Hon. C. H. Gere acted as toastmaster, and introduced the speaker of the evening in his usual happy way. The following toasts were given:

"The Fraternity," Warren Switzler.

"Ye Olden Days," W. P. Aylesworth.

"What We Have Forgotten," W. H. Woodward.

"Phi Psi's Out of College," A. Hazlett.

"Phi Psi's in College," Harl Myers.

"Nebraska Alpha," R. C. Bentley.

Besides the present chapter of the fraternity in the university plans were perfected for organizing a strong alumni chapter in Nebraska. During the evening the Lansing orchestra furnished delightful music.

It was after midnight when the final toast was given to Nebraska Alpha of Phi Kappa Psi.

The newly initiated announced the chapter by giving their yell at the houses of the various other fraternities. The fact of the coming initiation had been kept very quiet, and the first intimation the other fraternities had of it was the Phi Psi yell outside their windows. The following gives an idea of the yell as nearly as words can do it.

Hi! Hi! Hi!
Phi Kappa Psi!
Live ever! Die never!
Phi Kappa Psi!

The chapter consists of the following members: Frank Brown, Percy A. Powers, Herbert L. Kimball, Jesse P. Rowe, Rudolphus K. Straussmann, Vergil Barber, Dick Reed, William K. Sudduth, Rufus Bentley, Ward Hildreth, Clark Oberlies, Burt Wilson, Carson Hildreth, Madison Bentley, W. A. Deary, Julius Sedgwick, Clinton S. Norton and J. W. Morrow.

The new chapter house, at the corner of Twelfth and G, will be opened soon, and Phi Kappa Psi will be at home to her friends after April 10th.

In spite of numerous applications the fact that this is the first charter granted in five years shows the conservative policy of the fraternity. Chapters of Phi Psi are in thirty-six universities and colleges. Among the more prominent are Johns Hopkins, Columbia, De Pauw, Northwestern, Michigan university, Beloit college, Columbia university, Brooklyn Polytechnic institute, the state universities of Iowa, Minnesota, and Kansas, and Leland-Stanford university.

On Wednesday evening of last week the Delta Tau Delta fraternity gave a very pleasant reception at their club house in honor of Phi Kappa Psi. As the new fraternity appeared only Saturday the reception was necessarily arranged on short notice, but to all appearances every detail had been carefully considered.

The apparently civilized look of the house was a surprise to many of the girls who imagined a boy's fraternity house a sort of den. Carnation and smilax, hyacinths and palms were in profusion in every room, and the effect was very pretty. In one room under the fraternity colors was a prettily decorated table where punch and wafers were served, Misses Lottridge and Gerrard presiding.

During the reception hours about 200 guests paid their respects to the young hosts. The rooms were conveniently arranged for dancing and after the reception a few friends were asked to remain to an informal party.

The following fraternities were represented; Pi Beta Phi, Pi Delta, Phi Delta Theta, Sigma Alpha Epsilon, Phi Kappa Psi, Kappa Kappa Gamma, Sigma Chi, Delta Gamma, and Beta Theta Pi.

A most enjoyable cotillion was given by the Sigma Chi's at their rooms thirteenth and P streets on Friday evening, March twenty-second. It was led by Mr. J. H. Mallalieu, assisted by Miss Marie Marshall. Some novel and pleasing pastimes were very successfully introduced.

The participants were: Messrs. and Mesdames Wheeler, Peters, and Mrs. Benton; Misses Maine, Farwell, Hanson, Harley, Burks,

BETTER THAN EXPECTED

DRAMATIC CLUB PERFORMANCE SURPRISES MANY.

Everything Goes off Smoothly—The Audience Delighted—Glee and Banjo Clubs Take Part.

People who winked the other eye when they read "Manley's stuff about the success at Ashland" a few times, were pleasantly surprised on the evening of March 25th at the performance of the dramatic club, and those who came to throw cabbages, remained to throw pennies.

