

Bixby's Retreat.

Who is Otto William Meier?

I have troubles of my own.

THE PROF. GRADED LOW.

Prof Sherman's lecture taken well
In notes by a fair Uni, belle
Was handed in by sheer mistake
Instead of her note-book in Shake
And since to truth we must confine us
The assistant marked the book "b"

MEIER WILL YET SPEAK THERE.

The settlement was running
Smooth as any oiled machine
Until they kindly bullebined
A fever quarantine
Say 'twasn't done, should friends inquire,
To stop that speech of Otto Meier.

THAT CHEMICAL EXPERIMENT.

Throngs used to go to chapel
For worship pure and sweet
But now about three dozen
To test the sugar beet.

LOOK OUT GIRLS.

A youth late to class, Oh what vigor and vim,
But the sequel me just a little bit scares,
Quite a number of things happened to him
For forty girls sat on the library
stairs

FED IN CLASS.

Just to hear those dishes rattle
While in class from twelve to one
And to scent those odors—that'll
Tantalize 'most every one.
Das glaub' Ich wohl, Herr Meister—What?
The next three lines I haven't got—
Odors of coffee, oysters too;
Just add to that an onion stew,
And then I think each of us might Breathe dinner as we Deutsch recite.
We'll patronize in class each day
Hotel de l' universite.

PINKERTON SEES VISIONS

He shut himself in Barrett's vault
And closed his both eyes tight
To see his field of vision.
Loving darkness more than light
While there, within that field arose
The evil deeds he'd done,
The outer door did softly close
Upon that studious son
To Hades if you've never gone
Go study Psych with Pinkerton.

FAREWELL.

I pressed his hand, and in his eye
A glistening tear bade sad good-bye,
A tremor shook his grand physique,
Sad parting's pain he could not speak.
Despair had seized him this the while
When hope sought refuge in his smile.
Ah, Holly, may that smile e'er be
Your mascot o'er life's angry sea.

WOULD GET TWO TICKETS.

Were I not the strictest Quaker, I would slug quillpusher Baker
For accusing me of swiping his own cherished
Senior cane.
But knew I the lad who did it, and the place where in he hid it,
I would give him "two" comp tickets to the golden Heavenly Lane.

Exchange.

The College Press Association meets in Topeka,
Kansas, February 26.

There are twenty-three women in the graduating department at Yale university

Pres. Elliott of Harvard Uni. has offered the chair of International Law to Sec'y Olney.

Under the auspices of the University of Tokio a complete history of Japan is being written.

It is estimated that of the college students in the United States one-sixteenth are studying for the ministry.

The Olympic games in 1900 will be held in Paris, and in 1904 the committee will chose between New York, Burlin and Stockholm —Ariel.

"The Students Salute," from Emporia is an excellent example of what girls can do in the line of newspaper work. —Washburn Weekly Review.

Hereafter Cornell will confer but one Bachelor's degree, that of A. B., and there will be but one Doctor's degree. Ph. D —Washburn Weekly Review.

Statistics from sixty seven colleges in thirty-seven states show that foot-ball men stand one-half per cent higher in their studies than the average of the whole college —The Catonian.

Miss Effie Buckley has been elected secretary of the Delian society in the absence of Mr. Hollingworth.

H. M. Bushnell, formerly editor of the Lincoln
Call, addressed the class in Journalism Tuesday morning. His talk was on the United States of Columbia, with special reference to the newspapers of that country.

The Unions will give the following new members' program this evening. Part I. Piano duet, Misses Mumaw and Pfeiffer; story, Miss McGuffey; paper,
Mr. Studeville; recitation, Miss Valvoord; reading,
Miss Chappell; paper, Mr. Harris. Part II. Illustrated song "Elrin on the Rhine"