—HOR. SAT. 1.

The Palladian co-eds rule the roost.

F. J. Benedict spends the recess in St. Louis.

Fashionable Millinery at S. W. Harney's, O street.

Special prices to students for furniture Hardy's, 10th street.

The STUDENT takes occasion to rise and remark that Spring is here.

Chancellor Fairfield lectured in Des Moines, Iowa, a few evenings since.

Buy your boots and shoes at the B. B. store, Tenth street between P and Q.

Tutor Little amused himself last week shooting (at) ducks down near Ashland.

Room to rent—furnished or unfurnished. Inquire n. w. corner R and 9th.

The last meetings of the societies before the recess were booming ones. A new departure.

Messrs. Leree, Cox, and Stratton, all members of '80, were visiting Lincoln last week.

It pays to buy all your boots, shoes and slippers of O. W. Webster, O street, Academy of Music.

Why did some of the Palladian young men cut the second preliminary debate? Afraid, probably.

Students will find everything they need in the way of stationery and text books at Fox & Struve's.

The most elegant line of stiff hats that was ever seen in Nebraska are at the Phoenix Clothing Hall.

Football and boxing matches in the upper halls have been vetoed by the "opaque satellite," George McLean.

The football ground has got itself into shape by dint of much digging and spading on the part of the footballists.

For tardiness at recitation or absence from chapel exercises the mark shall be three.—Rules on the Bulletin Board.

Dave Mercer was complimented very highly by being placed upon the program to answer a toast at the last annual banquet of the law alumni of Michigan University.

Miss Myra Smith will be absent from the University until next year. Her bright face will be missed by more than one.

We are glad to learn that Miss Minnie Coddling has returned and will graduate with '83. This addition is a welcome one.

The days approach when the ambitious Prep would fain climb to the tower, were it not for those terrible, padlocked doors.

Wonder if the smoking rule will be as strictly enforced as those in regard to attending Chapel and frequenting saloons!

D. L. Clark betook himself to the wilds of Boone county and spent the week in the bosom of his family, or words to that effect.

All the apparatus in the University is being used in the very complete experiments exhibited before the Junior Philosophy class.

R. N. Piper left for the Republican valley last week, not expecting to return. His next move will be in the direction of a theological seminary.

The STUDENT office has taken unto itself a diminutive printing press of the genre amateur. The new arrival gives us great tone in a typographical way.

Why do not the students help us out in contributions to this paper? We shall always be glad to receive and publish articles written by those in the University.

Our local has not occupied himself chasing items for this issue to any alarming extent. He has been rusticated in St. Louis. Quite a punishment for that city.

Miss Kate McCartney and her cousin, Miss McCoy, of Nebraska City, have been visiting in Lincoln during the recess. Miss McCartney was a student here last year.

The brooms which Mr. Frazer made and presented to the Palladian ladies for broom drill are little beauties. They were kept by the ones who used them. Mr. Frazer is a brick.

A. J. Calvert has gone to a point in the north western corner of Colorado to engage in his chosen calling, the ministry. A host of friends in Lincoln and the University bid him God-speed.

The lightning rods which are supposed to protect the building should receive a little attention. A majority have no ground connection, and in that condition can hardly be considered safe.

To "crib," as we understand it, is not to use a pony or translation, as explained in our last letter from Ann Arbor, but to mark translated words and sentences on the edges of the text-book. Is it not so?

"Is this infant-ry or gal-very drill?" said an unpudent Freshman, sticking his head into Palladian hall while the girls were exercising their brooms. They opened a heavy heartillery fire on him and he was carried out.

More improvements in the library. New cases are now being placed in position, which will fill all the vacant spaces on the walls. This indispensable department of our institution is making a rapid and healthy growth.

Target practice will be resumed at once by the gallant cadets. The bulwark of pine boards built last fall to act as a sort of back-stop for the balls was stolen during the winter, but a new one of earth has been thrown up and all is in readiness for the spring campaign.

Two vacancies in the Palladian commencement class have occurred. B. B. Davis resigned, from lack of time to prepare, and Miss Kate Jones was summoned away not to return. Mr. Ralph Weston and Miss Mary Campbell have been chosen to fill the vacant places.

The class in elementary botany this semester numbers twenty-five or thirty industrious workers who, as soon as they have finished the elementary part, will devote their energies to collecting and classifying flowers. Field work will probably begin after the spring recess.

Miss Kate Jones started for her home in California on Wednesday, March 22nd, called by the serious illness of her mother. She arrived at her journey's end in safety and rejoiced to find the sick one out of danger. Her friends will be sorry to learn that she will not return to the University this year.

The manner in which our alumni support this paper is simply astonishing. At least six of the forty or more who claim the University as their alma mater are subscribers! It strikes us that we have the most grateful and enterprising alumni of any institution on the face of the earth.

What excellent talent we have for a theatrical performance in the college! We should like to see a drama produced here with Miss Clara Parks, Miss Josie Chapman, Miss Kate Jones and some others sustaining leading parts. There are also many gentlemen who have talent in that way.

George and his energetic assistants have busied themselves during the recess improving the campus. The walks have received a much needed coating of cinders and neatly prepared flower beds grace their borders. No excuse for tramping your No. 11's all over the grounds now. The walks are navigable and pedestrians should use them.
