

Cross-Country Team Wins And Loses Two Dual Meets

Has Successful Season After Placing Fifth In Valley Contest; Coach Schulte Develops Squad with Only Two Lettermen Reporting from Last Year

BEAT MISSOURI 24-31; LOSE TO KANSAS 16-39

By Munro Kezer
With but two lettermen from last year's cross-country team and one from the team of two years ago, Coach Henry F. Schulte developed a team this year which broke even in its dual meet schedule, winning two and losing two, and which placed fifth in the Valley meet.

Captain Hays and Reller, lettermen from last year were back, and Dickson, letterman from two years ago, returned to school. Besides these, as a foundation upon which to build a team, Coach Schulte had Glenn Johnson, Varsity distance man from last spring, McCartney, substitute from last year's cross-country team, and several members of last year's freshman track and cross-country squads.

The team was greener than usual but developed well throughout the season. Dickson found the going hard after a year's absence from the game and didn't succeed in getting back into good enough shape to make the team. The team was also handicapped through the bulk of the season by the scholastic ineligibility of Glenn Johnson. He succeeded in raising his ineligibility just before the Valley meet in which he was the first Nebraskan to finish.

In the first tryouts held September 24, Captain Hays won, running in mid-season form. Johnson finished a good second. Sprague, a sophomore who was unknown by the coaches before the meet, finished third. Chadderderon, from last year's freshman squad, McCartney, Dickson, Cummings, and Diedrichs finished in the order named.

Nebraska opened her season against Missouri in a dual meet here between halves of the Nebraska-Missouri football game. Steele of Missouri nosed out Captain Hays for first place but Chadderderon, Reller, and Sprague finished third, fourth, and fifth, giving Nebraska the meet by a 24 to 31 score.

Nebraska lost to Kansas University on their course, famed for its bad hills, on October 23, by a score of 16 to 39. Captain Hays almost succeeded in catching the trio of Kansas men who tied for second.

The next meet was the postponed meet with Drake here on October 30, which the Husker barriers won 15 to 45, the worst possible defeat that can be administered in a dual cross-country meet. All six Huskers finished ahead of the first Drake man. It was in this meet that Captain Hays gave up a chance to set a new Varsity record for the course when it was easily within his grasp in order to let McCartney win the race and his first letter after four years of conscientious work.

Kansas Aggies took the Huskers into camp 24 to 31 between halves of the Nebraska-Kaggie football game in the final dual meet of the season. The meet was run in a bad rain but the Kaggie leaders set fine time. Chadderderon, finishing third, was the first Nebraskan to finish. Captain Hays was fifth.

The season closed with the Valley meet at Norman, Oklahoma, November 20, under the auspices of the University of Oklahoma. Johnson, eligible for the first time, led the Nebraskans to the tape finishing eight-

Concession Rights of Stadium Go To Women's Athletic Association

By Lucille Bauer
To be able to buy the concession rights of the Nebraska Stadium is to be fortunate. Although outsiders have been after the contract for the last five years the Athletic Board has seen fit to award it to the Women's Athletic Association. It is generally conceded to be the largest concession right in Lincoln, outstripping exceedingly that of the Western League ball park. Before the days of the present Stadium any one with the price of a football ticket and something to sell might do so with no interference. Small boys took advantage of this and made what pocket money they could. The Women's Athletic Association uses it now as a means for raising funds for equipment.

After a three-year contract was signed in 1922 the W. A. A. Executive Board appointed a concession manager to handle the business details. Hazel Olds, concession manager, has had the entire responsibility of buying and retailing about $2,000 worth of candy and supplies during the football season. How many O'Henry's is the crowd going to eat? How many less will they buy if Nebraska is winning or if the weather is bad? The sales in the student section are from 50 to 100 percent higher than those in the west Stadium, according to the weather. Students buy regardless of the weather. Other spectators seem to be loath to bring their hands out of their pockets in a rain such as we experienced during the Kansas game. If the game is particularly exciting, such as the Missouri game was this year, the spectators in the west Stadium seem disinclined to take time to eat.

No Apple Sale
Two years ago the Athletic Board prohibited the sale of apples in the stands because it was evident that many were buying apples for the primitive delight of throwing the cores, using human targets. The theory was that if anyone wanted an apple badly enough to go down stairs after it, he would be more careful of the disposal of the core. Cigarettes, cigars and gum are not sold, in accordance with the principles of the association.

W. A. A. Executive Board members preside over the checking tables in the hall, balance each sales account, and count, sort and pack the candy after the game. All money must be accounted for and all bills paid through the Student Activities office.

State Is Free From Bonded Debt While Local Taxes Are Becoming a Burden

Local governments, not the state governments, are the source of the burden from debt and taxation in Nebraska, declared L. E. Aylsworth, professor of political science, in an address over the University of Nebraska radio.
"The outstanding fact about the public debt of Nebraska," Professor Aylsworth said, "is that we have not a single dollar of bonded state indebtedness. In recent years, we have been spending millions on permanent improvements, but without going into debt for them as many other states have. Our magnificent new capitol building, our hundreds of miles of graded and graveled state highways, our new university, normal school, and other institutional buildings, are all being paid for as the work goes on, year by year, out of state taxes and other revenue without issuing bonds and so mortgaging the future."
"States bordering on ours have in recent years accumulated a bonded debt varying from $3,000,000 in Wyoming to $62,000,000 in South Dakota."
"Why the different in Nebraska? Largely, no doubt, because of the provision of our constitution that the state should never contract debts in excess of $100,000 except for the purpose of repelling invasion, suppressing insurrection, or defending the state in war."
The subdivisions of the state, the counties, school districts, cities, etc., have on the contrary a fairly heavy bonded indebtedness that has been steadily increasing in recent years in spite of the increase in local taxes. In June 1922, the total of this local bonded debt was $73,760,187; in June 1924, $95,900,934; while in June 1926, it has grown to $112,464,635 or practically $90 per capita for every man, woman, and child in Nebraska.

Mammoth Tooth Sent To Nebraska Museum

The American Museum has just sent the Museum of the University of Nebraska a mammoth tooth, called Hespero Pithecus Cooki. The last name comes from the fact that the original was found by Harold Cook, a Nebraska man. This specimen is now labeled and numbered and will be added to the anthropological exhibit on the Fourth floor of the Museum.
