

See Mr. Noble's advertisement for the New England. Life insurance has become a necessity. The sooner you take out a policy the less it will cost you.

Miss Lowe, a cousin of Miss Ena Ricketts, will be a student of the Uni. this year. She hails from Michigan and brought enough credits along to make herself an upper-class man.

Miss Ida Fifer who was compelled to leave school last year on account of sickness, is again registered. Her many friends are more than rejoiced to see her looking so well as she does.

Gene Brown of the Deltas, says that he has spent an excellent summer. He visited in the east and met scores of nice gentlemen from various colleges in the United States at the great Delta Tau convention in Cincinnati.

For good, stylish-made-to-order suits see the Independence Wool Manufacturing Co., Geo. W. Fraser, manager, 119 North 13th street. We manufacture our own cloth and have a first class tailoring department. We turn out nothing but first class.

Mrs. Manning, of the department of Elocution, has this year added a new course to her already large and successful class work. This is to consist in the study of forensic oratory, touching on every practical and theoretic part of the subject.

Chancellor MacLean spoke at Broken Bow September 26th, before the county fair on Culture and Agriculture in Nebraska; and at Nebraska City September 28th before the state convention of Christian Endeavor society, in place of John M. Thurston.

Students should all plan to attend the fall racing meet to be held at Lincoln park October 28th to November 1. All the speedy goers not only of the state but of the west will be here and we can depend upon a record-smashing time. The list of entries as published in the daily papers insures the best races the state has ever known.

Those who live in the vicinity of of a certain "Frat" house may explain the hilarity of its occupants on Friday, by remembering that O. and K's. furnish two of the cadet captains for this year. To the victors belong the "spoils," hence their celebration.

Clint Barr and a friend went out to Salt Lake hunting Saturday morning. They report good "find" and a fair "bag." They each killed as many as four ducks at one shot. Clint says the unpleasant part was getting the birds after they were killed—the water was cold, the mud was deep and there was no boat.

A. J. Weaver, who was our debater in the Kansas-Nebraska meeting last year has been winning new laurels as a forceful speaker. On September 17th at the state fair he appeared as the orator for the old settlers, and the press of the city of Omaha commend in the warmest terms his effort on this occasion.

Chancellor (to Hugh Walker in a crowd of students):—"I have found it difficult at times to distinguish members of the faculty from students; but I would know you anywhere as a professor."

And then "Gladstone" blushed a deep scarlet as the boys smiled out loud at the legitimate error of the new chancellor.

It is reported that our sister at Iowa City is in danger of having no foot-ball team this year. The season closed last year with a shortage of about $300 hanging over the team, and the faculty have decided that unless this deficiency can be cleared up soon there will be no team organized this year.

Next Sunday afternoon, October 6, in the chapel at 3 o'clock will be held the first missionary meeting of the year. Leader, Mr. Axling; speakers, Mr. Corey, Mr. Rhodes, Miss Boose and Miss Atkinson. The Y. W. and Y. M. C. A. extends a hearty invitation to all students. They have something to tell you that is worth knowing.
