

OUR COLLEGE NEWS.

- Goodbye.
- Grows warmer.
- University politics.
- What do you know?
- Send in a dollar to the STUDENT.
- The Governor wants to see somebody.
- Our Editor can tell you about the flume.
- The Regents will meet some time this month.
- Now is the time to join the military company, before you are drafted.
- The headquarters of the Military Department present quite a business like appearance.
- The Hart almost ceased to perform its function on finding her in the "objective case," object of a Senior.
- A large number of students have dropped out of school, for the purpose of teaching the young ideas.
- "No, I thank you. I can carry my own books." Senior falls back, and wonders if the present generation is on the decline.
- Prof. Bailey tickled the Geology class a few days ago, showing them how a flea and other beasts of prey look under a microscope.
- The class in Geology have been treated with some interesting discourses on Lithological Geology, since the return of Prof. Aughey.
- Prof. Emerson met with a severe accident, the first of last month. While riding a horse he was thrown, breaking his arm near the wrist.
- Another letter, has been lost by one of the young ladies. Pshaw, girls, the boys are growing indignant. This leaving letters around so loose is growing monotonous.
- One of the preps might have been observed sitting upon the University fence the other night, until the wee hours of morn, waiting for one of the students who had promised to meet him. The question that agitates us now is—Was said prep frozen tight to the fence, or is he a d—n fool?

—We are well pleased to notice the work that the Societies are doing this term. This speaks well for the students, for there is nothing so beneficial as playing an active part in the Societies.

—Lets have some music in chapel. We have a good organist; and many fine singers, all that is needed is a little exertion. Let some one make a move in this direction, and, no doubt, the singers can be found.

—The Chancellor's talks to the Students, once a week in chapel are exceedingly interesting, and are greatly appreciated by the students. These short lectures, are a new feature in our University, and are very instructive.

—For boots and shoes, or any thing in that line, it will be well to give Waitt a call. O. St., south side of square. He informs us that he will make it an object for students to patronize him. Notice his advertisement elsewhere.

—We acknowledge the receipt of an invitation to attend a sociable given by the Ladies of the Congregational Church at Library Hall, on the evening of November 29th. On account of unavoidable business we were unable to attend.

—For the benefit of the students of the University, we will state that the bell is rung by the janitor according to J. B. TRICKEY'S TIME, O Street, between 10th and 11th. Regulate your watches accordingly. tf

—The Palladian Society is still one of the prominent features of the University. On Friday evening, Oct. 17th, a most interesting programme was presented to the many students and citizens who were assembled. Mr. English read an essay in that same comical way for which Sam is noted. Mr. Sturdevant delivered an ora-
