COUNCIL TO WORK ON ACTIVITY TAX

Student Legislative Body Promises Definite Action To Present Blanket Levy to Board of Regents at Future Meeting.

PRESIDENT APPOINTS COMMITTEES FOR YEAR

Byron Goulding Elected Student Representative on Athletic Board; Innocents Given Charge Of All Football Rallies.

Work on the student activity tax will be pushed to the limit this fall by the student council, it was decided Wednesday afternoon, when the council met for the first time this year. The activity tax proposal, originated and sponsored by last year's council, has been voted upon favorably by the student body, and the new council expressed its determination to see the plan put through to definite action on the part of the board of regents.

A committee consisting of Byron Goulding, chairman, Tom Davies, Bill Fisher, and Woodrow Magee, was appointed by John Gepson, president of the council, to prepare the plan for submission to the regents.

Four Items Favored.

Items to be included in the tax, as expressed by student vote, are the Cornhusker, Daily Nebraskan, Aagwan, athletic ticket, and student union building fund.

"The council feels that in pushing the tax plan as its major project of this fall and continuing the work of last year's council, it is accomplishing something that will be of real benefit to students as a whole," Gepson stated. "We hope that the proposal may become a reality before the semester is over."

Byron Goulding was elected unanimously as the council's representative on the university athletic board.

Lloyd Loomis representing the Innocents society asked the council's permission for the society to again conduct the rallies before games, which permission was granted.

Secure New Office.

Gepson stated that a new office had been secured for the council in Room 10 of University hall. All future meetings and conferences are expected to be held there.

Committees for the year as announced by Gepson are:

Rallies: Woodrow Magee. This committee to co-operate with the Innocents society in preparation and staging of rallies.

Elections: Margaret Buol, chairman; Masie Davis, Neal Mehring, Tom Snipes. The committee to make arrangements for and supervise all elections.

Subscription—Dance: Kenneth Davison, chairman; Rose Steinberg, Maynard Miller.

Organizations: Roma DeBrown, chairman; Adela Tombrink, Maynard Miller.

Chaperones: Martha Hershey.

STUDENT DRIVERS TO RECEIVE NO LENIENCY

Nebraska Tags May Have to Be Purchased for Cars From Out of State.

No leniency will be shown to student automobile drivers whose cars are parked double or otherwise incorrectly, was the ultimatum issued by Sergeant Regier, campus police officer, yesterday. "Cars that are parked contrary to regulations will be tagged and taken to the station," warned Regier.

Out of state cars will probably be left untagged until the end of the year, according to Regier. At that time, however, it will be necessary for the out of state students to register them in Nebraska. There was some discussion over the possibility of compelling out of state students to buy Nebraska automobile licenses. It was decided however to put the rule into operation by the city of Lincoln.

CORNHUSKER OATH

As a student entering the University of Nebraska, I subscribe to the following:

1. Recognition—of an obligation to parents, friends, schools and state for the sacrifice made and encouragement offered which enabled me to enter the University of Nebraska.
2. Desire—to remain in the university with the firm intention to advance in scholarship and to cultivate those social activities which make for good citizenship.
3. Purpose—to enter classes and other work fully prepared and to give such attention as will insure satisfactory results, and not failure.
4. Organization—of time to be devoted to study, recreation, activities, and rest, and the pursuit of this schedule with the diligence.
5. Loyalty—to the administration, faculty, traditions, and purposes of the university.

Finally I will at all times censure and guide my conduct and work toward personal advancement, and safeguard the relation I hold to the welfare of the university and its service to the state.

ADVERTISING WOMEN MEET

Honorary Sorority Outlines Semester's Program for Next Thursday.

Gamma Alpha Chi, woman's honorary advertising sorority, will hold a special meeting of the officers Tuesday, Sept. 26, at 7 o'clock at Ellen Smith hall, according to Virginia Selleck, president of the organization.

Plans for the year will be discussed and arrangements made for the programs. A series of lectures is being planned at which prominent local business men and women will speak on the subject of advertising.

Arrangements for the initiation of fifteen students, pledged to the organization just before the close of school last spring, will be completed at the meeting. Prof. F. C. Blood, chairman of the advertising department, is faculty adviser of the organization.

CHURCHES OPEN TO ALL STUDENTS FRIDAY EVENING

Receptions at Most of the Lincoln Groups Set For Tomorrow.

