

BIZAD NEWS DEADLINE IS SET FOR THURSDAY

Lightner Announces Meeting Of Executive Board For Tonight.

Applications for business and editorial staff positions on the Bizad News, the official publication of the college of business administration, will be received until Thursday noon of this week, according to a statement made by Keith Lightner, president of the Bizad executive board.

A meeting of the Bizad executive board has been called for tonight to discuss the publication of the Bizad News and to talk over general business matters, Lightner stated. Another meeting will be held after the applications have been received, and appointments will be made at that time.

Plans for the publication of the Bizad News were announced last Saturday by Lightner. The paper, which has been published in past years, will be reinstated under a new plan, Lightner said. The paper will be distributed free of charge to all students in the college. Advertisements will be expected to pay for the sheet.

Four Times a Year.

The News will be published four times a year. It will be a four page paper about the size of the Daily Nebraskan, according to Lightner. The Bizad executive board will supervise publication, and Professor C. O. Swayzee will be faculty advisor.

Sponsors of the publication are the Commercial club, Delta Sigma Pi and Alpha Kappa Psi, professional business administration fraternities, and Chi Phi Theta, professional commerce sorority.

The Bizad News will contain all news of interest to students in the college of business administration, Lightner stated. All applications for staff positions are to be turned in at the office of the dean, Mr. J. E. LeRossignol. Freshmen are invited to work with the staff, but they will not be eligible for staff positions until next year.

half the tale. The Cyclones, with the thrill of continued victory in their veins, are the other half. They will be looking for Nebraska next weekend.

To cop the bunting, as the Englishmen say, Nebraska must wallop two of the toughest teams it ever faced in two weeks. Both of them are pointing for the Huskers. They are working themselves into a frenzy, seeking to smash the Husker machine.

There seems to be just one course open to Nebraska—to work its team into an even greater frenzy. And the students must do this. They must play their part.

Here's a suggestion for a starter: Tell the freshman at your fraternity house or sorority house to scream, "Beat K-Aggies" when they answer the 'phone this week. And next week, make it Iowa State. Then there will be a rally this week end. The time and the place will be announced Wednesday morning.

It's up to you, you students. Smash down the barriers which hold student spirit in abeyance. Talk it up among yourselves. And be sure to rally round this week end to show the Cornhuskers how you feel. Let's put an inspired ball team on the field at Manhattan Saturday.

first unit, Ira Vorhies of the second, Jesse Faes of the third, and E. J. Boschult of the fourth. More than forty organizations will have units in the parade.

The reviewing stand for the parade will be located in front of the city hall, on Ninth and O. The parade will be witnessed by Governor Bryan, Mayor Frank C. Zehrung, Postmaster Gillespie, and other notables.

Arrangements for the celebration are being made by L. E. Gunderson, commander of the Lincoln post of the American Legion, Trev E. Gillespie, general chairman, and Walton B. Roberts, parade chairman, and attending committees.

COUNTRYMAN DECIDES HOLD ESSAY CONTEST

Prof. Prescott and Round are selecting the title this week.

Freshmen taking English under Prescott will be asked to write for the contest as a part of their class work. The essays will be limited to 500 words each and will be written on but one side of the paper. Prof. Prescott with two other persons will judge the essays. The winning essay each time will be published in the Countryman.
