

not only to keep a large audience away but to torment those who did attend with cold feet and a bovy of chills playing tag up and down the vertebral column. The graduates were mature men. The hair of one was silvered with age, and all had reached the period of life that is generally credited with bringing sense and good judgement. Their names are Elijah D. Buckner, M. R. Belding Norman A. Sackett, and John M. Zeilie. On the programme was a general invitation to the public to attend a reception in the evening at the residence of Dr. F. B. Righter. The rain came down in Allopathic doses at that time, however, and made it impossible for the general public to respond, but a most enjoyable time was had by those who braved the rain and mud of an equinoctial storm to commune with the disciples of little pills and infinitesimal doses.

THE ECLECTICS.

The Opera House having been engaged for the Wendling lecture, the commencement of this department was held in Temple Hall, on Friday evening. The Capital City Orchestra furnished most excellent music, but the Arion Club failed to materialize. The opening prayer was given by Rev. E. H. Curtis, after which the dean introduced Hon. G. M. Lambertson who delivered a brief and very interesting address. The exercises were then closed with a short speech by Regent Gere on presenting the graduate, Mr. E. D. Thurston, with his sheepskin.

The Lincoln Steam Dye House, on O street near twelfth is the best equipped establishment of the kind in the state. Students will do well to remember that Mr. Robertson will give them good work at surprisingly low rate.

The Hon. Geo. R. Wendling told a small but cultured audience all he knows about the Devil, at the Opera House last night. If the immaculate orator will but call at the STUDENT office he will receive a few pointers free of charge. Our opportunities for acquiring knowledge concerning his Satanic Majesty are unsurpassed. We can raise him without the least effort

Exchange Bric-a-Brac.

We take a new interest in the Dickinsonian from learning that one of our Regents was once its editor. We did not enjoy the acquaintance of the Dickinsonian when Regent Mallalieu was at the helm. Ever since we have had the opportunity of looking over its pages it has always impressed us as being a conscientiously edited paper.

The Notre Dame Scholastic don't seem to admire some poetry that was published in the STUDENT a few weeks ago. This is a 'rightful state of affairs. We hired that poem from a tramp downtown especially for the benefit of the Scholastic, and after all, it is not appreciated. We weep: our heart is filled with lamentation and woe. We really think of putting ashes on our heads and changing our name to Scholastic. Such misery has the Indiana ex-man caused in our heart.

We do not mean to make any remarks about the Asbury's change of name. They all do it. In the last number we notice an article entitled "The Aluminum Age." The ideas in it are not new but are stated in a collected and terse manner that renders it exceedingly interesting. DePauw Monthly is a good paper and has few defects worthy of notice. The only thing we could possibly object to, is that the Fraternity Notes are mostly of so hoary an age that it is really almost as difficult to read them clear through as it is to peruse the last edition of "Mary's Little Lamb."

Well now here is sense. They are in the habit of condensing "carbolic dioxide" in the graded school from which Voice hails. It is forbidden by law in all countries except the U. S. We are not surprised. It would be excessively dangerous for a chemical student in Nebraska to make an attempt at condensing "carbolic dioxide" Will Prof. O. N. Stoddard who "condenses" every year please rise and explain? Did the Voice ever see any solidified chain-lightning? If Prof. Stoddard makes it every year, send us a yard and a quarter, please. We want it in our process for melting Hydrogen and liquifying gum shoes. Come on Voice, help us out, can't you? Prof. Stoddard makes 'em and you needn't be such a hog as to keep them all to yourself. And if you know of any more such experiments as "condensing carbolic dioxide" have them printed for general distribution. They would be of interest to the scientific world.
