

LOCALS.

George Shedd has resigned his position as 1st sergeant of Company B. Too much University work is given as the reason.

Jerome Langer has been appointed bass drummer in the band to fill the vacancy caused by the promotion of Sergeant-Major Liebmann.

The janitors of the University buildings have made their appearance in their new brass buttoned uniforms and at a short distance away it is rather hard to distinguish them from the cadet officers.

If you are a well-posted student, you must read the news, and the only place where you will find all the news is in the Nebraskan. Don't borrow your neighbor's paper when you can get the Nebraskan for the rest of the college year for fifty cents.

See Dr. Leonhardt's ad in this issue.

Harry Landis and E. W. Foster were initiated last Wednesday evening by Sigma Chi. The occasion was also the fifteenth anniversary of the fraternity in the University and it was duly observed with a banquet and appropriate toasts.

The next recital of the school of music will be given in the chapel next Wednesday evening. Although these recitals are given by the students of the school of music, they are by no means unartistic performances and have come to be regarded as well worth attending by all who appreciate good music. University students are especially welcome and are promised something of interest every time.

Chancellor MacLean went to Omaha the middle of this week and interested himself in the matter of having the University regiment go into camp at the Trans-Mississippi Exposition for a few days next June. If arrangements could be made there is no doubt but that there would be plenty of cadets willing to go. Such an opportunity to see the exposition and also have a good time would be hailed with delight by the University Cadet regiment.

A bugle squad will soon be formed in the regiment. It will consist of six cadets who will be instructed by Trumpeter Wells. It is the intention to have a field musician for each company in the regiment.

The Home restaurant 323 North Ninth street, kindly solicits the patronage of all University students. Our price is $2 per week, and we will give you the best board in the city.

Prof. Peterson proposes offering a new two-hour course in the dramas Henrik Ibsen. The class will recite on Mondays and Fridays at 9 o'clock. The work will be especially interesting from the fact that Prof. Peterson is personally acquainted with Ibsen, having visited him several times during his stay in Christiania.

Students will find it to their advantage to patronize the book and stationery departments of Herpolsheimer & Co., for note books, history paper, history covers, university tablets fountain pens, dictionaries, French German and English, Latin and Greek translations and all university supplies. Our list of 5 cent sheet music contains names of over 4,000 pieces both vocal and instrumental. Our music department sells all musical instruments and supplies at lowest prices.

CHAPEL ADDRESSES.

The students had the rare pleasure last Wednesday morning of listening to short addresses by three old time settlers of Nebraska who have helped make this state what it is today—Ex-Secretary of Agriculture J. Sterling Morton, Ex-Governor Furnas and Dr. George L. Miller. Ex-Governor Furnas was the first to extend a word of greeting to the students. He said, believing as he did, that education more than anything else, elevated mankind, he had always taken a great interest in this institution. The speaker said that he had the honor of being a member of the first board of regents of the University when the students could all have been seated on the chapel platform. The sight of the chapel packed with students, he said, could not help but give him increased confidence in the future of the University.

J. Sterling Morton was next introduced. He advised the students to be more independent in their thinking. His great objection to modern education was that there was too great a tendency among students to model their lives after some great person in the past. "Do not try to be like somebody else but be your best self." It is best to do less reading and more thinking when about to make an intellectual effort, rather than fill the mind up completely with borrowed ideas. All that is best in our government today comes from the old English barons who could neither read nor write. They simply used their brains, as the speaker aptly put it. It is best to pass as an honest dime than to succeed as a counterfeit twenty dollar gold piece. Dr. Miller was the last speaker. While he, unlike Governor Furnas, had never had any connection with this educational institution, he said he had, in his capacity as a journalist, endeavored to educate the people to the importance of such an education as a university affords. Personally, he said, he knew nothing about the methods of education as he had never seen the inside or outside of an academic institution when he was a youth.

The speaker corrected himself for saying that he had had no connection with our University. He was responsible to a large degree for the University being able to bring Dr. Bessey here, for which he took great honor to himself. In conclusion Dr. Miller desired to impress on the students that when they leave this institution there is a great school beyond for which this is but preparatory training.

YOUNG WOMEN'S BASKET BALL TEAMS.

