SWIMMERS OF FAIR SEX WILL SHOW ABILITY

Second Intramural Tourney To Consist of Variety of Water Events.

MEET BILLED TONIGHT

Many Unusual Feats Listed; Diving, Umbrella and Feet Tied Races.

The second intramural swimming meet for Nebraska coeds will be held at 4:30 o'clock this evening at the Capitol Beach pool. Any university woman is eligible to enter the meet. Admission is fifteen cents with the admittance card which intramural representatives hold. Events include everything from dog paddle races to underwater swimming, so no particular prowess in the sport is necessary. At least eighty swimmers are expected to compete.

The girls will be divided into five teams at the pool with a captain in charge of each team. Jean Bathum, swimming head, will act as starter. Jerry Lemere, Ruth Hatfield, Maxine Stokes, Lucille Kelley, and LeNette Knox are performing the duties of captains. The three judges include Miss Clara Rausch, and Miss Miriam Wagner, instructors in the physical educational department, and Josephine Orr, Betty Kelso is the record keeper. Five points are awarded to the girl entered and 15 additional points to every girl on the winning team.

Real Ability Expected. Some real ability should be displayed in the primary events such as the free style, underwater swim, backstroke, relays, side stroke, and diving. First rate diving is expected and the competition should be keen. For those who are a little bashful about their swimming ability, the umbrella, race, the feet tied race, dog paddle, and peanut race offer opportunities. The rescue race, or rope rescue, is one of the prize events of the meet. The underwater swim is being tried for the first time this year as well as the backstroke, but good material is anticipated and these events together with the diving should prove to be high spots of the meet. The dog paddle and umbrella race, however, will come in a close second.

SIG CHI NETMEN WIN FROM A.G.R. MONDAY

Former Advances to Finals; Will Play Sigma Nus Or P.A.D.'s.

Sigma Chi's tennis players won their way into the finals in interfraternity play Monday afternoon on the courts at Antelope park when they defeated Alpha Gamma Rho. Delaney and Conklin disposed of Deuser and Cole in straight sets 6-4, 6-4. Wadleigh and Houtchens required three sets to win their contest with Dowell and Janke 7-5, 3-6, 6-4.

Joy Deuser working for the A. G. R. worried the Sigma Chi team plenty with a fast serve and accurate driving. Delaney was outstanding for the victors playing heady tennis when the points counted most.

Yesterday's win establishes the Sigma Chis as the sole survivors of the first bracket in the elimination process. The Sigma Nus and Phi Alpha Deltas are to meet today in a semifinal tilt to see who fill place in the interfraternity tennis championship.

HUSKERS AND TIGERS TIE FOR THIRD PLACE

Oklahoma Sandlotters Lead Big Six Conference; Kaggies Second.

'Choppy Rhodes' Nebraska baseball team is in a tie for third place in Big Six conference standings, with five victories and five defeats. Missouri has a similar percentage, while Oklahoma heads the race with nine wins and four losses. Kansas Aggies are in second with seven games to the good and three dropped.

The Cornhuskers have but two games remaining on the schedule. Friday and Saturday they meet the team from Iowa State, playing at Landis field. The games start at 4 o'clock on Friday and at 2:30 Saturday.

No workout was held yesterday, giving the squad members a chance to rest and catch up on their studies.

BOO WILLIAMS, first string catcher, cannot be called entirely presentable just now.

He has a wonderful shiner and says that his nose is broken. The injuries resulted from a mix at the plate in the eighth inning of the Kansas Aggie game Saturday. A large personage was attempting to score. Boo was determined to foil the attempt. He had the ball and waited patiently for the runner to slide by so he could put it on him. But the runner refused to perform in the orthodox manner. He didn't slide properly. Boo says he got the runner all right, but that the runner also got him. And he looks like it.

THERE is a faint rumor afloat to the effect that the ancient custom of shaking hands is passing out. Whether the rumor is to be strengthened or weakened by some of the proceedings Saturday is a question for discussion, but it should be strengthened. There was so much hand shaking down on the stadium field for the benefit of the spectators that it became irritating to say the least. Everyone shook hands with everyone else on the slightest provocation, and sometimes without provocation.

Of course, it is all in the interest of good showmanship, but it gets tiresome, nevertheless. When Jim Bausch failed to clear the bar in the pole vault at a height which would have given him first place, Coach Schulte was standing ready to receive him as he came down and shake hands with him. That was no personal reflection on Coach Schulte. Anyone else would have done the same thing, and grasped James firmly by the hand whether he made the height or not. But it is strange and a bit pointless.

WHILE we are at this business of complaining we might as well include Hob Turner, the man who announces things at Nebraska track meets. The charge against him is on the score of hats. If you have seen the hats he wears on the field, no comment is necessary. If you haven't, comment wouldn't be fully appreciated. But something ought to be done about them.

Bill Ossian, Star Vaulter, Will Try For Place on New York Giants; Plays Independent Ball During Summer

BY STEVE HOKUF.

Bill Ossian, Nebraska's premier pole vaulter, will try out with the New York Giants, National league baseball team. Bill will leave to join the Giants at the polo grounds, New York, as soon as he has finished his school work. He will graduate this spring.

Unknown to many, Bill is quite a baseball player, playing with independent teams during the summer and devoting his time to pole vaulting during his school career.

Bill has been carrying the pole vault burden for Nebraska the last three years, and has developed into one of the finest pole vaulters Nebraska has ever had. He is one of two Nebraskans who have cleared over thirteen feet; "Cueball" Wirsig, Missouri Valley record holder, was the other.

Advanced Each Year. When Bill first entered school he took up pole vaulting. During his first year he vaulted quite a bit and cleared 11 feet 3 inches. He continued to work on this event, figuring out the finer points and always striving to beat his record. His second year he made 12 feet 6 inches. The third year in school he cleared 13 feet 1-2 inch to win the Big Six championship. This year he made 13 feet 3 1-2 inches to tie with Jim Bausch for first.

Bill is just as enthusiastic about baseball as he is about pole vaulting. If he continues to develop in baseball as he has in pole vaulting, he will be up in the big leagues for a good number of years.
