

Miss Stillman is again in school.

The G. A. R. will hold their next re-union at Hastings.

S. E. Keen has gone home to stay a week with his "ma."

Buy your Boots and Shoes of O. W. Webster, O. st., Academy of Music.

Miss Linnie Symington was a pleasant caller at the University last week.

Prof. Fossler paid the University a visit last Thursday. He was very welcome.

Warren Loree ('81) has been visiting his friends at Lincoln for the past few weeks.

Students, it will pay you to get your Photos made at Kelley & Co's. University panel gratis.

Miss Appleget has been compelled to leave school for a time on account of the sickness of her mother.

George McLean has tied up with a St. Paul (Minn.) wholesale house, and will become a business man.

Miss Effie Chase, an old-time student and enthusiastic society worker, has committed matrimony, and as Mrs. Reed, has gone to Indiana.

C. S. Allen was under the parental roof last Saturday and Sunday. Charlie, like all true-hearted boys, likes to see "pa" and "ma" occasionally.

Miss Cora Doolittle left two weeks ago for Boston, Mass., where she will attend the N. E. Conservatory of Music. It is needless to say that a few once stout hearts are now pinning away.

In the Senate on the evening of the 17th Mrs. Colby, of Beatrice, made quite an eloquent speech in favor of suffrage. But it had no effect; the suffrage bill was indefinitely postponed.

Miss Kate McCartney, one of Nebraska city's most beautiful and accomplished young ladies, has returned to the University. During her stay among us she will devote the greater portion of her time to perfecting her musical education.

At the beginning of the session ye local tried to keep track of the performances at the Opera House. For reasons known to ourselves we gave it up. Suffice it to say that taking all things into consideration it was the most brilliant season for many years.

"You ought to have seen me!" said the vivacious young lady who resides up town to the minister. "I just got the skates on and made a start, when I came down on my—"

"Maggie!" said her mother.

"What? Oh, it was so funny! One skate went one way and the other'n t'other, and down I came on my—"

"Margaret!" reprovingly spoke her father.

"Well, what? They scooted from under me and I came down plump on my—"

"Margaret!" yelled both her parents.

"On my little brother, who had me by the hand, and I liked to have mashed him. Now what's the matter?"

As they were groping their way across the campus one of the participants in the late minstrel entertainment asked his co-ed, "Did you know me?" "Did I know you? Why, of course I knew you; I recognized you first of all. Did you suppose that a little blacking would change your appearance much?" Profound silence till they parted at the gate.

THE MEDICAL COLLEGE

The STUDENT is pleased to announce that at last the Regents have begun enlarging the work of the University by adding the different departments for which provision was made in the original act. At their meeting last week provision was made for opening the new school on the first of next year with a full corps of competent instructors and all necessary appliances for the thorough and systematic study of medicine.

The faculty is composed of the following physicians of ability and reputation: Drs. Mitchell, Knapp, Graddy, Gossman and Lowry, while Hon. O. P. Mason takes the chair of Medical Jurisprudence. With these gentlemen in charge it is expected that rapid advancement will be made. Of course the beginning is small, as beginnings always are, but we are thankful for even this nucleus, and hazard the prediction that before another decade the Medical Department of the University of Nebraska will be a power in and a credit to the State that gave it birth.

A law department is the only thing lacking to meet all the requirements of a first-class college. We hope the regents will see the urgency as well as necessity of creating this branch of learning at the earliest practical moment.

Senior orations will be due March 21st. The Preps are to elucidate the following subjects for the same date: Age of Louis XIV. Who is our greatest Statesman? Charles XII of Sweden. Was Aaron Burr a Traitor? Is the Climate of the Country changing? The Magna Charta; what did it secure? The Origin of Chivalry. The History of a Roman Coin. Robespierre. The Eastern Empire.

Exchange Bric-a-brac

The students of the Minnesota University have a course of Sunday evening lectures, which, according to the Ariel, are a success.

The recent disorderly conduct of the cadets at Annapolis was promptly punished, many of the officers being degraded to the ranks. If boys will enter such a school, they must expect to undergo the most rigid discipline.

The Ashbury Monthly is "head and shoulders" above most of our college journals. All its departments are well sustained, unless we except the exchange, and its excellent reading matter will insure it a warm reception wherever it goes.

The Vidette Reporter, of the Iowa State University, is quite a newsy exchange, yet much of its news is such as would be better suited for a city than it is for a college paper. We would mildly suggest that if they would change the form of their journal and publish it less frequently the students of the Iowa University might be thus enabled to present a much improved paper.

The Badger is one of the weekly college exchanges. In form and general appearance it falls below the average school journal. News at the Wisconsin University evidently will not justify the publishing of a paper so frequently. A college paper should principally contain only such matter as will be of interest to its students, and should be published only so often as such news accumulates.
