

The energetic foot-ball man will don his moleskin pants
 And practice till the other teams wont have a ghost of chance,
 The dramatic club will shoulder the actor's mighty load
 And "blow" around the campus how they went "out on the road,"
 And these boys will put on dresses and some artificial curls
 And look a darn sight prettier than any of the girls.
 The Frats will work the Freshman and the Barbs will put him through
 And they'll "work" until its a wonder that he isn't pulled in two.
 The Glee Club boys will look around for men who have a voice,
 And put about a hundred through so they can take their choice,
 And the boy who couldn't pass in the exam he had to take
 We say he thinks the Glee Club is nothing but a fake.
 The Banjo Club will practice all the two-steps that are "right,"
 And in every class election there is sure to be a fight.
 And the girls will go to chapel not to hear the morning prayer
 But to have the boys all look at them while they are sitting there.
 The "akward squad" will run around till they are out of breath,
 And the commandant will yell at them and scare them half to death,
 And we'll all neglect to study for the opening week or so,
 Just because our brain has rested in the summer, don't you know.
 Yes, we've all all got back to college as I have remaked before
 (And this same reiteration is becomin quite a bore)
 But a litde wholesome racket is not to be despised.
 And if we don't wake up Lincoln I'll be very much surprised.

I have almost decided to shave my moustache,
 It scarcely is worth all my pains—
 I'm told by my kind loving friends I am rash,
 For diverting gray matter from brains.

Yours in a lost cause,

B. F. MATTHEWS.

LOCALS.

LAW SCHOOL LOCALS.

Work commences Monday, October 7th.

Now is the time to subscribe for THE HESPERIAN.

"Billy" Raymond is attending the Columbian law school.

Messrs. Stroman and E. M. Martin are located in Omaha.

"Doc" Edwards is married and practicing law at Burwell, Neb.

Chas. Kelsey is married and dictating briefs at Neligh, Neb.

Fred Maurer is teaching in the public schools at Red Cloud, Neb.

Falls City is now the address of Mr. Leyda who graduated last year.

Chas. Neal is the proud possessor of a paying practice at Auburn, Neb.

A. A. Hatch's shingle is creaking in the Nebraska breezes at Hayes Center.

Howard Mason, class of '95, is in the district clerk's office at Tekamah, Neb.

Dean Reese says "George Pearl is knocking the persimmons at El Reno, Oklahoma."

B. H. Tallmadge, a junior last year, is completing his degree at the Northwestern University of Chicago.

W. L. Williams spent the summer in assisting his father to cultivate the populist sentiment of Jefferson county.

L. L. Funke is teaching school in Gage county and reading law at intermissions. He hopes to be back with us the first of the year.

W. B. McArthur, a graduate of last year, has opened an office in the McMurtry block of this city where he is ready to accept retainers.

W. V. Hoagland, having been defeated by a "new woman" in his race for county superintendent, will undoubtedly be with us again this year.