Professor Brooks has received a very interesting letter from Albert Garringer '00 who is with the Bell Telephone Co. of New York City. Mr. Garringer is getting along finely and likes his work very much. He is very enthusiastic in his work and believes that there will be an opening there for some more Nebraska men next June.

ELOCUTION RECITAL.

Miss H. Alice Howell, head of the department of elocution gave her first recital in Memorial Hall last Saturday evening. In spite of the disagreeable weather the hall was crowded with a large and appreciative audience. Following is the program rendered:

Music—Overture, Scaodella, Floton-Buck, Mr. Kimball.

Reading—David and Goliath, Meredith, Miss H. Alice Howell.

Music—Vorspiel, "Otho Visconte," Gleason, Mr. Kimball.

Reading—Just Like Other Folks, Haight.

Music—Wedding Music, Jepson.

Reading—a. "The Bridge of Bidasoa." Translated from German by Chancellor Andrews. b. Extract from "Snow-bound," Whittier.

Music—March in E ts., Wely.

Reading—Arena Scene from Quo Vadis, Sienkivicz.

The audience was so well pleased with the selections that Miss Howell was compelled to respond to several encores. She is a graduate of the Emerson College of Oratory of Boston and came to the university last fall to take the place of Mrs. Manning as instructor in elocution.

THE ANNUAL SALE

OF

Undermuslins and White Goods

... Begins on Saturday, February 9th

This event is too well known—has too large a list of past successes to require much comment. We want to say, however, that the Undermuslins shown this time are superior to those of former years—they are more daintily made and finished, and are made as always, by the best work people, cut to fit, and finished after the prevailing modes. The materials are the best in every case.

The White Wares—Muslins, White Goods, etc., are the choicest of the new season's productions, and when we say that assortments are greater than those of previous years we make a strong statement, but a true one nevertheless.