EMPHASIZE HOSPITALITY

As a welcome to new and returning students Lincoln churches are planning reception programs for the annual all university church night, Friday evening, Sept. 22. To emphasize the idea of hospitality church members will invite students to their homes on Sunday, say the sponsors of the event. The night is closed to university functions.

"We are emphasizing this year, especially, the idea of hospitality," said Rev. Dean R. Leland, president of the religious welfare council of the university and Presbyterian university pastor. The religious welfare council includes representatives of the university faculty, the university pastors, Y. M. C. A. and Y. W. C. A. secretaries, and a student representative from each denomination. Besides Rev. Mr. Leland other officers of the group are: Prof. Lulu Runge, vice president, and Miss Adella Tombrink, secretary.

Churches plan receptions. All churches taking part in the university church night event are planning elaborate receptions and interesting programs. Those churches who will participate in the program are: Presbyterian church whose reception will be held at the Westminster House at 333 North 14th street, Trinity Lutheran church with their reception at the parish hall at 13th and H streets. The United Lutheran church will entertain in Morrill Hall. The University Episcopal will hold its party 346 North 13th, Caldwell Memorial United

FIRST BLUE PRINT APPEARS THURSDAY

Free Issue Will Introduce Engineering College to Freshmen.

The Nebraska Blue Print student engineering magazine, makes its fall debut on the campus today. Starting its thirty-third year of publication with the purpose of interesting students in engineering, the first issue acquaints freshmen with the Engineering College. This edition will be distributed free from the Mechanical Arts building.

Headed by a message of welcome from Chancellor Burnett, the issue contains articles of advice from Dean Thompson, Dean Ferguson, and J. P. Colbert, freshman adviser. These are followed by articles on the individual departments of the college by the various chairmen, an alumni section, and a review of extra-curricular activities and rewards for merit.

William F. Johnson is general manager of the magazine, Charles De Vore, editor, and Hugh W. Gray, business manager.

Want Applications for Managing Editorship

The Student Publication Board will consider applications for the position of managing editor of the Daily Nebraskan until 5 p. m., Thursday, Sept. 21. Application blanks are available in the office of the school of journalism, U hall 104.

Coliseum Is Scene of Freshman Initiation

Students Will Be Excused From Their 11 O'Clock Classes to Attend the Convocation.

The University Coliseum, home of the athletic department and scene of many university functions and athletic contests, will be the scene of the traditional freshman initiation at 11 o'clock this morning. New students will form a parade from the west side of Social Science hall and march to the field house. Eight speakers, including Coaches Dana X. Bible and Henry F. Schulte, are listed on the program for the ceremonies. All new students will be excused from their 11 o'clock classes to attend the convocation.

SLASHED FUNDS FORCE LIBRARY CURTAIL STAFF

Appropriation Cut Means Open for Students Fewer Hours.

NO NEW BOOKS FOR YEAR

Will Continue the Present Subscriptions to All Periodicals.

The university library, an institution which has existed since the very beginning of the school, is slated for a halt in its annual expansion. According to Gilbert H. Doane, university librarian, the extensive cut in the legislature's appropriations for the library is playing havoc with his department.

Besides necessitating the cutting down of the hours for keeping the libraries open to the students, the regular program of adding books to the collection cannot be carried on this year. Since 1925 when Doane came to Nebraska to supervise our system of libraries, there have been added each year between seven and ten thousand books.

It has been during the last twenty years, Doane pointed out, that the greater part of the expansion has taken place. At the present time there are approximately two hundred and seventy thousand volumes that line the shelves of the libraries in our university.

Subscriptions to periodicals, of which there are some thirteen hundred and fifty, will be continued. It is a hard thing to obtain copies of scholarly periodicals other than by subscription, hence the decision to continue receiving them. Books, the librarian explained, are obtainable most any time and will be

KLUB WILL PLAN REVUE

Musgrave Announces First Meeting for Tuesday, September 26.

The first meeting of Kosmet Klub, campus dramatic organization, will be held next Tuesday night, Sept. 26, in the Klub rooms at 5 o'clock, according to an announcement made yesterday by Frank Musgrave, president of the organization.

Plans for the annual Thanksgiving Morning revue, in which various campus organizations or groups of organizations present entertainment skits, will be discussed at the meeting. Musgrave stated. A schedule of office hours for members of the Klub will also be arranged, he said.

