

It's Homecoming, boys and girls, and you know what that means. The grads will all be back to their old Husker home. The Jayhawks are coming too, but they won't last long. We can't be beat and we won't be beat. We're all going out for the game and for that house decorating business too. See George Bros. about your decorations, they're the authorities on that subject. They can show you the smoothest stuff you ever saw, and reasonably priced to keep you within the limit set. Let them help you plan the decorations for your house. Don't forget, see George's, next to the Lincoln Theater, on "N" Street. —Adv.

KANSAS SQUAD ARRIVES TODAY

Last night on stadium sod Coach Ernest Bearg sent his pigskin luggers through the final scrimmage workout before the Kansas game. The second eleven went through a strenuous scrimmage with the yearling and drilled on the passing and running attack. The Husker football mentor is expecting the Kansas eleven to spring a surprise on his Husker eleven.

Kansas has not been able to beat Nebraska for eleven years and the team down on the Kaw is pointing for the Husker battle this week. Coach Cappon has rearranged his backfield and has put his Blue team through a week of secret practice on the Kansas field. The gates to the Kansas stadium were locked from Monday and Cappon proceeded on a week of intensive training for the team at Lincoln.

Decision in Game
Nebraska and Kansas are tied for second place in the valley and the battle Saturday alone will decide who goes into second place. The winner of the tilt will still have a good chance at finishing on top of the heap when the season is over. The showing the Jayhawk eleven made against Drake last Saturday sent the Kansas stock up in football circles and critics are predicting there will be plenty of fight and that Kansas will give Nebraska plenty of stiff opposition.

The varsity eleven went through a light workout last night as the second team battled the freshmen team. Bearg drilled his ball luggers on the passing and punting game and Coach "Bunny" Oakes polished off the defensive work of the Scarlet wall.

Bill Bronson will be back in the pilot position of the Husker team when the game opens Saturday. Bronson turned in an excellent game last week and is expected to account for the running of the Scarlet eleven against Kansas. Bronson carries the ball, passes and blocks and is a valuable man in the Cornhusker backfield.

Presnell and Howell will open the game at the halves and Oehrich at the fullback position. "Dutch" Witte, sophomore half was injured in Wednesday night's practice and will not get into the game tomorrow. Coach Bearg says he will not use Witte unless he is in perfect condition and from the limp the flashy half is carrying around he will not see action against the Jayhawks. Clair Sloan will fill Witte's place at the reserve halfback position. Sloan is developing to be the best punter in the Bearg camp and will probably relieve Howell or Presnell in the Kansas game in case a substitution is needed.
