WOMEN WILL VOTE ON MAY QUEEN AT POLLS WEDNESDAY

Maid of Honor and Mortar Board Candidates to Be Named.

The 1933 May queen, maid of honor, and candidates for Mortar Board society, will be chosen at the regular Mortar Board spring election to be held Wednesday, March 15, in Ellen Smith hall on the downtown campus and in the Home Economics building on the Ag campus.

Polls will be open from nine to five at Ellen Smith hall and from ten to five at the Ag college.

Only senior women are permitted to vote for Mortar Board candidates. Each voter must vote for not less than five nor more than twenty candidates, or the ballot will be rejected.

After the votes have been counted, the names of the thirty highest will be submitted to the society, and those girls to be masked Ivy Day will be selected from that list at a later date.

Membership in Mortar Board society, unlike that of the Innocents, varies in number from year to year. Members are elected on the three-fold basis of scholarship, service, and leadership. A candidate must have an average of eighty in previous years' work, and must have no existing incompletes, delinquencies, or failures.

Participation in extra-curricular activities will be an important factor in election to the society. Not the number of activities engaged in, but the quality of work done will merit consideration of the candidate.

All junior and senior women may vote for May queen and maid of honor. Any senior girl with an eighty average, a B activity to her credit, and meeting university eligibility requirements may be considered as a candidate. A list of all eligible women will be posted at the polls Wednesday.

The girl receiving the greatest number of votes will act as May queen on Ivy day, and the girl receiving second high, will serve as her maid of honor.

DR. WADE TALKS AT PHI SIGMA MEETING

Zoology Instructor Tells About Summer Camp Experiences.

An illustrated lecture on his experience and the life at the University of Wyoming summer camp was given by Dr. Otis Wade of the zoology department at the meeting of Phi Sigma honorary biological society held in Bessey hall Wednesday evening, March 8.

Dr. Wade conducted classes last summer at the camp which is held each year in the Medicine Bow national forest about forty miles from Laramie, Wyoming.

Highlights of Wade's talk featured descriptions of the camp, its purpose and the work of the students.

"The camp is attractively nestled in a forest of evergreens at an altitude of about 9,800 feet. Several log cabins for the students and faculty and a large log recreation hall make up the "settlement." Within a stone's throw of the camp is a fair sized cascade, and the mountain stream which forms it is well stocked with trout.

"Below the camp beaver have constructed a dam and about half a mile away is a relatively large lake surrounded by evergreen trees. A local landmark, Snowy Range, is only six miles distant, and Medicine Bow Peak furnishes unequalled opportunity for a climb that is taken advantage of by all classes at the camp," Wade described.

Students have a unique opportunity.

MUSEUM SERIES WILL END THIS AFTERNOON

Martin Johnson's Jungle Film Will Be Shown On Program.

The final program of the 1932-33 series of Sunday afternoon museum programs will be presented in Morrill hall's downstairs auditorium this afternoon. The children's programs will be offered, as usual, at 2:30 o'clock and the adult presentation is scheduled for the usual hour, 4:15 o'clock.

Featuring today's program is Martin Johnson's Jungle Film depicting jungle scenes in Africa. This film is composed of five reels and requires an hour and fifteen minutes for each showing. This travel picture will be exhibited on both the children's and adults' programs.

"To the many friends of the museum, the staff wishes to express its appreciation for the fine attendance at the Sunday programs and the splendid interest manifested by them in the general progress of the museum," declared Dr. E. H. Barbour, director. "We hope in another year to resume these Sunday afternoon programs and continue these presentations on the wide variety of topics we have been so fortunate to secure in the past."

TO HOLD COSTUME PARTY

Young People's Department Of Christian Church Sponsors Event.

A costume party will be given by the young people's department of the First Christian church, 16th and K st., Friday night.

Among some of the characters that will be represented at the affair are Baron Munchausen and his friend Charlie, the Showboat quartet, and Madam Butterfly. Costume attire is obligatory, and all those who violate the obligation will be brought before the "Kangaroo Court."

Four University Faculty Members Among American Men of Science

Working together for a common purpose, a small group of scientists are striving to carry the standard of scientific achievement into the realm of unknown quantities. Believing that the world should not suffer in ignorance, the American Men of Science have sought to accomplish this desirable end.