At a meeting of the basket ball players held last week, Miss Louise Pound was elected captain of the girls' varsity team, with power to push her "men" and organize both varsity and substitute teams. On Wednesday Miss Pound announced the names of those fortunate enough to secure places on the teams. The first team will consist of Misses Welch, DuTeil, Alberia, Spurck, Cooke, Beach or Kennedy, Pound and Miss Rose Long, as all-around player for the first team, with title of captain of the second team. The second team consists of Misses Miller, Daisy Bonnell, Fritch, Dempster, Beach or Kennedy, Miss Long as center and captain. With one exception, all these on the first team are experienced players. The second team will be in many respects quite as strong as the first team—especially in goal throwing. Many of them on account of size could not make the first team. Until the first team have had more practice at goal throwing, the second are likely to push them hard when it comes to scoring. With the enthusiasm with which Miss Pound has already inspired her girls and with the advantage of her superior coaching they promise soon to become invincible. No young women are allowed on either teams, nor are they allowed to play basket ball at all until they have had at least one year's training in the regular gymnasium classes. Most of the players on the teams have had two and some four years gymnasium work, which has so hardened their muscles as to make them proof against the ordinary bumps which they are likely to receive while playing the game.

Several out-of-town teams have already signified their desire to play the Nebraska girls as soon as the girls have had more practice and arrangements can be made, match game will be played in the armory with a team from Omaha. Nebraska young women are keeping pace with the young women in eastern universities in the way of athletic games. This year it seems to be quite the thing for the young women of those more conservative eastern institutions to have inter-collegiate games, and Nebraska will not be left in the rear when it comes to athletic sports. Last year one of the first match games played between young women of different colleges was that of the New Haven college women vs. Harvard annex young women. The game was played in the Harvard gymnasium and was one of the most successful social, as well as athletic events of the season. After conservative old Harvard had opened her sacred portals to her athletic young women, other colleges soon followed.

BASKET BALL.

The game of basket ball between the champion University team and the Lincoln Y. M. C. A. team was the first of the season's games played with an outside team.

The game was interesting from the first and the crowd did not lack in plenty of enthusiasm. But the strong voices of the crowd of boys that covered the ladders on the west of the gymnasium were not able to make up for the team.

Referee Stebbins threw the ball up in the center of the field and the scramble began. The university team at first seemed to have things their way and in a few minutes Story sent the ball through the east goal. At this point both teams began to play the game with determination. The Y. M. C. A. commenced to get in the game and after some fast team work Capt. Bentley got an open field on the north side of the floor and took a shot over thirty feet from goal and scored two points for his team. A foul on the University which was thrown by Lewis made the score 3 to 2 in favor of the Y. M. C. A., which proportion seemed to last throughout most of the game. At the close of the first half the score stood 9 to 5 in favor of the Y. M. C. A., the University making two goals from the field and one on a free throw. The Y. M. C. A. threw three goals from the field and three on free throws.

At the opening of the second half both teams felt equally confident, the Y. M. C. A. with a leading score and the University remembering the turn that the teams took in last year's game. The ten minutes rest between halves gave the players new courage and they started out with a new game but soon settled down to steady playing with fast passing. The University made one goal from the field and two on fouls with the final resulting score of 15 to 9.

The Anderson brothers, while not individual work playing with a vim and plenty of spirit. Capt. Hill as left forward, made the best showing of any man on his team and scored two field goals and three on free throws. Story the right forward, played a snappy game, which caused considerable applause, and when he got winded he would stop himself by rolling over his opponent. Moore at center, played hard but was almost covered up by his large opponent.

The Anderson brothers, while not able to make their usual showing, played hard with good interference at their positions as guards. It would be hard to say who played the best game for the Y. M. C. A. The team work was evident at all points in the game. The way each man played his position in making open goals and staying with his opponent made a steady gain for their side.

Capt. Bentley as right guard, made a good guard and did excellent playing in the forward field. Ed Bentley the left guard, played perhaps the best defensive game of any player on the floor, several times succeeding in withstanding as many as three opponents. Trompen the big Y. M. C. A. center, played a good game at a good height. Once while almost under the goal he succeeded in getting the ball up in the air and after playing a little toss up game tossed it over into the wire. Dogny as right forward, was easily singled out as a player of basket ball, making good open throws and scoring a goal from field each half.

Lewis the left forward distinguished himself as a goal thrower, missing the first one, then putting in three straight in first half and making two more in the second half on free throws.

Dr. Hastings expressed himself as well satisfied with the game and says the University team had not been able to get their equals to play with. In the championship games they play with different class teams. The forwards not being able to get their work in at the basket caused the team a little surprise, as they were not used to playing with those of their own ability, from continually having things their own way. Following is the lineup:

R. D. Anderson.....	Bentley (capt)

The same teams will play again Saturday evening, January 22.

A WORTHY CAUSE.

There is in the world today a body of young men and women known as student volunteers numbering thousands. These are students who have offered their services as missionaries of Christ's teachings. They represent all of the greater and many of the lesser institutions of learning. The University of Nebraska, likewise has its band of student volunteers. In February there is to be held in Cleveland a convention of these volunteers. At last year's convention our university was represented by six delegates. We should do at least as well this year. It will require in the neighborhood of $100 to accomplish this. Respond liberally to the solicitors. May we not rely on the generosity and interest of each one of you to raise this fund?
