

Locals,

1882.

Students' supplies at Fawell's.

Large stock new books at Fawell's.

Reversible overcoats at Ewing & Co's emporium.

The general complaint is that the recess was too short.

When is the next sociable to be held? Let it be soon.

A Happy New Year to the patrons and friends of the STUDENT.

Downs & Webster sell hard and soft coal. Give them a call.

Call at Ewing & Co's emporium of fashion for fine clothing.

All the students go to Fox & Struve for their books and stationery.

All the goods found in a first-class gents furnishing house, at Ewing & Co's

What an immense amount of reading up on the Monroe doctrine there is, anyway!

Nobby line of scarfs just received at Ewing & Co's mammoth clothing house.

The new skating rink in the city will be a popular resort for students during the winter.

It pays to buy all your boots, shoes and slippers of O. W. Webster, O street, Academy of Music.

What has become of the demerit system, anyway? Seems to us that we hear no more about it.

Query by anxious Prep.: "Is this next term, or is it still last term?" Give it up. Ask the professors.

Students will find everything they need in the way of stationery and text books at Fox & Struve's.

H. C. Lett & Son are the merchants all students should buy of, as they will give more for their money.

A dotting Prep. confided to us that he had purchased a ridicule for his girl's Christmas present. Ridiculous!

The Phoenix is closing out fall and winter goods at cost, in order to make room for their new spring goods.

Students are invited to call at T. Ewing & Co's emporium, where they will receive the best goods at reduced prices.

The Philosophical Club will meet next Wednesday evening, in Prof. Emerson's room, to complete the organization.

A colored gentleman of the city came up last week and paid his respects to every stove in the building. They shine like new silver now.

The roof of the building has not been repaired for these many months. Its condition now resembles that of a sieve.

Our subscription fiend can hereafter be found in the STUDENT office every afternoon from one o'clock until four. Get a big round dollar and interview him.

After this date the Phoenix One Price Clothing Hall will close out their line of overcoats at cost. All who are in need of a good coat, cheap, will do well to call.

The election of officers of the HESPERIAN STUDENT Association takes place at the close of the present Semester. As yet there are no alarming symptoms of a fight.

The librarian desires all who have, or know of books, belonging to the library, to return or report the same to him at the earliest opportunity. Several of the books are missing.

What a high old time George McLean must have had this past vacation all by himself in the University building, lord of the dust-pan and high mucky-muck of the bran and broom!

One editor and the intelligent compositor were the only ones of the HESPERIAN force to remain in the city during the recess. If the paper is better than usual charge it to this fact.

The roller skating rink is a great institution, and is well and constantly patronized by the students. It is a famous place for the class in Mechanics,—such clear illustrations of the gravitation principle.

We have to make amends to two members of the Junior class in not mentioning their names in the list in our last number. Miss Josie Chapman and Mr. William Tris expect to graduate with the class of '83.

It was a Freshman who told his roommate that the physician had "subscribed an anecdote" for his complaint. When closely questioned he admitted that perhaps it was an antidote that had been prescribed.

Thoughtful Prep. (gazing at Herdic with the word "Full" displayed on the outside.) "I wonder if the Herdics pay." Soph., "Well, I should think so, when they can afford to get full as often as they do!"Nearly a year ago the ominous words "STUDENTUM defunctum est!" were to be found on the door of this office. We are sure that the Faculty and others will agree with us when we say that this year the paper is alive.

If the STUDENT does not reach you regularly, complain at once. Our manager promises to have the paper reach subscribers if he is obliged to discharge every clerk in the post office and engage competent ones.

The Sophomore class, familiarly known as "Barnard's Minstrels," seems to be the only one with enterprise enough to keep up its organization. What does this mean? A college with no class feeling is in a bad way.

"Let's see, this Oscar Wilde,—he's one of the athletics, isn't he?" queried a Freshman of a Senior, but before he could get an answer a rising young Sophomore broke in with, "What, goosie? Why, he's one of the ascetics."

The Y. M. C. A. of our college has held regular weekly prayer meetings so far this year, and much good has been accomplished. The quiet but earnest manner in which the work has been done, commends the Association to all.

A fine piano was delivered at the University Christmas eve, and we confidently expected to find it in our stocking next morning. Alas for our fond hopes. The "masheen" was for the new room of the Conservatory of Music.

House-cleaning time in the University building comes every vacation. The Library, the Chapel, and No. 5 were cleaned this time. The whole building, with the exception of the walls of some of the corridors, is now in fair order.

The question for the first preliminary debate for the Palladian prizes is concerning the Monroe doctrine. The subject is broad and we do not see why the boys cannot "enthuse" wonderfully over it. Next Friday night is the time.

Mr. J. C. F. McKesson and Miss Dora Swisher were married last Monday. Both were once students and are well known here. We might write volumes concerning this marriage, but a majority of our readers know enough already.

Complaint is made by students taking Elocution that the classes are too large. More classes or fewer members is what is needed. By the present arrangement it is impossible to make much progress without taking private lessons.

Never before in the history of the University have the campus walks been in such a wretched condition as they are at present. On wet days they are as muddy as the streets. A few loads of gravel or cinders would help wonderfully.

The members of the Cadet Battalion are about to make a strong effort to retain their present commander for three years longer. It is the wish of the STUDENT that they may succeed. Lieutenant Webster's place can be filled by no ordinary officer.
