The Palladian girls planned a complete surprise for the boys of the society week before last. Each boy was sent a note on Friday with an urgent request to attend a business meeting Saturday afternoon. When the boys entered Palladian hall they were surprised to find the girls there in force and the room prettily decorated. An hour was spent in conversation and in watching the "acting" of orator Roper. Refreshments were then served. Before leaving, the boys gave a vigorous cheer for the Pal. girls.

Students see the ad. of the Palace Dining Hall in another column. Go down and try their board as it is the best in the city.

Students of the University will be supplied during the coming week with Cassells German dictionary at $1.12½ per vol. Students will find it to their interest to patronise our book department, as the more students trade we get the lower we make the price to students. We are by far the cheapest place in the city for books, stationery, note books, history paper, fountain pens, pencils, etc., etc. H. Herpolsheimer & Co.
