The attention of students is called to the clock which has been placed above the bulletin boards for their benefit.

"Don't see why they don't call it inspection feet" grumbled the cadet as he heard his name read off for not having his shoes polished.

Owing to some delay in preparing the constitution, the election of officers was not held at the regular meeting of the Varsity Rifles Thursday evening.

As the band boys are not required to purchase their own suits, everybody is wondering if Harley Heald is going to wear the uniform that Oberlies had last year, and how he will look in it.

If the boys don't keep their senior hats and canes under cover until the gown question is settled there is liable to be war in the camp, which will not be conducive to domestic felicity.

Lieutenant Pershing sought an elevated position from which to view the game Saturday. He evidently did not hear the remark a wise senior made. "Take your post, sir."

For Sale.—A set of encyclopedia Britannica, Ninth Edition, with American revisions and additions, at a greatly reduced price, for cash or on time. Address F. T. Riley care of Nebraskan.

"What's the matter" asked his chum.

Prep.—"A lecture Friday and I haven't got a ten o'clock class."

There is much talk among the cadets, concerning "sick list" order, and every one is setting a date in head on which he can take the little book over to Professor Clark's headquarters, and get sick for a day or so.

Ned Abbott caused a little enjoyment himself, for the crowd Saturday. Every time the wind lifted up his coat tail there was revealed to view, sticking within his pistol pocket, a pink colored newspaper of local reputation.

The reception of the class of '99 was held Saturday last in the A. O. U. W. Hall. The hall was well filled, irrespective of the rainy weather, and all enjoyed the evening immensely. Games were indulged in and a program was rendered which was as follows:

1. Inaugural, L. P. Patch.
2. Speech, Mr. Bear.
3. Recitation, Maud Mason.
4. Vocal solo, Miss Cook.
5. Instrumental solo, Miss Hatch.
6. Quartette, Mr. Mapes, Pierson, Misses Richardson, Pierson.
7. Vocal solo, Miss Hatch.

The Senior girls had an enthusiastic meeting Wednesday afternoon. The subject under discussion, of course, was caps and gowns.

To be or not to be, that's the question, and if you're going to be then what kind of a one are you going to be. The Philadelphia firms will have to endure one more week of torture and then the orders will have to be sent in, provided the samples are satisfactory.

Marple's Address.

Hon. C. H. Marple, of Omaha, delivered an address to students in the chapel last Saturday evening under the auspices of the University Republican Club. Although there was not a very large crowd out to hear him, on account of the storm and the probable depressing effect of the football defeat, those who attended listened to a very scholarly exposition of the republican doctrines. Mr. Marple is a graduate of the University of Pennsylvania, a polished speaker, and one of the rising lawyers of Nebraska. He was for six years a regent of our university.

He kept aloof from petty politics and "slung no mud" whatever. He may be said to be a representative of pure politics and pure statesmanship.

Mr. F. W. Collins, president of the State Republican League, and Mr. W. D. Robinson, a candidate for the State Legislature, also made short speeches.

At the meeting of the republican club a unanimous vote of thanks to Mr. Marple for his able lecture was passed.

McDowell Speaks.

The first lecture of the Chancellor's course, for this year, was delivered yesterday morning by Chancellor McDowell, of the University of Denver. The subject of the address, "George William Curtis, and Civil Service Reform," was one of great interest to the majority of students.

Mr. McDowell reviewed, briefly, the life of Curtis, his adaptability to literature, his power as an orator, and his character as a man. The principal point of the lecture was the influence of Curtis in politics, especially in advocating civil service reform. The speaker dwelt upon the corrupt present condition of politics, and thought civil service reform to be the only remedy. The unanimous sentiment seems to be that the address was one of the best yet delivered in the Chancellor's course.
