

Gloves at 1008 O street.

Patronize Westerfield. He is up to date on hair cutting.

Dental parlors of Dr. Hodgman over Harley's. Reduced price to students.

Why not subscribe for THE HESPERIAN at once? Subscription only $1 per year.

All of the newest and latest novelties in neckwear will be found at the Ewing Clothing Co., 1115-1117 O street.

Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Wilson have kindly invited the English club to meet with them next Saturday evening, December 7th.

Rev. Dr. Gordon entertained the chancellor and his wife Thanksgiving day, and tendered them a reception at his home in the evening.

The Glee and Banjo Clubs will give an entertainment at the Lansing, December 18. Every loyal student should turn out and help support these clubs.

H. P. Leavitt has sold out his half interest in the Monitor to Mr. E. McNeal, who is now sole owner of that sheet. Trouble enough for any man.

Mr. N. W. Smails is again editor of the Fremont Herald and his niece, June, declares she will go home regular once a month after this on mileage.

Misses Muliken, Hughes, Bridge, Colson, Forbers, Smails and Gray, and Messrs. Hull and Christensen were the Fremont delegation which went home for Thanksgiving.

Frey & Frey, florists, with Sutton & Hollowbush, Funke Opera House block. There's where you get your A. Beauty roses and carnations. All decorations at lowest prices. Give us a call.

Mr. Charles Kuhlmann defines love as that unconquerable attraction between opposites; Heck Hager says it is the palpitation of cordate anatomy experienced by a boy every time he is introduced to a young lady. H. E. Newbranch has the shortest definition, "Stick-to-it-ivness."

For the cleanest and best made up clothing that are fitters, go to the Ewing Clothing Co., 1115-1117 O street.

THE HESPERIAN is rejoiced to announce that our only John Green is able to be about again. Here's to you, John!

Joe Lownes, who has been doing chemistry work at the Grand Island sugar factory, spent Thanksgiving in Lincoln. Mr. Lownes expects to enter school the second semester.

Billy Wilson, the Senior, not the football B. W., is back from Norfolk where he has been analyzing beet sugar for a few weeks and trying to give the farmers a fair deal under the sugar bounty law.

Professor Wolfe has his psychology class hard at work on the study of brain weight and the woman question; we mean as many as were left over from the brain structure examinations.

Mrs. Manning's dramatic class is now at work on two farces. If they are as successful as the one she had charge of which was given before the Joint Building association of the societies a rare treat is in store for those who appreciate the amateur drama.

If any one has the old idea that Seniors have a snap, he is making a great mistake. More than one senior was here through the late vacation plugging away at some essay or something else, while Sophs. and Freshies were eating turkey and pudding at home.

A. E. Farot, who was posting last year in Germanic philology, left this week for Germany to continue his studies. Mr. Farot had not expected to go to Europe for some time but because of the failure of the Polytechnic institute he was thrown out of employment, and he came to the conclusion this was the best way he could utilize his time. He expects to sail from New York on the Hamburg line going direct to Berlin; however, Mr. Farot does not intend to study in Berlin but in some university in a smaller town—exactly which one he will decide later.