteria luncheon in the Armory, where speeches by Chancellor Avery, Mayor Zehring, Coach Dawson and Captain Hartley of the football team, made up the program. Following the luncheon, the dads and their sons attended the Nebraska-Kansas Aggie game on the athletic field, where a special section was reserved for them.

Chauncey Nelson, president of the innocents, who introduced the speakers at the luncheon, announced that the City of Lincoln and oversubscribed its quota for the stadium fund.

Mayor Zehring declared that he had been sure that the city of Lincoln would raise the amount.

"I was sure of this," he said, "because I knew that the city of Lincoln is made up of the right kind of people. The city not only receives a great financial benefit from the University," the mayor continued, "but it also receives a splendid supply of fine manhood and womanhood."

Mayor Zehring also declared that fellowship between father and son should be promoted. He pointed out that the father and son movement was doing a great work, because the fellowship it developed caused boys to grow into better men.

"I am glad to welcome you to an institution that belongs to you," said Chancellor Avery in welcoming the Dads to the University. The Chancellor also stated that he hoped that Dad's Day would become a tradition, because he believed that it was an excellent idea.

"The University should be a family affair," declared Coach Dawson. He said that if the University were to be a success every person in Nebraska must have some interest in it. The coach also invited the Dads to give him suggestions or criticisms regarding the operation of the athletic department.

"The school is starting one of the finest traditions that has ever been instituted," said Harold Hartley, football captain, speaking of Dads' Day. He also assured the Dads that the team would fight for them in the game.

Two orchestras, the "Seranadors" and the "Ragadors" furnished music for the luncheon. A three-round box (Continued on Page 4.)

taunts at the Husker stands. They were greeted with cheers from the admirers of their spirit. One of the banners carried the quotation "The Wonder Team," while another was meant to throw a scare into the Husker followers. The Aggie men were dressed in Purple and White, the college colors, and wore headgear to assure everyone that their name was "Wildcats."

Before the game the invaders marched down the principal streets of the city and waved banners in defiance at the bystanders. After their parade they were entertained by the K. S. C. A. Alumni Association of Lincoln. The toasts between courses and after the luncheon followed:

- "Whipping the Cornhusker," J. W. Scarsion.
- "A Blanket of Snow," Prof. H. W. Davis of K. S. A. C.
- "Hitting the Cornhuskers' Bullseye," Mike Ahsarn, director of athletics at K. S. A. C.
- "The Alumni Association," Cley Weaver, president Kansas alumni of K. S. A. C.
- "Blessings on the Gang," Dr. W. M. Jardine, president K. S. A. C.

Today is Universal Day of Prayer Over All Western States

A universal day of prayer will be observed this morning at 8 o'clock by the Y. W. and Y. M. C. A. at the Methodist Emmanuel church. A special prayer service which will be used through the western states will be offered. The music for the service will be given by the vesper choir of the Y. W. C. A.

The cabinets, staffs and freshman groups of both organizations will be present. The size of the church makes it impossible to invite outsiders.

The service is a preparation for affiliation Sunday, November 26, which is observed by all Lincoln churches. Students are invited to recognize churches of their own choosing as their church homes while in the city, in no way affecting their home membership, according to the affiliation plan. Student committees from the churches will get in touch with all new students during the week.

The universal day of prayer comes as a culmination of the world week of prayer conducted by the Y. W. C. A. Having remembered individual countries during the week, students are now asked to offer prayers for their fellow students in the world at large.

STUDENTS OF "BIZAD" COLLEGE HAVE BIG DAY

Celebration Starts With Parade and Winds Up With Victory Over Ag Team

From early morning till late night the students of the College of Business administration celebrated on Friday. Starting "their" day with a big parade in the morning, the "Bizads" conducted a brilliant celebration.

Twelve Lincoln business houses formed a nucleus about which the morning parade was organized. The students marched two abreast and the long line of "Bizads" was interspersed with the business floats. Forming by Social Science building, the parade followed down Twelfth street to P, down P to Tenth, on Tenth to O, and out O to Seventeenth and Antelope Park. During the entire parade, the "Bizads" announced their coming by blowing long and furiously upon horns and whistles supplied them by the committee.

Reaching the park shortly after 10 o'clock, the merry-makers fell immediately into the task of enjoying themselves until meal time. Boxing matches, wrestling contests, inter-class tug-of-wars, baseball games, and other amusements kept the "Bizads" merry.

The faculty especially enjoyed itself. A tag-of-war arranged between faculty men and the "Bizad" girls was the object of much amusement when besides trying to pull all of the girls the teachers also attempted to uproot a tree. Some "Bizad" jokers had anchored the one end of the rope to a stout tree.

Appetites were keen long before Billy, the lunchman, arrived on the scene with the noon lunch. Finally, however, the eats arrived and a long line of hungry "Bizads" filed past the lunch stands. The line extended for fully a block, and was held so tight that transients were not allowed to pass back and forth.

A huge bonfire furnished the setting about which the hungry students and faculty members ate. An eight-piece orchestra furnished occasional music for the repast, and some ten men who were lucky enough to grab off one of the few girls enjoyed a little public dance.

Immediately following the meal, a group of students started soliciting subscriptions for "The Bizad," the new monthly publication for the college.

Captain Dean Le Rossignol's preliminary prediction that the seniors would have a tough battle to carry off the honors in the faculty versus seniors baseball game was carried out when the game was played following the lunch. The seniors won, but only after a hard battle, the final score being (Continued on Page Four).

