

College of Law Notes.

Guy Talbot is spending a few days at his home in Syracuse.

Prof. Maggi was a pleasant visitor at Maxwell Club, Saturday evening.

Some new shelving has been put in to accomodate the late additions to the library.

Dean Reese begins a course of lectures Wednesday upon Insanity, from a legal standpoint.

The Juniors survived the ordeal of the Blackstone examination Tuesday, and nearly all came out smiling.

Dr. Green finished his course of ten lectures on Insanity, Friday afternoon. The doctor is thoroughly acquainted with his subject and is an interesting talker.

The Seniors held a class meeting last Thursday and decided to get out an Annual of their own. Committees were appointed and they are working hard to make it a success.

Monday is the beginning of the new term. The Seniors will take up the study of Real Property and Code Pleading and continue the study of Procedure. The Juniors will begin on Torts and Negligence, Partnership, Sales and Justice Practice. It is all new work for the Juniors.

The "Legislature" met Saturday evening and after completing the election of officers and appointment of committees, spent the evening in introducing and discussing bills. The debates were lively and interesting. After the meeting the "House" adjourned in a body to attend the reception being given at the Armory.

The Ladies Faculty Club's Reception.

In spite of the bitter cold night, many of the students enjoyed the hospitality of the Woman's Faculty Club. Owing to the inclemency of the weather more men were present than lady students. The armory, where the reception was held, was beautifully decorated with the regiment's flags, and the great organ just placed in position stood out into the room, a front of silver and gold, considerably shortening up the hall. The guests were received at the door by Prof. Fossler and Mrs. Caldwell. Off to the right a little, was the receiving line consisting of Prof. Richards, Mesdames McLean, Sherman, Wilson, Richards, and Ansley. It is needless to say that the guests were cordially received. Besides they were well entertained. Wehn's band played in the gallery at intervals during the evening.

A. W. Martin, law '97, recently elected prosecuting attorney of Saline county, was married January 17 to Miss Evelyn Keppler, of Friend. The young couple passed through Lincoln Tuesday on their way to Phoenix, Arizona, where they go to spend their honeymoon.

Exchange.

The registration at Oberlin is as follows: College, 390; Conservatory, 319; Academy, 275; Art, 6; Physical Training, 16; Seminary, 40; total, 1,056.—Review.

Last week the girls of Washburn College played a trick on two guileless Freshmen, who called at the Domitory. The college paper, the Review, advocated a boycott of girls in that college. The girls respond, this week, with indignant protests.

College dictionary: Commencement—the end; Sophomore—a wise person, one of nature's noblemen; Rhetorical—a review of the tortures of the middle ages; Senior—one who rides a pony in the race for sheepskins; Junior—one who knows it all and tries to teach the faculty; Flunk—a process of changing from a four to a five years' course; Valedictorian—a wind instrument belonging to the Senior Class; Quiz—an instrument of torture which teachers delight in using on the pupils; Pony—a beast of burden used by students when traveling in unexplored lands; Faculty—a troublesome organization that interferes with the students' enterprises.—Central College Magazine.

The Freshmen of the State University of Iowa held a banquet last Friday night. During the afternoon and evening the Sophomores captured six Freshmen and held them in du-rance vile until after the banquet. Here is the adventure of one of them:

Mark Emery Baker rooms on Church street. A cab was to call for him about 8 o'clock, but it arrived just a trifle early, but he hurried down anyway, and told the driver all right, and jumped in. Baker is a football veteran, be it remembered, and when he found himself in a cab with four sturdy Sophomores, a desperate encounter ensued. Windows were smashed, and the conveyance rocked dangerously, but he was eventually overpowered and driven away north. Here, in an upstairs room, one continual conflict waged. The table was upset, the lamp overturned, and the carpet set aflame. As the clock was about to announce the succeeding day, a compromise was effected, the prisoner relented in his threats "to squeal," and was released. With court plaster much in evidence, he arrived at the scene of festivities in time for the closing dances.—S. U. I. Quill.

Ruy Blas.

Semi-weekly rehearsals in College of Oratory on Ruy Blas, which is Victor Hugo's greatest romantic drama. It is based upon Spanish history at the time of Charles II. of England. The story of the play affords many intensely dramatic scenes and also a goodly number of comical ones to relieve the severe dramatic trend of the whole. A Spanish noble seeking revenge on the Queen and the love affairs between the Queen and Ruy Blas furnish the motive of the play. The cast, so far as the important characters go, is:

Ruy Blas.....	Edward Maggi
Queen.....	Miss Ella M. Crawford
Don Caesar de Bazan.....	Frederic Burt
Don Salluste de Bazan.....	Frank M. Rector
Count Alba.....	Perle Richardson
Sancho.....	Edwin Robertson
The Duchesse.....	Miss Maybelle Crawford
Lady Casilda.....	Miss Mina Richardson