Applications for workers for the fall revue will be received at the office any time after that date, Musgrave said. Committees for the show will be appointed from those students applying after the eligibility of each applicant has been checked with the dean of student affairs' office.

PLAYERS TICKET SALE PROGRESSES NICELY THIS WEEK

Team Headed by Maxine Packwood Has Sold the Most Tickets.

CAMPAIGN ENDS FRIDAY

With Ray Ramsey, alumni secretary and prominent Lincoln actor, in the leading role, the first University Players' production, "The Late Christopher Bean," is scheduled to start Oct. 9 at the Temple Theater under the direction of Miss H. Alice Howell.

Late campaign reports yesterday afternoon indicated that the sales were progressing unusually well, according to Thelma Sterkel, campaign manager. The campaign supervisors are covered by teams supervised by captains appointed by Anne Bunting, president of the organization. In Wednesday evening's sales report, the team headed by Maxine Packwood was in the lead, with Valentine Klotz's team following as a close second. Ruby Schwembiel and her group were third, Florence Buxman, fourth, and Laura McAlister, fifth.

Anne Bunting has made the largest individual sales with Thelma Sterkel following in second place.

The pep group is conducting this annual ticket drive in order to have the price of tickets to some out of town game. As many members of the organization have failed to sell any tickets and are making no effort to do so, the five captains made the ruling that every girl must sell a minimum of twenty tickets before she is eligible for the football trip.

The sales booths in Social Science, Andrews hall, Buck's Coffee shop and in the cafeteria on the Ag campus will be discarded tomorrow as the Tassel make individual efforts to push this ticket drive over the top. Reservations for the entire season including six plays are $2 and may be made by seeing any Tassel.

NEBRASKAN CONDUCTS NEWS WRITING CLASS

Aspirants and Reporters to be Instructed in Writing of News.

A practice class in news writing for Daily Nebraskan reporters will be conducted in the office of the publication every Saturday morning starting next Saturday, September 23. Laurence Hall, editor of the publication, announced yesterday afternoon.

Students who have already done reportorial work for the Nebraskan so far this semester and all those interested in working on the editorial side will be urged to attend these sessions, Hall said. Attendance will not be compulsory, but preference on the assignment of beats will be given those showing the greater interest, the editor declared.

Members of the paid staff of the Daily Nebraskan will conduct the sessions. Reporters will be given material for stories to be written and will receive practice in writing leads, using correct journalistic diction, and other points in news writing. Various types of stories will also be used.

"We plan to develop a staff of reporters for the Daily Nebraskan who will always be available and will be able to write good stories on any assignment," Hall stated.

"When recommendations for staff positions on the Nebraskan are made in the future and when beats are assigned, preference will be given to those who have attended the practice sessions," he said.

JEAN ALDEN TALKS CONCERNING BENEFITS FOR GIRLS IN THE UNIVERSITY

The First Y. W. C. A. Vespers of the Year were Attended by 150 Girls Tuesday Evening in Ellen Smith Hall.

Elaine Fontein, Vespers chairman, introduced Jean Alden, president of the Y. W. C. A. The theme of Miss Alden's talk was the benefit a girl might receive from university life. "Freshman girls have doors of which open into many rooms, some spacious and full of treasures, some small and empty," said Miss Alden.

FRESHMEN TO BE INITIATED TODAY

New Students to Assemble in University Field House At Eleven This Morning for Traditional Ceremonies of Induction.

WILL DON CAPS AND BUTTONS AFTER PROGRAM

Chancellor, Executive Deans, Heads of Innocents and Mortar Boards, Coaches Bible and Schulte, Dr. G. E. Condra to Give Talks.

More than one thousand freshmen and students new to the university are expected to attend the traditional freshman initiation ceremonies this morning at 11 o'clock in the university coliseum, George Sauer, member of the Innocents society in charge of arrangements for the annual event, declared late yesterday afternoon.

In addition to members of the Innocents society, senior honorary for men, who are in charge of the affair, administrative officers of the university, ranking members of the faculty, members of Mortar Board, senior honorary for women, and members of the two pep organizations, Corn Cobs and Tassels, will be on hand to officially welcome the new students into the student body of the university.

Corn Cobs Called For Convocation

Actives and pledges of Corn Cobs must be present in uniform this morning at 10:50 in the Coliseum, for freshman convocation.

