BASE BALL TIME IS HERE

University Team May Show Some Points to Leaguers.

CHANCE TO SEE REAL BALL

This Season's Team Hids Fair to Eclipse Last Year's—Very Strong With the Stick—the Omaha Game.

The University of Nebraska has made remarkable strides in the national game in the past two years.

Last year it had a team that under favorable circumstances could have won east and won all her games. With the team crippled to start out with she went into Iowa and Illinois and made a reputation that was remarkable.

The team this year has played several town games and promises to be as strong, if not stronger, than last year. To be sure, there are no stars now like Benedict and Creigh, but the team as a whole is more even and promises to be a much stronger batting team.

In the recent game with the board of trade team the boys showed particular strength with the stick and won handsomely by hitting, when the pitcher let ten men walk.

Thursday the high school team lined up on the campus and the university team showed a great improvement in team work. Their hitting, as in the previous game, was a feature. The score was 16 to 2 in favor of the university.

Saturday afternoon at 5 o'clock the university team will line up against the Omaha Western league team on the campus and the boys are going in for blood. Cap Gordon will pitch the game and he says he will pilot his colts to victory if possible. All the boys vow vengeance on the leaguers, and are going to see just how much faster league teams are than varsity nines.

It will be a good chance for Manager Ryons to size up his material, and he can form a fair estimate of what to expect of them on the Kansas-Missouri trip, when they leave home on the 29th of this month.

A large addition has been put on the grand stand. The new part runs east and west along the first base line and will hold about 500 people. A board fence is being put along the west side and north end, and everything possible will be done to keep the people outside the fence from bothering the folks in the stands.

A large crowd is sure to turn out to see the Nebraska boys down the leaguers, if such a thing is possible. And rooting will help; come out and root.
