END POSITIONS ARE WORRYING COACH DAWSON

Forwards Are Light But Make Good Showing; Freshman-Varsity Scrimmage Scheduled for Today.

BACKFIELD AND LINE ROUNDING INTO SHAPE

"Illinois Never Had Better Prospects for Wonderful Football Team," Says Zuppke; Illini Line Beefy.

"Our backfield is beginning to show the stuff, and our line is coming along fairly well. The end positions are causing us the worry," said Head Coach Dawson Tuesday afternoon.

With Captain Lewellen, Herb and Rufus Dewitz, Dave Noble, Ced Hartman, Al Bloodgood, Locke, Gately, Randolph and Ballah the backfield question is pretty well settled for the present. Although this group of backfield ball luggers is not in mid-season form, they are showing signs of real football ability. With Berquist, McGlasson, Bassett, Weir, Westopoul, Rorby, Ogden, Hendrickson, Pososil, and a great many others who deserve mention, the line puzzle is partly solved. This group, many of whom have seen little actual battling on the field of play against strong teams, and who are light in comparison with the beam busters that were on the squad last year, showed up well against the freshman squad in the Monday scrimmage. At the wing stations the coach is not sure who will be used to start the first game. Choppy Rhodes handled himself as a veteran in the Monday encounter by stopping many plays that were hardly started. Hubka's work on the opposite wing was noticeable. His handling of forward passes gave the varsity some big gains. Other good candidates for wing positions are Doug Meyers, who has been laid up with a "game" knee but who reported for a workout Tuesday, Volz, McAllister, Cameron, Collins, Robertson.

Another freshman-varsity scrimmage will be held on the stadium field today. No scrimmage was held Tuesday, fundamentals being practiced all afternoon.

With the Cornhusker-Illini game but a little over a week off the Cornhuskers are buckling down to harder practice every day. Conflicting reports are coming in daily from the opposing camp as to the outlook for the game. But we are forced to believe that Coach Zuppke is rather optimistic. He says "Illinois never had better prospects for a wonderful football team than she has right now, and our main idea is to sacrifice for speed. Our beef on the line is above the average and it will be put to test when the Cornhuskers invade here October 6."

FRESHMEN GRIDSTERS PREPARE FOR VARSITY

Yearlings Battle Among Themselves; Most of Candidates Get Into Action.

The freshmen pigskin chasers indulged in a hard scrimmage among themselves yesterday. Freshman Coach Farley Young had two teams of about equal strength opposing each other. Substitutes were made freely as the battle progressed, and almost every man that turned out for practice was given a chance to display his wares. No definite selection of a first team was made by Coach Young. The men are being changed about daily from one team to the other and a position on one squad is just about as good as on the other.

George Cogan, center, bruised and cut his knee on some glass during the scrimmage.

Four frames for dummies have been erected on the freshman field for dummy-tackling practice which will start soon.

The yearlings are scheduled to scrimmage the varsity this afternoon for the second time.

COUNCIL APPROVES FRESHMAN MEETING

Sales Campaigns of Cornhusker Countryman and University Players Authorized.

The Student Council adopted a resolution supporting the plan for joint convocation of freshman men and women and allowed two more sales campaigns at a special meeting Monday afternoon in Social Science 107. The resolution was as follows:

Whereas, During the year 1922-23 there was voiced in the Student Council the sentiment of the student body in favor of a general convocation of freshmen men and women at the beginning of the year as a supplement to a separate meeting for men and one for the women, and

Whereas, After a conference with the representatives of the two senior societies the suggestion of the council was adopted and a general convocation of freshmen men and women scheduled for Thursday morning by the two societies,

Be It Resolved, That the Student Council, in regular session as representatives of the student body at large, thank the Mortarboard and the Innocent societies for their cooperation in adopting the new convocation plan suggested by the student body and announce that the Council lends its hearty support toward the success of the meeting.

Permit was given the Cornhusker Countryman staff to stage a drive at a convocation to be held on the College of Agriculture campus October 4. Because the drive was not to be on the city campus, the Council allowed this drive in the calendar that had been considered closed.

Tickets for the University Players' productions for this session will be sold October 1, 2 and 3. This sale will not be made by campus solicitation. A representative of the players stated that there would be no direct requests on the campus to find purchasers for the season tickets.
