

The Joint Reception.

The joint reception which was given by the three literary societies on December 21 was a great success. Fully two hundred young people were present. The parlors and dining-room of the Grand hotel were tastefully decorated with the colors of the three societies intertwined with the "Scarlet and Cream" of the University. Hagenow's orchestra furnished music in the dining-room for the grand march and later in the evening, dancing was indulged in. In the hotel parlors a variety of table games furnished amusements for a great many.

The library room in the new Mechanic Arts building was opened to students on Monday. Six department libraries, those of Civil, Electrical and Mechanical, Engineering, Agriculture, Mathematics, and the Agricultural experiment station have been consolidated in the new room under the care of Miss N. H. Ames of the library staff. The room will be open six hours daily with the same privileges of access to shelves and uses of books over night as at the central reading room.