MILITARY CARNIVAL FEATURES WILD WEST

Dancing Girls, Cowpunchers, and Gambling Reconstructs the West of '49

"Silver Creek Bar" with its pretty dancing girls dominated the second annual military carnival Saturday evening in the Armory. Tall, soft felt hats, chaps, neckerchiefs, cartridge belts and six shooters, adorned members of Scabbard and Blade, who directed affairs.

A faro game by Senor Doberty, ball and ten-pin by Miller, over and under—dice game—by Ryons, furnished the lucky with Klondike currency. The candy wheel supplied sweets and the bar issued port wine and sixty-four per cent beer. About 500 persons came to the "saloon." The committee anticipated a large crowd from the fact that about 200 advance sale tickets were snapped up.

As gypsy and Spanish dancers, as cowgirls and habitues of the dance hall, members of the local Alpha Phi chapter created a flurry of excitement because of their grace and clever acting. Squawkers, serpentine caps, horns and confetti by the barrel met an eager demand.

A number of dads were present to finish in fine style, "Dad's Day" with their sons. Sergeant Lewis came in full wild west regalia. Such old timers as Grant Lantz and Joe Noh, reiterated that the balmy days of '49 were vividly recalled to their minds by the antics of desperadoes who frightened timid co-eds with a vicious shooting affair.

Dancing began about 8 o'clock and the party continued until 11:30 to Northwall's music.

Reverend Slocum Is Speaker at Meeting Of Industrial Club

The railway strike is not yet ended according to Rev. J. B. Slocumb, pastor of the Methodist church at Havlock. Mr. Slocumb spoke at the dinner arranged by the Industrial Service committee of the University at the Grand hotel, Friday noon. The subject to be presented by the committee next Friday was announced as "History of Labor" by M. M. Adams.

Because it is impossible to train an inexperienced man as a mechanic in three or four months to take the place of a man who has been in the trade for more than four years, Mr. Slocumb believes that the strike will have to be settled on a new basis. Mr. Slocumb has been very active in the cause of the laboring man. Since July 1 he has made 183 speeches upon the labor question.

HUSKERS DOWN KANSAS AGGIES IN GOOD GAME

Entire Nebraska Backfield Displays Splendid Offensive Against Jayhawkers

CLINCH VALLEY PENNANT

Aerial Attack of Aggies Best Seen on Nebraska Field in Number of Years

Nebraska practically cinched the Missouri Valley Grid championship yesterday when the Cornhusker team came out of the battle with the Kansas Aggies on the long end of a 21 to 0 score. The Aggies put up a game fight, but the superior weight of the Huskers and the breaks of the game favored the Huskers. Features of the contest were the line plunging of the Huskers, and the uncanny for ward passing of the Aggies, who completed more than twenty-five passes.

Nebraska started the fray with practically the whole second team in the lineup, but the Farmers smashed and passed their way down to the Husker 20-yard line, and Dawson immediately began sending in the regulars. Shortly before the end of the first quarter, Nebraska got possession of the ball, and on the first play Noble broke through the line for forty yards. The Husker steamroller jumped into motion during the second quarter, and before the first half was over, Lewellen went over for a touch down, following a series of line plunges by Dewitz, Hartley and Lewellen.

Nebraska scored her second touch down in the third quarter when Lewellen intercepted a pass and ran 20 yards to a touchdown. Hartley smashed through for the third touch down early in the fourth period.

For the Nebraska eleven, Captain Hartley, Lewellen and Noble starred, while Russell, taking Preston's place at quarter, piloted the team in a creditable fashion, besides making a wonderful drop-kick from the forty-yard line in the first period, which hit the goal-post. Stars on the Aggie team were Stark, left half, Captain Hahn, center, and Webber, left end.

The forward passing of the Jayhawk Farmers was the best ever seen here, the Kansas completing pass after pass for consistent gains. The Farmer crew was exceptionally well-coached, and the statistics on the game slightly favored the Ags, as they made more yardage than the Cornhuskers.

First Quarter. Captain Hartley of Nebraska won the toss and chose the east goal. Wenke kicked off forty yards and Brantley returned four yards to the Aggie 24-yard line. The Aggies then fumbled on the first play and Nebraska recovered the ball, but the Cornhuskers were offside and were penalized five yards. The Aggies retained the ball.

On the first play Brantley ran Nebraska's end for nine yards. The ball was called back and another penalty of five yards inflicted on Nebraska for offside.

Clements hit the line for six yards. Brantley fumbled and was thrown for an 8-yard loss.

Brantley threw a forward pass to Munn that was good for thirteen yards. Clements drove over Nebraska's left tackle for two yards. Clements followed it with another plunge that netted five yards. Clements followed it with a drive through center that added four yards and a first down. The ball is in midfield.

Clements again carried the ball smashing through the Nebraska line for five yards. A forward pass Clements to Stark was good for seven yards and a first down.

Stark fumbled. Nebraska touched the ball and the Aggies recovered the ball on Nebraska's 28-yard line. A forward pass Stark to Munn was incomplete.

Another forward pass, Stark to Weber was incomplete. Stark threw a forward pass to Brantley which was good for four yards. On the next play, Clements forward passed to Nebraska's goal line for a touchback. Nebraska scrimmaged from the 20-yard line.

On the first play Noble ran around the Aggies left end for forty-nine yards to the Aggies' 39-yard line. Munn, right tackle saved a touch-down. Noble squirmed through for three yards. R. Dewitz hit the line for two yards. On off tackle drive Noble gained two yards. Russell tried a drop kick from the 40-yard (Continued on Page 3)