The house was well filled, and never was there a troupe that had a more appreciative audience than the University Dramatic club had on that evening. Every one went with the intention of enjoying himself, but he did not have to exert himself any in doing it. Everything went off as smoothly as though it were the two hundredth night. There was not a hitch or break anywhere. The ease and grace which the actors exhibited reflects much credit to themselves, for their individual efforts, and to Miss Manning, under whose direction the members of the club practiced.

The vocal solo of Miss Agnes Sewell was so well rendered that she received an encore. The musical selections of the Glee club and Banjo club were received with much applause, and both were required to appear again.

Several very pretty box-parties were given. The fraternities were represented as follows:

Sigma Alpha Epsilon—Messrs. Johnson, Sayer, Haughton, Morrill; Misses Lau, Case, Brooks, and Nesbit.

Beta Theta Pi—Messrs. Ames, Thorpe, Adams; Misses Ricketts, Heaton, and Harley.

Sigma Chi—Messrs. Hebard, Duff, Mallalieu; Misses Marshall, Moore Griffith.

The botanical seminar also had a box, the occupants being, Prof. and Mrs. Ward, Miss Buckstaff, Miss Getner, and Mr. Saunders.

The Union society was represented by Misses Olivia Pound, Triplett, Chapel; Messrs. Short, Lund, and Cameron.

The Paladians were out about forty strong, and the Delians had a good representation.

The Phi Psi's were conspicuous, presenting two rows of masculine heads in the center of the parquet. Phi Delta Theta occupied the left section of the parquet, about sixteen members being present.

The members of the Omaha club who spent their vacation at home were appointed a committee to look up the prospects of having the annual encampment of the battalion in Omaha.

Boxing and Wrestling Contest.

Saturday evening sharply at 8 o'clock referee J. P. Cosgrave will call time for the first event in the first wrestling and boxing contest of the university.

The six gold medals have been in Fleming's display window for several days and more than one contestant has figured on just how he was going to win one of them.

It is seldom that these contests are arranged so that ladies may attend with perfect propriety, they enjoy these college events fully as much as anyone, and in the eastern colleges where these contests are regular events, the ladies do the most of the cheering.

Mr. Laughton, trainer of Mr. Sieviking, who has some little fame as a boxer, will give an exhibition with Geo. Flippin, who knows more about the art than he tells people. Those who know promise some surprises in store for those who think there are no stars among the student athletes.

The boxing contests will be governed by Marquis of Queensbury rules, which calls for three, three minute rounds with one minute rest.

Chairs will be placed on the floor with the ring so that a good view will be afforded all.

Below is a list of the contestants, with their respective classes and weights:

Light Weight Box.—Klausner, 132 lbs.; Gardner, 124 lbs.; Hamar, 132 lbs.

Middle Weight Box.—Mueller, 140 lbs.; Hamar, 132 lbs.; Andrews, 150 lbs.

Heavy Weight Box.—Flippin, 182 lbs.; Fair, 180 lbs.

Exhibition Box.—Flippin and Laughton.

Light Weight Wrestle.—Pace, 133 lbs.; Wilson, 130 lbs.

Middle Weight Wrestle.—Shue, 158 lbs.; Cameron, 155 lbs.; Pace, 133 lbs.

Heavy Weight Wrestle.—Flippin, 182 lbs.; Sinclair, 180 lbs.

'95 Elects Officers.

The last class election of '95 was rather exciting. For nearly half an hour the constitutionality of the proceedings was thoroughly discussed by the able constitutional lawyers. The old constitution adopted in the Freshman year was dragged out to light, dusted, and thoroughly considered. After the discussion was finished the following officers were elected:

President, Madison Bentley; Vice President, C. R. Welden; Secretary, C. E. Elliot; Treasurer, Carson Hildreth; Sergeant-at-arms, E. B. Sherman; Necrologist, Alfred B. Lyon.

Miss Jessie Lansing is recovering from a severe attack of reumatism.