JUDGING TEAM TAKES SEVENTH IN CONTEST

Ralston Holds Individual Honors in Selecting Best Cheese.

MEET HELD IN CHICAGO

Nebraska's dairy products judging team, competing at the Inter-collegiate contest at Chicago Monday, placed seventh among fourteen state university teams. Members of the team were Prof. P. A. Downs, coach, Royce Fish, Bruce Ford, Bill Ralston, and James Warner, alternate.

First place in the contest for judging cheese went to Bill Ralston, senior in dairy manufacturing at Nebraska. Ralston was awarded a gold medal at the banquet following the contest for his high rank in cheese judging. Nebraska ranked eighth as a team in this section.

Milk, butter, cheese, and ice cream were all judged in the contest. In butter the ag college team won fourteenth out of the seventeen teams. Fish won sixth in the butter contest and Ford was placed seventh. Both students have taken dairy manufacturing courses at ag college. Complete ratings of the Nebraska team will not be available until the team returns Thursday night.

The products contest held this year at Chicago's Blue Valley Creamery company, is sponsored annually by the Dairy and Ice Cream Machinery and Supplies Association and the American Dairy Science Association. Scholarships are offered to the ten high seniors in the contest for the purpose of stimulating research in dairying among college graduates.

FORMER MENTOR HERE INJURED IN ACCIDENT

Charles Black, Entered in Golf Meet Here, Figures In Auto Mishap.

Hitting a tree in order to avoid colliding with another car, Charles Black, former Husker basketball coach, now golf professional at Alton, Ill., and here for the Nebraska open, received a deep cut over his right eye in addition to minor bruises. The mishap occurred Tuesday.

Black was returning to Lincoln from the Shrine club with Bob Russell after having played several rounds of golf, when the accident happened.

The accident didn't prove to be serious, however, as he was out and around Wednesday and intended to play in the open in spite of the accident.

WOLCOTT WRITES A BOOK

Professor Completes Piece Recently; Will Use It For Text.

Animal Biology is the name of the text book written by Professor H. H. Wolcott, chairman of the Department of Zoology.

Professor Wolcott recently completed the book after several years work. It will be used as a text book in Zoology 1, 2, 3 and 4.

CHEMISTRY STUDENTS WILL PICNIC SUNDAY

Phi Lambda Upsilon, honorary chemistry fraternity, will hold a picnic for graduates and chemistry majors at Pioneer park, Sept. 23. They plan to leave Chemistry hall at noon. Bill Skiles and Violet Wilder have charge of the arrangements for the picnic.

BAND MEN, CAPTIONED 'TENDER INFANTS' BY PRIVATE MECHEM, CAMP K. P., TELL OTHER SIDE OF NATIONAL GUARD STORY

Editor's Note: This article is written in reply to an article printed in the Daily Nebraskan a few days ago regarding the National Guard camp at Ashland this summer. This article is written by one student who attended the camp.

"They were the biggest bouquet of lilies that ever existed in Camp Ashland. . . They were tender infants, rarely ever said 'hell.'" This about the 119th Medical Regiment band which, incidentally, is composed almost entirely of members from the University R. G. T. C. band.

Now if Private Mechem, lately on permanent K. P. duty at the national guard encampment near Ashland who uttered these damning phrases during a recent interview for the Nebraskan, will lay down the potato on which he has been whittling for the last half hour, we, on behalf of ourselves and the rest of the band, would like to tell him something.

Private, old boy, we don't doubt your sincerity in the least. We realize that scrubbing tables and dishing wash basins one's senses. We give you that you can't see beyond the pile of potato peelings at your feet. But in spite of our abundance of understanding, we dislike being slandered.

Not that we belittle your calling. The spuds would miss your gentle caress. But if rising at 5, a half hour before the camp starts, dressing and marching the length of camp street and back, (a good three hundred yards each way) playing most of the way, at 5:30 in the morning seems a pipe, we invite you to try. Yes, and we'll peel your potatoes while you're gone. At that unholy hour lips and fingers refuse to function. But the army says they must. Every other morning we were off at the crack of the cannon.

Following the reveille parade, the rest of the day ran something like this: After breakfast fifteen minutes to clean up the tents, make bunk, police the area, and a few minor things like that. Then out with instruments to the calisthenic drill, followed by parade. Back to our tents for a short nap, after which some close order, infantry drill, occasionally with packs, or perhaps the colonel
