

LITERARY SOCIETIES

Practically no steps have been taken yet as to the second preliminary. It is possible, however, that all arrangements will be completed in a couple of weeks and then the boys may commence preparation.

The Palladian club will continue to debate the public school library question Saturday evening. They resolve the club into a legislative body and discuss the question just like it is debated at the state house. The past two meetings, at which this bill was discussed, were well attended.

The Delian-Doane debate takes place this Friday evening. The question is, "Resolved, that party allegiance is preferable to independent action in politics." The speakers for the Delian club are W. F. McNaughton, A. H. Maxwell and W. H. O'Connell. It is expected that there will be a good turnout.

The girls of the Delian society tendered a reception to the boys on Tuesday evening, at 1436 S street. About sixty persons were present and all had a splendid time. The thought of classes did not weigh heavily on anyone's mind, and so festivities were continued to a late hour. The hospitality shown by the young ladies of 1436 S, was of a royal kind.

The Unions.

The Union girls entertained the Union boys with a Valentine party last Monday night. The affair was managed entirely by the girls and it is needless to say that it was a success. Invitations in the form of hearts, inscribed with the customary Valentine poetry, were issued the preceding week. None of the boys up to the last moment were aware of the nature of the party or place where it would be held. They were not disappointed, however, when their fair escorts brought them to the home of Miss Edna Curtis, on C street. The rooms were beautifully decorated with colored paper hearts and other emblems appropriate to the occasion. In an advertisement guessing contest the first prize was awarded to Miss Edna King and Mr. Boostrom, while the booby prize fell to Miss Shively and Mr. Kuhlman. After an appetizing lunch was served each person was presented with a Valentine which he was to read. Much amusement was afforded from this source.

Vocal and instrumental music interspersed during the course of the evening added variety to the program. All those present voted the evening's entertainment a great success and not a few expressed regrets that Cupid and his little bow were not in evidence oftener.

Those present were: Misses Wilkinson, Chappell, King, Chase, Stowe, Rodenbrock, Blanche and Bessie Mickey, Julia and Eva McCune, Walvoord, Blandin, Anderson, Pinkerton, Shively, Abbott, Smith, McGuffey, Anna and Ethel Masters, Brown.

Messrs. Platt, Warner, McReynolds, Hulett, Kuhlman, Boostrom, Maguire, Harger, Morse, Bessey, Plowhead, Maxwell, F. C. and K. E. Alexander, Bedell, Hunter, Hart, Hubbell, Nims, Lee, Thomas, Ferguson.
