

Official Announcements

Dr. Winnett Orr of Lincoln will lecture before the preparatory medical society Tuesday evening February 5 in the zoology lecture room.

Registration for the second semester closed Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock. Students who failed to register before that time must get special permission from the chancellor and will be obliged to pay a registration fee of three dollars.

The Palladian, Union and Delian literary societies will hold a joint meeting in the old chapel Friday evening, Feb. 8. Chancellor Andrews will give an address on the subject of Literary Work in the University. Everyone is cordially invited to attend.

"The graduate club will hold its next meeting on Saturday evening, February 9th, at the home of Professor A. H. Edgren, 1446 Q street. All graduate students, members of the faculty, and their wives are invited. Professor E. Ross will speak." By order of the president.

Seniors and other students expecting to teach next year and desiring the assistance of the university in securing a position, should register with the Appointment Bureau room 104, University Hall, at an early date. It is understood that the university does not maintain an Employment Agency. It takes pleasure, however, in making an effort to secure suitable positions for its worthy graduates and for other deserving students who have studied at the university, and to secure the promotion of those already in positions.

For this purpose lists are kept of those wishing to teach. These lists are intended to include not only those unemployed at the time of registration, but also those having positions but looking out for better ones.

All alumni and students are urged to interest themselves in this work of the university and to notify the recorder of any vacancies coming to their knowledge in professional or educational positions which university men and women could fill.

No fee is charged for any service of this kind which may be rendered.