In this group of eponents of scientific learning is found four Nebraska faculty members, whose diligent labors in research in their respective fields has brought them this coveted honor. These starred men are Chancellor emeritus Samuel Avery, for distinctive work in chemistry; Dr. D. D. Whitney, in zoology; Prof. J. E. Weaver, botany; and recently Dr. R. J. Pool was added to this list for his notable work in the field of botany.

The American Men of Science is a group made up of a thousand students of the natural and exact sciences in the United States, whose work is regarded as being the most important from the

WEDNESDAY SET AS YEARBOOK DEADLINE

Student Activities Manager Points Out Real Value Of 1933 Issue.

Emphasizing the fact that Wednesday is the absolute deadline for sales of the 1933 Cornhusker, John K. Selleck, manager of student activities, in a statement made Saturday, pointed out the real value offered in the 1933 yearbook at a price 10 percent below that of last year's book.

Mr. Selleck asserted that like other activities, the Cornhusker has unusual problems to be met this year, but that it has reduced its price in keeping with the depression, while maintaining its high standard of quality.

"This year's cash price of $4.50, or liberal installment plan of $2 down, $1 April 1, and the balance of $1.75 on delivery of the book, should place the Cornhusker within the means of most students," Chas. Skade, business manager stated.

"The Cornhusker is offered to the public at a price considerably below the cost of producing it, and in years to come will be worth many times the present price. It is the only means the student has of preserving college memories and is in itself a real work of art."

This year's final sales drive closes Wednesday, immediately after which, the contract for printing and binding will be let. Students desiring a copy of the Cornhusker may order thru a member of Tassels, Corncocks or the business staff.

MUSEUM OFFICIALS RECEIVE EMU EGGS

Gerald Smith, Graduate Of University Is Donor.

Skins of a male and female emu, large native birds of Australia, which have been displayed at the museum for some time, are now keeping company with two emu eggs, recently received by the museum officials.

The donor of both the skins and eggs is Gerald Smith, a graduate of the university who is now living in the Philippine Islands. Smith sent the emu collection to his sister, Miss Jennie Z. Smith, of Lincoln, who in turn, presented them to the museum.

One of the newly acquired eggs is carved to resemble a cameo, depicting a scene in Australia. Both eggs are considered fine specimens and range in size approximately as large as ostrich eggs.

TOURNEY WILL CONTINUE

Contestants Are Requested To Keep Matches Up To Date.

Miss Clarice McDonald, W. A. A. sponsor, announced Saturday that the ping pong tournament will be continued as usual. Miss McDonald requests that contestants continue matches as soon as they are supplied with an opponent. The matches must be kept up to date. Contestants who do not play off matches immediately will be notified. As soon as all the matches are played off, the two remaining contestants will play for the championship.

MISS JANE YOUNGSTON SELECTED PROM GIRL AT CLOSING FORMAL

Over Five Hundred Couples Attend Annual Affair At Coliseum.

Miss Jane Youngston, Minden, Kappa Alpha Theta, was chosen prom girl at the annual junior-senior prom, closing formal event at the university, held at the coliseum Friday night. Over 500 couples attended the affair.

As in former years the identity of the prom girl was unknown until Miss Youngston stepped from the south balcony, amid a background of palms.

Unaccompanied, she descended the temporarily constructed stairs, covered with green crepe with silver trimmings, to the floor, where she was met by Arthur Pinkerton and Vernon Filley, senior and junior class presidents, respectively, and escorted down an aisle made by members of the two classes. At the north end of the floor was a throne with blue and silver covering, where Miss Youngston was officially received by the student body.

Decorations for the affair consisted of elaborate designs suggestive of the coming spring season, carried out in many brilliant colors. The sides of the coliseum were latticed with crepe paper of varying hues, while ferns, palms, and other plants angled across the north end of the room to keep the dancers in the enclosed area played upon by soft colored lights.

Herbie Kay and his orchestra was well received by the dancers, as was evidenced by the group of dancers that was constantly manced about the platform. Featuring the three Kays and Miss Dorothy Lamour, the band was heard over KFAB from 10:30 to 11:15 p. m. Besides the throng that danced to Herbie Kay's music, the special section reserved for spectators was well filled.

Departing from the usual custom, the south end of the coliseum was reserved for guests and chaperons. Those who chaperoned the event were Prof. and Mrs. K. M. Arndt, Prof. and Mrs. G. C. Walker, and Prof. and Mrs. H. W. Stoke.
