Argentine dance: The Tango, by Miss X and Mr. Jose A. Cuneo.
Although this is the first time that such a program has been put on, the Romance language department hopes to have a similar performance once every semester from now on. In future years there will be not only a Spanish night but also a French night.

Cornhusker Staff Is Entertained at Dinner

G. N. Skoglund of the Hawk Studio; Mr. Alva Townsend of the Townsend Studio; and Mr. J. J. Shear of the Bureau of Engraving, Minneapolis, Minnesota.
Minneapolis Engraver Talks
Mr. Shear, giving the principal address, used "enthusiasm" for the keynote of his talk. He sketched the successes made by past students who have taken active parts in publishing different college annuals and pointed out the vast amount of experience to be gained by being in contact with the actual practice afforded by editing and managing these books. He also presented bits of history concerning Nebraska's yearbooks of the past.
To climax the evening, 1928 Cornhuskers bound in white and gold were presented to staff members in appreciation for their cooperation extended to the issuing of this year's annual.

Youth Must Have Love!

If youth but knew; if age but could. And so the young Princess turns from her elderly husband to fall, a passionate and helpless creature, into the trembling arms of her husband's brother.
Two fallen leaves drifting in the wind, torn from the shelter and safety of a sturdy home; facing inevitable discovery with the consciousness that no matter what the penalty shall be—"Youth Must Have Love."
There, in a line or two, you have the basic motive of D. W. Griffith's newest, finest and most beautiful achievement.

Representative Nebraskans, something new for the Nebraska annual. Students hurrying to lunch at the noon hour loafed along the way, grabbing every minute to look at the Cornhusker. In some instances they were even reported as being late for the noon meal. Cars in front of fraternity and sorority houses were loaded with members looking over the contents of the 1928 book.
Words from the business staff states that books may still be secured at the office. For the sum of five dollars, students may get their "memories" all tied up in a beautiful cover. And everyone says it is worth it.

Faculty Men View Parking

ing to the difficulty some people have in getting out when parked parallel there is more noise and confusion. He maintains, however, that the parking on Twelfth street deserves more attention. He is of the opinion that no cars should be parked there at all because the noise they make is very disturbing during class periods.

Virtue Aims Views
G. O. Virtue, chairman of the department of economics, when asked his opinion on the subject said, "Parallel parking on R street makes traffic more rapid, but I really believe it is better for the general public than diagonal parking and any device which allows more space for travel is desirable."

"I think however, that it would be better to park diagonally on Twelfth street as that would save room. We can't be petty and think only of ourselves, and so, looking at the matter from the point of view of the public, I think parallel parking is to be preferred."

"From the standpoint of the automobile driver," commented the Reverend F. W. Leavitt, Congregational university pastor, "I heartily disapprove of parallel parking. It is very hard to park and I don't see that it is any safer. There were very few unavoidable accidents when we had diagonal parking."
"It is, moreover, impossible to accommodate as many cars and one often finds it necessary to drive quite a distance from the university to park his car. I therefore think parallel parking is useless and wasteful of space."

are distinctly Republican Pawnee in type. One ruin area is four miles southwest of Franklin and another is about the same distance northeast. Chipped flint and potsherds have been found in a cave around in the same vicinity. A complete archeological chart will be hard to make because of the overlying earth, according to Mr. Blackman. Other remains have been found near Bloomington, Red Cloud and Nelson.

ters as secretary, will take up her duties next year in co-operation with the third Varsity party chairman with whom she has been associated. She worked with Wayne Gratigny who handled the parties the first semester and with Archibald R. Eddy who replaced him on his graduation. She is vice-president of the Big Sister board, is a senior member of the Associated Women's Student board, was administration editor of this year's Cornhusker, and is a member of Tassels and Alpha Omicron Pi.
Resignation of Mary Ball from the Student Council due to the fact that she had more than the limit of activity points, was accepted by the council. The vacancy will be filled at the fall election, early next semester.

Reserve Officers Will Hold Meeting

The convention is receiving the support and cooperation of all faculty members who are reserve officers. Dr. George E. Condra, Dr. H.

H. Waite, Dr. Jiles W. Haning, Dean T. J. Thompson, Ralph Wilson, Dr. O. J. Ferguson, Dr. C. W. Ackerson are serving on committees.

Judge H. D. Landis of Seward, president of the board of regents, and Mr. Stanley Long of Cowles, a member of the board of regents, are assisting.

Judge E. B. Chappell of the municipal court, Judge Emberly of the state supreme court, Lieutenant Colonels L. W. Chase and F. A. Kidwell are Lincoln men who are actively working on the convention.

himself, were to do calisthenics. (What nomenclature!)
So then cadet— marched away from his sheltering garments and, practically naked, stood quite stiff while the elements did their darndest and an officer in blue trousers stood on a table and counted out the exercises.

Juniors Rejoice
A group of well-covered juniors, in swanky boots (which are very huge at the bottom and not at all at the top,) and with spurs on their heels and caps on their heads and yellow slickers on their backs, stood about, watching the spectacle and laughing amongst themselves.

Cadet— saw the officer in charge shiver and he saw patches of wet appear on the white-shirted shoulders and he glowed inwardly. Then he struggled back through "Flanders" mud and donned his clothing and went home.
"I congratulate you, men," said the major.
Cadet— congratulates himself, for he is an optimist at times. He thanks what gods there be that he is immune to pneumonia.

Kansas City Alumnus Will Talk to Classes

Dr. Wear, Medical Director of Life Insurance Company, Plans Visit To University Friday

Dr. J. W. Wear of Kansas City, an alumnus of the university plans to visit the campus Friday. Dr. Wear, who worked his way through college at both Lincoln and Omaha selling life insurance, is now medical director for the National Fidelity Life Insurance company of Kansas City.

At 10 o'clock he will speak before Mr. Spangler's life insurance class in Social Sciences 208. At a o'clock he will talk on "Life Insurance as a Life Work" in Social Sciences 305. Both meetings are open to the public. Seniors who wish to consult him in regard to immediate opportunities in the life insurance field may find him in Mr. Bullock's office, Social Science 306.
