

other—both determined to conquer or die. The point at issue was that the girls were bound to put in a certain young lady and the boys were just as much opposed to her. The clans gathered on Tuesday evening and fierce the fray. Amid the flying shreds of the tattered constitution the girls carrying the day, Miss Cora Thomas was duly declared president amid the din of battle. The mooted question gained—the girls then subsided. Miss Emma Parks, was elected Vice President. Miss Minnie Coddington, Secretary. Mr. Charles E. Stratton, Treasurer. Sam D. Cox, Critic. Miss Effie Chase, Cors. Sec. The Pres.—Mr. J. S. Bridenbaugh was declared Usher according to the usual custom. Society adjourned.

"The Royal Path of Life" would be a nice present to a friend.

The Palladians, having prepared a special programme, closed the term in good style and with a full house last Friday evening. Mr. Silvernail the President made a few remarks, in which he briefly recounted the progress of the Society during the term. The exercises were opened with a declamation by B. W. Reynolds, which was rendered with much credit to the declaimer. F. O. Morton read an essay "The Authorship of Shakespear," which showed some knowledge of English literature. Misses Gillette and Rector gave a duet, much to the satisfaction of the audience. Geo. McLean next made a five minutes speech upon the "The University" in which he advocates the claims of the military department. The select reading by Miss Treeman was very good. Frank Parks was on hand with a parody "That Petition," a rythmical narrative founded on some incidents of the investigation which produced a happy effect. Miss Fairfield's essay "Pearls" was well received. Miss Adah Huff favored the audience with a fine solo. J. C. McKesson delivered a very creditable oration, the subject of which we did not learn. Clem. Chase in his "Caricatures" displayed some cleverly executed sketches of the officers of the Society, showing how they appeared on duty. The Secretary excepted. A lively debate between Messrs Sturdevant and Nicholls (we have forgotten the exact reading of the question) followed. Miss Humphrey's solo was a feature of the programme. After this the Society held a short season of sociability, and then happily closed its labors for the term.

PERSONALIA.

H. H. Easterday will not return to school next term. Tecumseh's welfare demands his presence.

Mr. B. B. Davis will be absent from school next term. He will engage in teaching while out of school.

Miss Dora Grey, who was compelled to quit school on account of the sickness of her brother, will return next term.

J. O. Sturdevant smole a smile in our sanctum yesterday. He intends building on the "Eighty". Hem!

Miss Joie Roy, of Falls City a former student of the University is in the city visiting friends. She is the guest of Miss Treeman.

C. E. Magoon has recovered and is seen meandering about the University once more. The only change noticeable is a slight disfigurement of the upper lip. Some of the experts say it is a mustache.

Mr. H. K. Wolf, with an (e), the solid man of the Hesperian Association, he who handles the shining ducats of the concern, gave us a business call the other day. He says he passed—out of doors.

Mr. John Silvernail has gone to Peru to estimate the cost of repairing the Normal School dormitory. We understand that Sup't Thompson sent another party down to make the estimate and was not satisfied with it. Score one for the University.
