UNI PLAYERS FINISH SEASON WITH "BIRD IN HAND."

(Continued from Page 1.) graduates scored one of the hits of the season. The satire on the American jury system and the wit of one very charming woman in getting around it furnished laughs for three hilarious acts.

A revival performance of "Fashion" by Anna Car Mowatt was presented in genuine nineteenth century fashion and proved a riotous comedy.

John Drinkwater's "Bird in Hand," which refers to a tavern and not two in the bush, was the

MILESTONES

May 20, 1901.

The baseball team returned from a tour of the midwest, having encountered such teams as Notre Dame, Purdue and Northwestern, and winning nine out of ten games.

Eighty-five thousand dollars was appropriated for a new law building, which was to provide a structure 63 by 163 feet, and three stories in height exclusive of the height by the law college caused an increase of interest in the work and equipment of that part of the university.

Over 400 carloads of dirt had been removed from the state capitol since the digging started on April 27. The amount removed in any one day was 47 carloads. Two steam drags were employed in the work.

The father-son and the mother-daughter parade was one of the new events to be featured in the fifth annual Rounrup. A silver loving cup was to be awarded to the "old grad" father or mother who had the most children in the university at the time.

Missouri was mentioned as Nebraska's strongest rival in the 19th annual Missouri valley track meet. The Cornhusker half mile relay team, holder of the world's record, hoped to surpass their former mark and establish a new time for the event.

PRAIRIE SCHOONER TO ISSUE SPRING NUMBER

Issue Contains Writings of Seven Poets From Six States.

The spring number of the Prairie Schooner, to be out soon, will contain the writings of seven poets from six states. Albert E. Clements, who has contributed two poems, lives in Hudson, N. Y.

Phyllis B. Morden, of Portland, Ore., appears for the second time in this magazine with a poem entitled "Small Town." A Kansan, Billy Cooper, is also well known to the readers of the Schooner from her previous writings.

Two poems have been contributed by Rosa Zagnoni Merinoni, a well known Arkansas poet. "For a Lost Home" is a poem from the pen of Loren C. Eiseley, a resident of Lincoln and a frequent contributor.

Rowena Cheyney, writing under the pen name of Barbara Hollis, has written "Love Song." Miss Cheyney's poetry has appeared in such magazines as "Harper's," "The Forum," and "Poet Lore." Her home is in Meriden, Conn. "Bootblack in a Barber Shop" was written by Herbert Henegan of Omaha. He admits he has worked at almost every type of job from bootblack to editorial writer on a newspaper.

The spring issue also contains a number of articles, short stories and features. It is expected to be on sale at the newsstands and in the mails soon.

Movie Reviews

STATE—Little Caesar.

Little Caesar, alias "Rico," a hard boiled egg from a small town, had aspirations of being the king of gangland. His plan of getting up in the world was to shoot first and think afterward.

There is only one ending to such a racket and at this stage of the plot the police had begun to make it plenty hot for Little Caesar. The death of the crime commissioner had been spilled by some source and a complete roundup of all those connected with the killing had taken place.

Little Caesar had come up from the gutter and had lived the life of ease and luxury. Now he had lost all and had returned to the gutter. The next place that we find Rico is a cheap rooming house. By making statements in the newspaper the police were able to anger Rico and cause him to show himself in person. He had made the LINCOLN THEATER. "The Front Page." By G. D.

Most everyone thought Adolph Menjou could not act unless he had a bevy of young and pretty girls about him to show him off as a lady's man deluxe.

Pat O'Brien, as Hildy Johnson, is the victim of Burns' wishes. Hildy desires to marry a very nice young lady by the name of Peggy Grant, played by Mary Brian, and move to New York and enter the advertising "game."

COSMOPOLITAN CLUB PLANS ANNUAL FETE

Traditional 'International Night' Is Set for Friday at 8.

Known as "International Night," the annual banquet of nations, sponsored by the Cosmopolitan club of the university, will be held Friday evening at 8 o'clock in Vine Congregational church, according to Claude Gordon.

This annual banquet which is a tradition in Cosmopolitan circles is held to give students of foreign countries an opportunity to become acquainted with each other and to discuss problems which have arisen while here.

Dr. W. H. Priefer, professor of history and language, will be the principal speaker of the evening. The professor has not announced the topic of his address. In addition to the professor's talk, the program committee has arranged to have several short talks by students representing many nations.

Officers of the Cosmopolitan club were chosen at the last meeting of this organization, May 17. They are: Claude H. Gordon, Ja-
